Year-In-Review

Editor's Note: The following article is a summary of the major news stories in the Arlington and Green Isle area during the final six months of 2014. The first six months were featured in last week's edition of the Arlington Enterprise.

JULY

The Arlington City Council unanimously approved a motion to hire Kirby Weckworth as the new maintenance worker for the City of Arlington.

The Arlington City Council heard a summary of the flood debriefing meeting as presented by City Engineer Jason Femrite from Bolton & Menk, Inc.

The interior of the Arlington Community Center received a facelift.

A reconstruction project of County Road 166 leading out to the Arlington Sportsmen's Park was well underway.

Green Isle area farmers worked to resolve drainage issues because the natural flow of ditch water through the culvert along Highway 25 had been restricted.

An informational public meeting was held to discuss the future of the Green Isle Post Office. It was later announced that the Green Isle Post Office would provide six hours of window service each weekday.

Arlington Mayor Jim Kreft informed the Arlington Enterprise that he would not seek re-election for a third term.

The track at the Sibley East Athletic Complex was resurfaced by Athletic Surface Construction, Coon Rapids, at a cost of approximately $49,000.

The first stage of a two-year full reconstruction project of Highway 19 and 22 was well underway in Gaylord.

Four new lights were installed by Kunkel Electric, Mapleton, at the Sibley East Athletic Complex in Arlington. The new football/track lights replaced the old lights which were approximately 40 years old.

The filing period for open seats on the Arlington City Council, Green Isle City Council, Sibley East School Board and various townships opened.

AUGUST

Courtney Eibs, Henderson, was crowned as the 2014-2015 Miss Sibley County during coronation ceremonies at the Sibley County Fair in Arlington.

The Arlington Historical Society (AHS) presented a historical plaque commemorating the 125th anniversary since the founding of Thomes Brothers in downtown Arlington.

New era begins for Arlington City Council

By Kurt Menk

Editor A new era began for the Arlington City Council during its regular meeting on Monday night, Jan. 5.

With their family members in attendance, Mayor Rich Nagel and City Council members Michelle Battcher and Jim Heiland took their respective oaths of office. Each official will serve a four-year term on the City Council.

The three new officials joined veteran City Council members James Jaszewski and Jennifer Nuesse at the first meeting of the new year. The City Council unanimously adopted a resolution to appoint Liza Donabauer as the city administrator. In the same move, the City Council approved her contract. Her annual salary, excluding benefits, is $68,850. The City Council unanimously and separately adopted resolutions to designate the Arlington Enterprise as the official newspaper and the Arlington State Bank as the official depository. The City Council also unanimously adopted a resolution to ratify the mayoral appointments and committees.

SEPTEMBER

A ceremony to celebrate the 125th anniversary of Thomes Bros. in downtown Arlington was held on Friday afternoon, Sept. 5. The event, sponsored by the Arlington Historical Society (AHS), drew a crowd of over 100 people, including 21 former Thomes Bros. employees. The ceremony included a brief history of Thomes Bros. by AHS Secretary Dwight Grabitske, recognition presentations, and comments from co-owners Dick Thomes and his son, Brian Thomes, and former owner Joe Thomes. A bronze plaque was also unveiled honoring Thomes Bros. on its 125 years and the five generations that have served the Arlington area.

A tribute to the U.S.S. Sibley was permanently displayed and featured in the west entrance hallway of the Sibley County Courthouse in Gaylord.

Informational meetings for the proposed $43.045 million Sibley East bond referendum were set.

Construction continued on the bridge that crosses the High Island Creek near the Arlington Sportsmen's Park. The County Road 166 bridge adjacent to the compost site was nearly complete.

Arlington City Council has a pair of 3-2 votes

By Kurt Menk Editor

There were a pair of 3-2 votes as the Arlington City Council held its first regular meeting of the new year on Monday night, Jan. 5.

The City Council first discussed a proposed amendment to Ordinance 295 which regulates the possession, sale and consumption of intoxicating and 3.2 percent malt liquor within the City of Arlington. The proposed amendment included a move to decrease the seating capacity for a Sunday liquor license and change the hours of sale.

The discussion centered around the changing hours of sale. Under the current ordinance, last call at a liquor establishment is before 2 a.m. and patrons must leave the premises by 2 a.m. In additions, employees must leave the premises by 3 a.m. According to City Attorney Ross Arneson, the current ordinance does not allow for a transition period between last call and when patrons have to leave the premises.

City Council member Galen Wills made a motion to have last call at 1:30 a.m. and patrons out of the bar at 2 a.m. In addition, employees would have to leave the premises by 3 a.m. City Council member Jennifer Nuesse seconded the motion.

The motion failed by a 3-2 vote. Wills and Nuesse voted in favor of the motion while City Council members Michelle Battcher, Jim Heiland and James Jaszewski voted against the motion.

