Security system upgrades approved for county jail

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

At the regular Sibley County Board meeting on October 27 Jail Administrator Lt. Aaron Louwagie presented the Board with a request to upgrade the security system in the Sibley County jail.

Louwagie's main concern is that the intercom has not been updated in 20 years and it can no longer be fixed. With the intercom not working officers cannot communicate with perimeter entrance doors. This creates a security risk because officers have to leave their duty area to communicate with individuals at the perimeter doors.

Louwagie stated that the perimeter cameras have also been down for over 10 years and not all areas of critical importance are covered by cameras. The current system in the jail is so old that there is not much that can be reused. There are 18 cameras, but only 16 of them are actually hooked up. They are analog cameras, so all of the images are fuzzy.

Louwagie requested $116,000 to contract with Alpha Wireless in Mankato to perform a complete overhaul of the jail security system which will include: a new internet protocol (IP) camera, new audible alarm system, new intercom system, and information technology and infrastructure upgrades. $30,000 would come from the 2015 budget, $30,000 from the 2016 budget and the rest from reserves.

County Administrator Roxy Traxler pointed out that this security system has the ability for expansion and could eventually expand to include cameras in the courthouse.

Commissioner Jim Swanson

was concerned that the Board had not been informed about the security problems before.

The Board voted unanimously to approve the proposal and move forward with Alpha Wireless. The new system is expected to be ordered, installed, and completed by the end of December.

Police Services

The Sibley County Board unanimously approved a contract between the sheriff's department and the City of Gibbon to provide police services in Gibbon when the Gibbon police department is not on duty. The sheriff's department will not be enforcing any city ordinances during their time on duty.

G.I. City Council tables discussion on its cost share of new ambulance

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Green Isle City Council, during its regular meeting on Tuesday night, Oct. 27, tabled any discussion and action on its cost share of a new ambulance being purchased by the City of Arlington.

The City of Green Isle, according to City Clerk Bert Panning, tabled any discussion or action at this time because Arlington officials would like to meet with officials from Green Isle and the townships in the fire district.

The Arlington City Council, during a regular meeting eight days earlier, unanimously approved a motion to authorize the signature on a purchase agreement for a Demers MX170 ambulance. The total cost will be $179,850 after the trade in of the 2000 E450 Road Rescue vehicle.

The City of Arlington's portion will be $120,005.42 which is included in the Capital Improvement Fund. The City of Green Isle is expected to cover nearly $15,000 while the townships in the fire district will cover the remaining $34,000-plus.

Libraries request budget increase

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

At the work session immediately following the Sibley County Board meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 27, the Sibley County Library System requested a $24,507 increase in its budget.

The county usually provides a $284,200 contribution toward the library system.

The libraries are asking for more money for books, mileage and salaries.

Chairperson Bill Pinske stated that he "would like to see us find the funding because the library is something everyone can use."

Leadership Program

During the work session, immediately following the regular County Board meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 27, County Administrator Roxy Traxler discussed a county leadership program.

Through the University of Minnesota Extension Office, the county would create a leadership program to train future leaders, get Sibley County leaders communicating with each other and working toward shared county visions and goals. The program teaches people how to be leaders through a series of classes that meet monthly on various leadership topics. Nearby counties that already have this type of program in place are McLeod, Nicollet and Brown counties.

The process will begin by having a steering committee that is interested in getting the program started. The Extension Office expects it to take six to eight months to structure and target who wants to be in-involved. Traxler expects the program to be funded by the county for the first three to five years, but then it may change to a non-profit or find other funding sources. Traxler expects the cost to be around $15,000 per year for hard costs to Extension, plus food, lodging, transportation, etc.

Commissioner Bobbie Harder asked Traxler about the goal of the program. Traxler said it would be to strengthen relationships and communication within the county. Commissioner Jim Swanson stated that he is in favor of the program.

Traxler will bring the program back before the Board after she has determined how the program could be funded.

Treasurer Update

Sibley County Treasurer Mary Fisher, during the regular meeting, received Board approval for new County credit cards for the Recorder's Office, Public Health and Human Services, and Environmental Services.

The County Board also approved a change to the Sibley County procurement card policies and procedures to read that failure to comply with card policies and procedures will result in an immediate revocation of card privileges.

The County Board approved a change to the Sibley County automated clearing house (ACH) payments policies and procedures stating that at the discretion of the County Treasurer an ACH application may be accepted without a voided check.

MPH Change

The County Board, at their regular monthly meeting on October 27 approved the grading, paving, and granting of right of way access to change the alignment of the curve on County Road 160 in Faxon Township.