Battcher then made a motion to establish last call at 1:45 a.m., patrons out the door at 2 a.m. and employees off the premises at 3 a.m. The second was made by Heiland. That motion passed by a 3-2 margin. Battcher, Heiland and Jaszewski voted in favor of the motion while Nuesse and Wills voted against the motion.

Since it was a minor change to the ordinance, the action taken was considered as a first reading of Ordinance 295. The second reading of the ordinance will be held at the next regular meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 20.

In other action, the City Council unanimously approved a motion to approve the $22,501 payment to Underground Technologies of Minnesota for televising the City of Green Isle via the Arlington-Green Isle Sewer Fund.

City Administrator Liza Donabauer announced that the meeting with the townships and the City of Green Isle for fire and ambulance coverage will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 29.

In another matter, Donabauer announced the presentation of the annual Darwin Mathwig Community Service Award will be held at the Arlington Firefighters Dance on Saturday night, Jan. 31.

The City Council, in another move, unanimously approved a motion to approve the 2014 audit services agreement with Abdo, Eick & Meyers.

In addition, Donabauer announced that the leadership conference for experienced and newly elected officials will be held in Mankato on Friday, Jan. 23 and Saturday, Jan. 24 and in Brooklyn Center on Friday, Jan. 30 and Saturday, Jan. 31.

News Briefs

Local officials are honored

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Monday night, Jan. 5, unanimously separately adopted resolutions to recognize former Mayor Jim Kreft and former City Council members Curt Reetz and Jason Ruehling for their years of service to the citizens of Arlington.

Kreft, who did not seek re-election, served a pair of four-year terms as mayor.

Reetz, who did not seek re-election, was either a city employee or City Council member for the last approximately 30 years.

Ruehling, who did not seek re-election either, served a four-year term.

Council accepts resignations

The Arlington City Council, at its regular meeting on Monday evening, Jan. 5, separately approved motions to accept the resignations of San Juanita Ramos, Cathy Spicer and Eddie Aranda from their positions as parttime Community Center attendants.

Sibley County lottery winners

Two Sibley County residents were recent big winners of the Minnesota Lottery.

Dustin Hamilton, Gaylord, won $20,000 by playing the Lottery's Season's Gold scratch game. Hamilton claimed the prize on Friday, Dec. 26, 2014. The winning ticket was purchased at Casey's General Store in Mankato.

Sharlene Anderson, Winthrop, won $10,000 by playing the Lottery's Silver Bells scratch game. Anderson claimed the prize on Friday, Dec. 26, 2014. The winning ticket was purchased at Kwik Trip in Apple Valley.

Chamber to meet next Monday

The Arlington Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Emergency Services Building at noon Monday, Jan. 12, according to Chamber President Kevin Lindstrand.

A vice president is still needed for 2015. This individual would move up and serve as president in 2016.

A co-chairperson is also needed for the 2015 Arli-Dazzle festivities. Lyle Rud is one of the co-chairpersons.

For more information on either position or to indicate interest, please contact Todd Sandberg at 307-251-6396, Kevin Lindstrand at 507-964-5868 or Kim Schneider at 507-964-2809.

City Council accepts donation

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Monday night, Jan. 5, unanimously adopted a resolution to accept a $200 donation from Melsha Construction, Arlington, to be used toward improvements to the Dan "Buck" Thomes Field at the Arlington Sportsmen's Park.

Gruenhagen sworn in

State Representative Glenn Gruenhagen, R-Glencoe, was officially sworn in for his third term as the legislature began the 2015 session in St. Paul on Tuesday, Jan. 6. The swearing-in ceremony took place in the House chamber, and members took the oath of office administered by Chief Justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court Lori Gildea. Gruenhagen will continue representing District 18B which includes portions of Sibley County and portions of McLeod County. "Constituents can continue to count on me to fight for smaller government, family values, and lower taxes," Gruenhagen said. "Minnesotans chose to bring balance to the legislature, and now have a Republican House that will put a stop to runaway taxes and spending, and focus on the priorities Minnesotans care about." Gruenhagen, who was first elected in 2010, will serve on the Agriculture Finance Committee, the Civil Law and Data Practices Committee, the Health and Human Services Finance Committee, and the Higher Education Policy and Finance Committee.

Applications available for Century Farm status

By Julie Sievert Agriculture Educator U of M Extension Sibley County

Has your farm been in your family for at least 100 years? Are you planning to apply for Century Farm status? Applications for the 2015 Century Farm Recognition Program have recently been released. Contrary to what some may believe, the Century Farm Program is not a program through the University of Minnesota or University of Minnesota Extension. The program is co-sponsored by the Minnesota State Fair and the Minnesota Farm Bureau. If your farm has been in your family's ownership for 100 years or more, you can apply to be recognized as a Minnesota Century Farm.

To apply for Century Farm status, the farm must be at least 100 years old in 2015 according to the abstract of title, land patent, original deed, county land records or other authentic land records. The applicant's family must have owned the farm for 100 years or more. For purposes of the program, "Family" is defined as parents, grandparents, aunts/uncles, siblings, children, first cousins, and direct in-laws (father, mother, brother, sister, daughter, son). While continuous family ownership of the farm is required, continuous residence on the farm is not. The farm should consist of a minimum of 50 acres and must currently be involved in agricultural production.

Century Farm status is only conferred to a farm once, so if a new family member takes over the farm, they cannot submit a new application for century farm status. Applications can be found online on the Minnesota State Fair website at: http://www.mnstatefair.org/general_info/rec ognition.html or can be picked up at the Sibley County Extension Office. The deadline to apply is April 3. Recipients of Century Farm Status in Sibley County will be honored at a ceremony at the Sibley County Fair on Sunday, Aug. 2.

Sibley County Fair is selected as a seeding change grant winner

The Sibley County Fair in Arlington was presented one of six Seeding Change grants during the 124th Annual International Association of Fairs and Expositions (IAFE) Convention.

The Seeding Change campaign was an industry-wide effort to highlight how member organizations are positively impacting the communities in which they live and work.

The IAFE International Convention Program Committee judged more than 50 entries, ranging from community gardens to charitable fundraising efforts and more, with winners selected among each fair size category and associates. For submitting a winning entry, the fair has won a $1,000 grant, courtesy of ETIX.

The Sibley County Fair partnered with numerous local groups to hold a worldclass bull-riding event to raise funds for Jared Allen's Homes for Wounded Warriors organization, which builds homes for soldiers who have been injured in combat. The fair was able to write a check for $18,000 to the organization and U.S. Marine veteran Colin Faust was able to receive assistance toward his new home. The International Association of Fairs and Expositions (IAFE), based in Springfield, Mo., is a voluntary, nonprofit corporation, serving state, provincial, regional, and county agricultural fairs, shows, exhibitions, and expositions. Its associate members include state and provincial associations of fairs, nonagricultural expositions and festivals, associations, corporations, and individuals engaged in providing products and services to its members, all of whom are interested in the improvement of fairs. shows, expositions, and allied fields.

Deep freeze hits area By Kurt Menk

Editor

The Arlington and Green Isle area, along with the rest of Minnesota, was hit by a deep freeze and a little snow earlier this week.

The area received about one inch of snow late Monday afternoon through late Monday evening, Jan. 5. The temperatures also dropped into single digits below zero by Tuesday morning, Jan. 6. The wind chill, at the same time, also dropped to between 20 and 30 below zero.

Schools in the Sibley East School District had a two-hour late start as the wind chill continued to drop to 25 to 35 below zero on Wednesday morning, Jan. 7.

The temperatures are forecast to climb to 10 degrees above zero with another quick bout of light snow by Thursday afternoon, Jan. 8.

Nearly 115 units collected during recent blood drive in Arlington last Tuesday

By Kurt Menk Editor

One hundred fourteen units of blood were collected during the American Red Cross Blood Drive at the Arlington Community Center on Tuesday, Dec. 30, 2014, according to Karan Pichelmann.

"Thanks to all of the donors," said Pichelmann. The goal was overwhelmingly reached. The Red Cross also donated long-sleeve tshirts to all donors."

First time donors were Nick Thies, Brian Thies and Jim Dieball. Mike Bergs received a one-gallon pin while Lorraine Neubarth netted a four-gallon pin. Elvera Winter received a five-gallon pin while Ellerd Mathwig netted a 12-gallon pin.

The Red Cross donated snacks and juices. Hot turkey sandwiches, chips and bars were served to all donors. Locher Brothers, Green Isle, furnished the beverages.

"Thanks to everyone who also came to help set up, serve the luncheon and brought in food," said Pichelmann. "It was greatly appreciated."

The next blood drive is scheduled for 12:30 p.m.to 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 10.

A tribute to a friend

By Kurt Menk

Editor

This page is always dedicated to letters to the editor, guest columns and editorials, but I wanted to take some time this week to share a few amusing stories about my very close friend, Tom Noack, who recently passed away.

I was very fortunate to be Mr. Noack's closest friend for nearly 30 years. We enjoyed many fun times together, especially as coaches for the Sibley East junior high girls basketball program for nearly a decade.

Mr. Noack was a character and known for his one liners. He once told a girl that she "played defense like a rock." When a parent asked about the progress of her daughter on the basketball court, Mr. Noack responded that the girl was working hard and improving a lot, but "was still a little klutzy like a baby deer." After a player had forgotten the play on offense and was running back on defense, Mr. Noack said loud enough for her to hear, "Oh, so you don't know the plays, huh? That's okay. It's only the last game of the season." When a player was defending her opponent too far out from the basket on the weak side of the halfcourt, Mr. Noack shouted out, "Get back in Sibley County!" One time when he noticed a player standing around and playing lazy defense in practice, Mr. Noack shouted, "What are you doing down there? Relaxing and having a beer?" When an opposing player was standing in the lane too long, Mr. Noack would shout out to the referee, "She's growing roots in there!" or "How many seconds - one, two, three..."