County Engineer Tim Becker said that he received positive feedback from the landowner meeting on Thursday, Oct. 8. Of the 16 people that attended the meeting only three voiced concerns. They voiced concerns over the amount of right-of-way needed and about more trucks and more noise on the road once it has been paved.

The cost for this project is $1.1 million, but $500,000 is available from a Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) Local Road Improvement Program grant.

A motion was made to move forward with grading and right of way access in 2016 and paving in 2017. The motion carried unanimously.

Other Business

The County Board approved the Minnesota Department of Public Safety Radiological Emergency Preparedness 2016-2017.

The County Board also approved the results of the review of the Homeland Security and Emergency Management Local Emergency Operations Plans.

The Sibley County Board of Commissioners will hold their next regular meeting in Gaylord at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10.

Early registration encouraged for the Arli-Dazzle parade and fun run

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Early registration is encouraged for the Arli-Dazzle Parade and Dash Through The Snow 5K run and walk which will both be held on Saturday, Dec. 5.

There are already over 20 entries for the Arli-Dazzle Parade, according to Committee Chairperson Kim Schneider.

The Arli-Dazzle Parade, which will start at 5:30 p.m., is "Probably The Largest Lighted Christmas Parade in Minnesota!"

There will be a change in the direction of the parade this year. The parade will start near the west end of Main Street and go west to east through the downtown area to County Road 17.

Registration for the parade can be made on the Arlington chamber website at arlingtonmnchamber.com, www.arli-dazzle.com or by calling Schneider at 507-964-2809.

The annual Dash Through The Snow 5K run and walk will start and end on Main Street in the afternoon.

To register for this annual run and walk, go to the Arlington Chamber website at arlingtonmnchamber.com or www.arlidazzle.com.

Raffle Tickets

There will also be raffle tickets sold in conjunction with the Arli-Dazzle this year.

The cost of each ticket will be $10. Over 30 prizes with a retail value exceeding $7,000 will be featured.

Raffle tickets are available for sale from Chamber members and businesses.

Elementary principal presents report to School Board

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

Elementary Principal Mari Lu Martens presented her monthly report to the Sibley East School Board during its regular meeting in Arlington on Monday night, Oct. 19.

Martens reported that local firemen visited each classroom on Tuesday, Oct. 6 for fire safety week. The children learned about having a safe escape route during a fire, crawling low under the smoke, the importance of having smoke alarms, and safety around matches and lighters. The children were also able to try on the firemen's hats and jackets and take a ride on the fire truck.

The children also learned about bus safety from Sibley East Transportation Director Lanny Woods on Tuesday, Oct. 13. Woods discussed bus safety rules and safe evacuation of the bus.

Martens informed the School Board that Target has decided not to continue its Take Charge of Education Program. The program will end May 14, 2016. Target's corporate social responsibility strategy had been centered on education and the program allowed REDcard holders to designate a school of their choice and Target would give a donation equal to 1% of their REDcard purchases to that school. Martens said that there were 119 Arlington cardholders who designated Sibley East to receive the donations and 36 Gaylord cardholders who designated Sibley East. Sibley East received $48,270.08 through 2015 from the REDcard program and used the money to fund school programs. Target states that their new corporate social responsibility strategy will be centered on wellness.

Martens also reported that she is working with Jen Strack from Community Education on a before and after school daycare program. Martens said many districts have this type of daycare available and it has been requested by members of the community. Martens said that there are "many variables up in the air" such as times of the year, hours, and age of the children in the daycare, but Strack will bring a proposal to the Community Education Board and they will work to get it off the ground.

Happy Halloween

Pumpkins are a common sight on the front steps of many houses in the Arlington and Green Isle communities. Six-year-old Atley Strack used a kids pumpkin carving kit and carved this pumpkin which sits on the steps of his home along the 700 block of West Brooks Street in Arlington. There will be plenty of opportunities for children to trick or treat in both communities on Saturday night, Oct. 31.

Sibley County farm family honored at White House

A Sibley County farm family was honored at the White House in Washington, D.C., on Monday night, Oct. 26, according to KNUJ Radio.

Martin and Loretta Jaus have a 410-acre organic farm six miles north and two miles west of Gibbon. They were among 12 recipients who were selected throughout the country.

Loretta was in the nation's capital representing her family as a Champion of Change for Sustainable and Climate-Smart Agriculture in recognition of their dairy operation's efforts in preventing global warming.