A couple of years ago, Mr. Noack was coaching his seventh grade team in the conference tournament and his Lady Wolverines were playing poorly. To make matters worse, the opponent was playing over their head and seemed to get every break. When an opposing player spun around, fired up a prayer and hit a 15-foot bank shot, Mr. Noack looked up to the ceiling like it was the heavens and muttered, "Just nail me to the cross!"

A favorite story is the time when the seventh graders were scrimmaging the eighth graders. Mr. Noack's team was working on an isolation play and he wanted to try it out against my eighth grade team. The play was very simple. The point guard passed the ball to a wing and the rest of the players cleared out. The wing would then drive hard to the basket. The first attempt did not work out well as one player apparently didn't get the memo and forgot to clear out. The end result was a train wreck in the middle of the lane. Mr. Noack became very upset. He blew his whistle and hollered to the girl who had forgotten her assignment, "What are you doing down there?" I was standing out of bounds along the baseline and started to giggle. To avoid any further laughter, I put my whistle in my mouth and bit down on it hard. I was praying that the girl would not answer and just let Mr. Noack continue to rant. Then it happened. The girl threw her arms up in the air and replied, "I don't know what I'm doing down here." To which Mr. Noack replied, "I don't know what you're doing down there either, but you just screwed up the whole play." Well, it didn't take long and the waterworks started. The girl started to cry and Mr. Noack felt terrible. A few minutes later, the girl was standing alongside Mr. Noack at halfcourt and he leaned over, gently elbowed her in the shoulder and said, "Hang in there."

Mr. Noack, who was known for using milk 10 days past its expiration date while cooking, would often times tell me at practice about his supper from the previous night. On one occasion, Mr. Noack said he ate a bunch of leftovers and an entire ring of bologna. The bologna, he said, had been in the refrigerator a long time and didn't look very good. "A little bit of it was green, but I just boiled the hell of it," Mr. Noack said. "It must have been okay. I didn't get the squirts or anything." It was classic Tom Noack.

Another classic occurred one season during the year-end pizza party at the swimming pool. Mr. Noack and I were serving pizza and I was also handing out bottles of pop to my eighth graders. One seventh grader asked Mr. Noack for a pop and he replied, "Look, I'm nice enough to buy pizza. It's your responsibility to buy your own pop." The girl snapped her head around, looked at Mr. Noack and said, "Whaaaaat? Pizza, no pop?" This infuriated Mr. Noack. He looked at the girl and replied, "Oh, so you want all of my money." With that, he reached into his back pocket, took out his wallet, grabbed a fist full of money and threw it up in the air. It was suddenly raining greenbacks on the deck of the swimming pool. We didn't have a single player dive for a loose ball all season, but suddenly there were girls diving for greenbacks all over the pool deck. Mr. Noack was really fired up. We sat down and eventually a couple of girls had collected all of the money and gave it back to Mr. Noack. The entire seventh grade team then left the swimming pool and, a few minutes later, returned with three bags of presents for their coach. They would sometimes push him to his limit, but in the end they loved Mr. Noack. An all time classic was the smoke 'em if you've got 'em story. One day at practice, Mr. Noack commented that his family was cleaning out his mother's house and they had found a few cartons of her old cigarettes. Mr. Noack looked at me, shrugged his shoulders and said, "Well, you can't throw them away." So Mr. Noack took up smoking. He would often give me an update on his progress at practice too. His daily habit was to smoke one cigarette on his drive from Arlington to school in Gaylord during the morning. He also would smoke one in his car on his drive home after practice. Depending on his mood, he would smoke a few more at night. A few months later, Mr. Noack arrived at practice one day and announced that he had smoked the last cigarette. "The last pack was really dry, but I smoked it anyway," he proudly stated. With that, Mr. Noack quit smoking - cold turkey! It was vintage Tom Noack! Mr. Noack was always a fixture at our annual Menk Family Basketball Tournament in St. Peter each winter. He would walk into the gym wearing his famous black framed, athletic glasses from the 1970s. Much to the delight of my nieces and nephews and their friends, he was known for his famous "Noack no look pass" which was always intercepted by an opposing player and taken the other way for two points. He was also good for one off balanced bank shot a year that would come out of his hands like a skud missile and nearly break the backboard. If Mr. Noack were alive and saw this tribute in the newspaper, he would be irate. He didn't mind my humorous stories about him being told amongst friends in a small group. In fact, he enjoyed them. However, he didn't like to be in the public limelight. A very private and spiritual man, he was a simple and humble person who would rather be behind the scenes. Mr. Noack was a throwback to generations before him where people looked out for others first rather than themselves. He always tried to do the right thing and if he gave you his word, you could take it to the bank. Many people will never realize the countless contributions and donations he made in the community and school district over the years because they were always done anonymously. This was a trait taught to him as a youth by his father. An act of kindness is not a good deed if you seek out recognition and fanfare for it.

To The Editor,

The ruling by the Honorable Kevin W. Eide raised more legal questions than it seemed to settle. Judge Eide was quoted, "Minnesota Statues 205a.07 and 123B.7 set forth guidelines for publication of notice in connection with bonding referendums." This is a strange premise. The Judge sees a Minnesota State Statute as a guideline, and not State Law. Here is a look at the two Minnesota State Statutes.

Statute 205

Publication and posting of election.

The clerk of a school district shall give two weeks' published notice and give ten days' posted notice of a school district primary, general, or special election, stating the time of the election, the location of each polling place, the offices to be filled, and all propositions or questions to be voted upon at the primary, general, or special election. The notice shall be posted in the administrative offices of the school district for public inspections.

And Statute 123B.7

Subd. 12. Publication. (a) At least 20 days but not more project that has received a positive or unfavorable review and comment under section 123B.70 <https://www.revisor.mn.gov/statute s/?id=123B.70>, the school board shall publish a summary of the commissioner's review and comment of that project in the legal newspaper of the district. Supplementary information shall be available to the public.

Neither statute mentions how close the election was or wasn't. It does not concern voter turnout. It does not concern number of meetings, websites, or articles published. The statutes only concern is the proper notice that must be given. And sets dates these notices must be given.

Judge Eide further stated, "on the part of the School District, there is ample evidence of a lack of training, and attention to the statutory notice requirements. But there is no showing of fraud or misconduct." Fraud, misconduct, neglect, ignorance, arrogance, or any other reason is irrelevant. The matter of the law is whether the law was violated.

Judge Eide continues "The Court fully agrees that the notice of the positive review by the Department of Education lacks important information about the identity of the district and the purpose of the bonding." This statement alone is grounds that the law was violated.

While he affirms the Notice required by statute was not met, he gave it no weight. Rather stating that the Department of Education should revise the form. He further accepted the supposition that if the full and correct notice had been published it would be likely more voters would have voted for it rather than the reverse. This is immaterial. The fact the notice was not complete as published violated the law.

And finally, the filing date as meaningless he concludes, "While the court does not find this argument to be determinative of the outcome of this case, the legislature should clarify this requirement." No clarification is needed. As you can read above the Statute is clear, publish 2 weeks before the election and post it at the school offices 10 days before the election.

Judge Eide's initial ruling cobbled together extraneous arguments and excuses in his dismissal, and did not uphold the law as written. No Judge has the power to ignore the law, thus the appeal.

Brooklyn Dodgers baseball player Jackie Robinson once said, "A life is not important except in the impact it has on other lives." There is no doubt that Mr. Noack, in his short life, made a tremendous impact on many individuals, especially young people as their teacher. And those individuals, including myself, are better people because of him. than 60 days before a referendum for bonds or solicitation of bids for a Arlington

Legislative session begins this week

To The Editor,

This week marks the beginning of the 2015 legislative session. A primary objective for this session is to pass a balanced state budget that will help Minnesotans thrive. I am looking forward to a productive session and working with my Senate colleagues in an effort to control the ever increasing size and cost of state government.

Budget

We are going into session with a billion dollar surplus and a key issue will be how that money is going to be allocated. It is also important to consider whether Governor Dayton intends to increase the budget. In 2004, the state budget was $26 billion and now it is just under $40 billion while during the same time period our population remained relatively stable. I am concerned that we cannot afford to continue to finance budget increases at the rate of over a billion dollars a year. Consequently, I will work towards passing a balanced budget that is beneficial for all Minnesotans.

Committee Assignments

For the upcoming legislative session, I will maintain all of the same committee responsibilities I had in the last two sessions, with the exception of the Sub-Committee on Elections. While election law continues to hold great interest for me because of its critical importance to the people of this state, I requested to be assigned to the Transportation and Public Safety Committee primarily because I feel we must address the needs of roads and bridges in rural Minnesota. The following is a list of my committee assignments for the 2015 session and a brief description of issues for you to look for:

Judiciary

A budget to fund the Court, Prison and related agencies will be determined. Also, since Minnesota is under a court order to reform the Minnesota Sex Offender Program

New for MN in 2015: Public Benefit Corporations

By John Marty State Senator

Beginning this January, Minnesota entrepreneurs and investors will be able to go into business as Public Benefit Corporations. These benefit corporations will be accountable to their owners or shareholders, like all other businesses, but they will also be committing to serve other stakeholders in their business - including employees, customers, the health and well-being of the community and the environment - as well.

After a decade of pushing for this alternative business structure, I was pleased to see the legislation pass with strong bipartisan support last session.