U.S. Secretary Tom Vilsack introduced the Champions who were singled out by President Barack Obama's administration for exemplary leadership and innovation in agricultural production and education with their efforts to implement agricultural practices that promote soil health and energy efficiency, improve water quality and reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

The Jaus family operates a rotational grazed farm with a 60-cow dairy herd. Loretta participated in a six-member panel discussion about the impact climate change has on agriculture.

Highway 14 detour was removed Monday

Existing Highway 14 from Nicollet to North Mankato reopened to traffic around 3 p.m. Monday, Oct. 26.

Motorists are advised to stay alert as work on the new lanes north of the existing highway will continue until the ground freezes. Large equipment will be moving in and out of the work site.

In addition, seeding the shoulders will be done under traffic, which will require some shoulder closures and motorists to drive carefully.

The project, which includes building 6.5 miles of two additional lanes north of existing Highway 14 and a 2.5 mile four-lane southern bypass of Nicollet with an interchange for Highway 111/CR 23 includes another detour in late summer to fall 2016.

Americans usually vote with their wallets for president

Our View: It will be interesting to see if history repeats itself next fall

Former Secretary of State and current DFL presidential candidate Hillary Clinton, while on the campaign trail, recently said the economy does best when there is a Democrat in the White House.

That is a good sound bite and many people will fall for it, but it is simply not true this time around. The current American economy, under the leadership of President Barack Obama, is in shambles.

Fifty-one percent of all wage earners in the United States made less than $30,000 in 2014, according to the Social Security Administration. That figure does not take into account the people who are not working.

The median income in the United States is three percent lower than when President Barack Obama took office in 2009.

Almost 40 percent of citizens who are eligible to work do not have a job. That is the lowest percentage of workers in over 35 years.

The people who receive food stamps and government subsidies has continually risen in the last seven years.

The national debt has more than doubled since President Obama has taken office.

It would seem that the current state of the economy would easily hand the next Republican presidential nominee a victory to the White House one year from now.

It has worked in the past as Americans usually vote with their wallets during presidential elections.

Ronald Reagan coasted to an easy victory over Jimmy Carter and his poor economy in the late 1970s.

Bill Clinton used his “It’s the economy, stupid,” phrase and won election over the elder George Bush and his slumping economy in the early 1990s.

Obama won the White House after the younger George Bush left the country in a recession during 2007 and years beyond.

Americans, for the most part in the last 35 years, have voted with their wallets and against the party who has mismanaged the economy at the time.

History should be on the side of the Republican Party this time around with the current state of the economy under Obama. It will be interesting to see if history repeats itself during the next presidential election next fall.

A man gets a job with the county painting lines down the center of the highway. The supervisor tells him he is expected to paint two miles of highway a day, and the man goes to work immediately.

The first day he paints four miles. “Great,” the supervisor thinks. The next day the man paints two miles. “Well, that’s good enough,” the supervisor says. The third day the man only paints one mile.

“What’s the problem?” his boss asks. “An injury? Some reason you keep painting less and less highway?”

One day Ole and Lars met for coffee at the local restaurant. After visiting for awhile, Lars said, “Ole, I hear your 50th wedding anniversary is coming up. Are you doing something special to celebrate?”

Ole answered, “Yes, I guess so. On our 25th anniversary, I took Lena to visit Norway, and we had a really good time. I thought for our 50th anniversary I’d go back and pick her up.”

A small business had outgrown its facility and was going to construct a new building at another location. The person in charge of the groundbreaking ordered a floral arrangement for the occasion.

When the crowd gathered for the event, they saw that the ribbon on the arrangement which said, “Rest In Peace.” Everyone got a laugh out of the mistake.

Later, someone phoned the florist and told him how everybody had gotten a chuckle out of what happened.

The embarrassing florist apologized and said the people at the funeral, for which that arrangement was meant, didn’t take the mistake quite so well. The ribbon on their flowers said, “Congratulations On Your New Location.”

“Yes, sir,” recalled the victim. “Every time I see him, he’s wearing better clothes.”

Letters To The Editor

Lawsuit is attempt to intimidate Nathan Kranz

The lawsuit now being perpetrated against Mr. Kranz is nothing more than a strong arm attempt to intimidate anyone and everyone who would dare to question the edicts of the school board and its minions. We are at a point in this country where our rights are being violated daily, our constitution is being trampled and America is no longer what it once was.

It is time to stand up as a people and say no more. And we need to start that right here in our own county. We need to stop the strong arm tactics. The school admits breaking the law and now wants to get paid for doing so. It is time to take a stand and end this nonsense, before an individual is destroyed and we as taxpayers have to pay any more money out in attorney fees so that (Superintendent Jim) Amsden can continue flexing his muscle.