Many business people want to look out for the public interest, but they are concerned that under traditional corporate law, their fiduciary responsibility to stockholders precludes them from paying better wages or protecting the environment if profit margins are affected. Some of those businesses hire attorneys to draft customized legal documents to allow them to commit company resources to meeting a social purpose, but this legal work can be expensive and risky.

The many friends of Henry Muchow of Transit, will regret to learn he sustained painful injury when his feet were frozen in his heroic attempt to rush his family to safety when their home was burned to the ground last week. He ran from the home barefoot to his garage and started his car to take his family to his neighbor. In backing out of the garage the car was stalled in a snowdrift. He was forced to shovel and thus experienced some delay. The thermometer was then registering near the 20below mark. After releasing the car he drove to the Woller home. but in the meantime, little realizing in his excitement the danger he was in encountering, had both feet badly frozen.

Small pox claimed its third victim at the M. McNamara home in Jessenland last week when their six-week-old infant died of the disease

Jacob Zeiher, a Russian renter living on the Meyer farm south of town, was taken into custody by Sheriff Zacharias last week and charged with the illicit manufacture of liquor. He was in the act of making "moon" when the sheriff came to his place and admitted his guilt. At present he is in the county jail without being sentenced. Due to the destitute circumstances of the family, we understand, sentencing may be suspended upon the condition that defendant will not violate the law in the future.

The annual ice harvest was begun this week and local consumers are now getting their supply. The ice in Silver Lake is said to be of exceptionally good quality this year. H. M. Proposed tax levies were set by the Arlington City Council, Green Isle City Council, Sibley East School Board and Sibley County Commissioners.

Green Isle resident Shane Sheets shipped an American Flag provided by the American Legion Post 408 to the U.S. Pentagon. A request to fly the flag at the U.S. Pentagon was granted and then was returned to Shane Sheets with a certificate. The flag was then immediately shipped to the FOB in Kandahar, Afghanistan, where his brother, SSG. Robbie Sheets, had it flown, a photo taken, then sent back home to wait for his arrival. SSG. Robbie Sheets, who was injured in Afghanistan earlier this year, took it one step farther and flew a separate flag in Afghanistan in honor of the members at the Green Isle American Legion Post 408. This flag was also returned with a certificate. Months later, SSG. Robbie Sheets returned home safe and sound. He presented the flag to the Green Isle American Legion Post 408. He also brought the other flag that took an incredible journey from Green Isle to the U.S. Pentagon to Kandahar, Afghanistan, then back home to Green Isle to show Green Isle American Legion member Harlen Voight.

OCTOBER

Lukas Bullert and Kelli Martens were crowned Sibley East Senior High School's Homecoming King and Queen during a coronation ceremony in Arlington. Lukas is the son of Craig and Linnea Bullert, Arlington. Kelli is the daughter of Kevin Martens, Gaylord, and Lori Jacobus, Gaylord.

Public informational meetings were held in Arlington, Green Isle and Gaylord for the proposed $43.045 million Sibley East building bond referendum.

The Arlington Enterprise reported that Seneca Foods would be closing its operations in Arlington during the spring of 2015. That news was officially confirmed by Tim Benjamin, CFO, Seneca Foods Corporation.

The softball/baseball field at the Arlington Sportsmen's Park was christened Dan "Buck" Thomes Field during a dedication ceremony. Approximately 100 people attended the dedication ceremony which took place at home plate. Thomes, who passed away in March of 2013, tirelessly served as president of the Arlington Sportsmen's Club for a quarter century. Not only did he direct operations of the club, Thomes also managed softball leagues and teams, performed routine maintenance and organized park improvements. He was instrumental in the Arlington Sportsmen's Park ownership transfer from the club to the City of Arlington. As an employee for the City of Arlington, Thomes also devoted extraordinary time and effort to the Arlington Sportsmen's Park.

The Green Isle Fire & Rescue took delivery on a 2014 Fire Engine. The truck was on a Freightliner chassis and the remainder of it was built by Custom Fab and Body of Marion, Wis. The truck featured seating for five people and a 1,250 gallon-per-minute pump. The total investment on the project was $280,480. Funding of the project was made possible by the City of Green Isle, and the townships of Green Isle, Jessenland and Washington Lake. There was additional funding from private donations and an insurance settlement. This truck replaced the one that was destroyed in an accident in October of 2011. An open house was held for the 45th anniversary of the Sibley County DAC.

Additionally, it can be challenging for companies who do create a customized legal frameworks to educate consumers, vendors and investors on how their social purpose fits into their business model.

Recognizing that there was a need for this new corporate structure a team of top lawyers from the corporate law section of the Bar Association volunteered their time to re-draft and refine this legislation. They created a system that is simple enough that a small start-up business should be able to form a benefit corporation on their own, without hiring a lawyer. With this carefully crafted legislation, and strong support from many business owners and entrepreneurs, Minnesota joined the growing number of states that enable formation of benefit corporations.

The new law gives businesses the option of incorporating under the traditional corporate structure or under this alternative Public Benefit Corporation (PBC) model that acknowledges their responsibility to other stakeholders as well as shareholders. Those who choose to become PBCs will spell out, in their charter, their corporate mission. They will either commit to a general benefit, where the corporate mission will aim to serve the broader community, or to a specific social purpose.

These benefit corporations

The following area and regional people recently appeared in Sibley County District Court, according to Sibley County Attorney David Schauer and Assistant County Attorney Donald Lannoye.

Joshua F. Kirckof, age 25, Arlington, appeared in district court for a Bail Hearing after being arrested on a warrant issued due to failure to appear for court hearings on two separate files alleging fifth degree sale of a controlled substance.

The court set bail in the amount of $2,000 cash or $20,000 bond. If Kirckof posts bail, he must go on the Sibley County Color Wheel Drug Testing Program and have no use or possession of alcohol or drugs. Kirckof's next court appearance is scheduled for 11 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 8. ***** will file an annual benefit report describing how the company pursued and created public benefits each year. The state will not evaluate the social value of PBCs; the market will. Because these reports will be publicly available, investors, consumers, and the broader public will have the information to evaluate the good these businesses perform, and can reward companies accordingly.

Business owners recognize that it is a very real asset to have a positive reputation and public trust. It creates loyal customers. Similarly, many employers recognize that good compensation for their employees results in happier, more productive workers.

Benefit corporations move beyond philanthropic and government financial support and tap into the resources of the private sector to make a positive impact.

Many business people have always understood the importance of protecting the environment, ensuring public health and safety, and treating workers fairly. The Minnesota Public Benefit Corporation Act is not a miracle cure to our society's problems, but it is another tool to help those businesses accomplish that mission.

In these days when corporate scandals and corporate greed regularly make headlines, benefit corporations are a step in the right direction.

NOVEMBER

Voters in the Sibley East School District approved a $43 million building bond referendum 1,634-1,538 during a special election on Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Rich Nagel was elected to a four-year term as mayor for the City of Arlington. Jim Heiland and Michelle Battcher were elected to the City Council.

Incumbent Dan Woehler and candidates Laura Reid and Sarah Ziegler won the three open seats on the Sibley East School Board.

Incumbent Shawn Harms and candidate John Schauer won seats on the Green Isle City Council.

Incumbent Joy Cohrs and candidates Bobbie Harder and Gary Kruggel won seats on the Sibley County Board of Commissioners.

Sibley County Administrator and former Arlington City Administrator Matt Jaunich was officially offered the city administrator position in Hutchinson. He later accepted the offer.

The Arlington Historical Society (AHS), in cooperation with the City of Arlington, was working to establish a city museum located on the lower level of the Old Fire Hall building on Main Street.

A group of voters, headed by rural Gaylord resident Nathan Kranz, filed a lawsuit in Sibley County District Court to contest the recent passage of the Sibley East $43 million building bond referendum.

The sixth annual Sibley East American Education Banquet was held at the Arlington Community Center. Wall of Fame honorees were Mari Lu Martens, Helen Engelmann (representing the Milton Engelmann Family) and Sue Vos. Other award winners were Jodi Weber (Paraprofessional of the Year), Jim Swanson (Outstanding Retiree), Marjorie Matthiae (Friend of Education) and Stacy Pauly (Teacher of the Year) and Dennis Vinkemeier (Support Person of the Year).

DECEMBER

Ashley Mercier, a senior at the Sibley East Senior High School, was chosen by her classmates as the Senior of the Quarter.

Approximately 8,000-plus people packed Main Street for the annual Arli-Dazzle Parade in downtown Arlington. The other Arli-Dazzle activities were also very well attended.

A lawsuit filed by rural Gaylord resident Nathan Kranz to contest the recent passage of the Sibley East $43 million building bond was dismissed.

The Arlington City Council unanimously approved a motion to approve a three-person police department.

Sibley East School Board members Anne Karl and Scott Dose each received a clock at the conclusion of the School Board meeting in late December. Karl and Dose both served two terms on the School Board.

Jon A. Stumm, age 31, Gaylord, MN appeared in district court for a Bail Hearing on new charges of second degree possession of a controlled substance and fifth degree possession of a controlled substance. Stumm also appeared for a Bail Hearing on allegations that he violated the terms of his probation on an underlying third degree DWI charge.

On the new charges, the court set bail in the amount of $5,000 cash or $50,000 bond. On the probation violation, the court ordered Stumm to be held without bail.

Stumm's next court appearance is scheduled for 11 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 8. ****

Nathan K. Jones, age 26, Gaylord, appeared in district court for a Bail Hearing on charges of second degree possession of a controlled gree possession of a controlled substance.

The court released Dyre on her own recognizance. The Court ordered Dyre to participate with the Sibley County Color Wheel Drug Testing Program and to not use or possess alcohol or drugs.

Dyre's next court appearance is scheduled for 11 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 8. *****

Kristina K. Gadbaw, age 21, Gaylord, MN appeared in district court for a Bail Hearing one count of fifth degree sale of a controlled substance, two counts of fifth degree possession of a controlled substance, and one count of fourth degree DWI.

The court ordered Gadbaw to go on the Sibley County Color Wheel Drug Testing Program. The court also ordered Gadbaw to not use or possess alcohol or controlled substances and to be subject to random testing at the request of law enforcement.

Gadbaw's next court appearance is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 29.

The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 6031 met at the Veterans Building at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 8, according to Secretary Ramona Bade.

It was the annual Christmas party. Group #4 had the meeting room very festive and served abundant and delicious snacks.

President Carol Dammann presided with 17 members and one guest present. The guest, Second District Vice President Mary Tiede, came to do the annual inspection. All general business was conducted. The organization held a collection for the veterans at the Hastings Home.

Under new business, a motion to pay the dues of the three honorary members, who are in convalescent homes, was passed. A motion to give the VFW Post a monetary gift in appreciation of all of their help and support at the VFW Fair Stand passed. A motion to make a donation to the Arlington Historical Society toward the remodeling of the Old Fire Hall that will be used as a museum was passed.

Having no further business, the business meeting was adjourned.

Carol Dammann read some very nice Christmas stories and awarded door prizes. Thanks to the Group #4 members for the very enjoyable evening.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 12.

Students Attend WE Day

Students from the Sibley East Senior High School Student Council and National Honor Society recently attended WE Day at the Excel Energy Center in St. Paul. WE Day is a rewards day for student groups that complete service projects for their local and global communities throughout the year. Guests at the event included Colbie Caillat, The Band Perry, Magic Johnson, Martin Sheen and many more. Both student groups have completed service projects for organizations such as the Childrens Hospital and the Sibley County Food Shelf. This event inspired these students to give back to their communities and they have already started planning service projects for the remainder of the school year. (MSOP) this issue is likely to be debated at length in the Judiciary Committee.

Capital Investment

Since it is a budget year, I am not anticipating much of a bonding bill. However, if a bill does come forward I will bring it to your attention.

Rules and Administration In the Rules and Administration Committee, we will work on a variety of procedural issues relating to the legislative process such as the timing of when and if bills should be brought forward for debate on the Senate Floor. Early in the session it is pretty quiet but as various deadlines and the end of session approach, that changes dramatically. Finance

Like Ways and Means in the House, the Finance Committee in the Senate will review all bills involving any state spending. Because this is a budget year, there are 18 committees that will likely pass an omnibus appropriation bill and all are debated in the Finance Committee before heading to the Senate Floor for passage. Consequently, this committee becomes very busy, particularly late in the session.

Transportation and Public Safety

Public safety is one of the most important functions of government and will be a priority again this session. I also anticipate discussion involving our transportation infrastructure, as many roads and bridges, particularly in rural Minnesota, are in dire need of repair. I will work to ensure that all of Minnesota benefits from future investments. As always, if you have questions or suggestions, please contact me so stay in touch.

DNR to fly deer and elk surveys Low-flying helicopters will improve our understanding of tically valid representation of Mower, Olmste

Low-flying helicopters will be used for white-tailed deer population surveys planned by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources for Jan-how deer populations respond to management, which helps us to make decisions about future deer hunting season regulations." Deer will be counted during daylight hours at an altitude of about 200 feet. These counts are used to estimate deer numbers in deer permit areas. A representative sampling of 1 square mile areas within the permit areas are flown that allows for a statistically valid representation of the population in a given area.

"The goal is to complete deer permit areas 214, 215, Mower, Olmsted, Wabasha, and Winona counties," D'Angelo said. "Successful completion of the surveys requires continuous snow conditions over the survey areas in order to complete them all."

uary through March in central and southeastern Minnesota, if suitable snow conditions develop.

"We use aerial surveys to help monitor deer populations in portions of Minnesota," said Gino D'Angelo, DNR farmland deer project leader. "These flights provide data to 218, 219, 221, 223, 224, 229, 241, and 248 in Becker, Benton, Cass, Hubbard, Meeker, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Otter Tail, Pope, Sherburne, Stearns, Todd, Wadena, Wilkin, and Wright counties; and deer permit areas 341, 343, 345, 347, and 348 in Dodge, Fillmore, Goodhue, Aerial elk surveys are also planned for the Kittson County and Grygla elk ranges in northwestern Minnesota.

Questions about survey flights should be directed to the DNR's Farmland Wildlife Research office in Madelia at 507-642-8478, the central regional wildlife office in St. Paul at 651-259-5756, or the northwest regional wildlife office in Bemidji at 218-308-2651. past. The property is located east of CSAH 9 and north of the racetrack/fairgrounds. The property is commonly known as the "Nickel Property."