Nothing good can come out of this vindictive attempt to destroy Mr. Kranz because he dared to question the legality of what the school had done. By posting late and carrying out the election any way, makes me feel like the school board believes us to be a bunch of country bumpkins who can easily be fooled. Well we are not Mr. Amsden.

U of M president thanks Glencoe for support

To The Editor,

I recently traveled to Glencoe to visit with Representative Glenn Gruenhagen, and I thank him for sharing his valuable time and thoughtful ideas with me. Our partnership with the Legislature is critical to the future of the U because the vitality of the state is inextricably linked to the upward trajectory of the state’s flagship public research university.

The University of Minnesota’s impact is deep and broad in your community and in all 87 counties of the state. We fulfill our land-grant mission in many ways, and that’s demonstrated in your area with nearly 2,000 alumni — including physicians, dentists, scientists, teachers, business and civic leaders — who keep your community strong and vibrant. And, with our expertise and resources, we tackle and work to solve with local partners the state’s most pressing issues, from clean water to the educational achievement gap to agricultural challenges.

Thank you, again, Glencoe for your support of the University of Minnesota. I look forward to visiting your community again soon.

Steps to increase access to affordable prescription drugs

By Amy Klobuchar
U.S. Senator

Modern medicine is performing miracles every day. From a new type of chemotherapy that helps a patient fight cancer to pain medications that provide relief to those suffering from arthritis, we are living in the midst of a “golden age” for pharmaceutical research and medical innovation. But we recently received a powerful reminder that not everyone has the same opportunity to benefit from today’s medical marvels.

Last month, Turing Pharmaceuticals increased the price of Daraprim—a lifesaving drug used to treat an infection called toxoplasmosis—by more than 5,000 percent, from $13.50 per pill to $750. This case is particularly shocking, and after a public outcry, Turing ultimately agreed to lower the drug’s price. But this isn’t a new phenomenon; it’s just the latest chapter in the history of a broken system. In 2011, Ovation Pharmaceuticals raised the price of Indocin IV—a critical medicine that helps save the lives of premature babies—by nearly 1,300 percent.

The sky-high cost of prescription drugs is hurting families in Minnesota and across the country. Kyle, a 25-year-old from Roseville with Type I Diabetes, is paying about $4,000 out of pocket each year for the insulin and pump he needs. That’s a hefty $300 per month bill for someone just starting out in his career. Joyce, a retiree, lost her husband to complications from diabetes, but not before the family paid tens of thousands of dollars a year in prescription drug costs.

Kyle and Joyce are not alone. A recent study showed that one out of four Americans whose prescription drug costs went up said they were unable to pay their medical bills and one out of five were forced to skip doses of their medication. Seven percent of people even missed a mortgage payment due to the increase in their prescription drug costs. That’s just not right, and our country should do better.

In the United States, we spend about 40 percent more per person each year on pharmaceuticals than any other country. Though many factors contribute to the prescription drug cost crisis we’re facing, there are three big things that we can do to address the problem.

First, we need to ensure that consumers are not prevented from purchasing cheaper generic versions of the drugs they need because of harmful ‘pay-for-delay’ deals that keep less expensive generic drugs from entering the market. These deals happen when a brand-name drug company pays a generic drug competitor not to sell its products. These “deals” stifle competition and keep affordable generics out of the hands of patients who need them. To crack down on this behavior, I have introduced bipartisan legislation with Senator Chuck Grassley of Iowa that will give the Federal Trade Commission more power to block these anti-competitive agreements.

Our neighbors to the north in Canada often pay significantly less for prescription drugs than we do. In 2012, average prescription drug prices were half as expensive in Canada as they were in America. This staggering difference motivated me to introduce a bipartisan bill with Senator John McCain of Arizona that would require the Food and Drug Administration to establish a personal importation program that would allow Americans to safely import a 90-day supply of prescription drugs from an approved Canadian pharmacy.

Finally, while Medicaid and the Department of Veterans Affairs can currently negotiate drug prices with pharmaceutical companies, the law bans Medicare from doing so. This is a bad policy for our seniors and for taxpayers. That is why I introduced legislation to allow Medicare to directly negotiate with drug companies for price discounts. My bill would save Medicare billions of dollars and help cut costs for more than 37 million seniors across the country.

Whether battling a serious disease or taking medication for a chronic condition, everyone deserves access to the prescription drugs that can help them live a long and healthy life. These commonsense solutions will help ensure that Americans have access to the drugs they need at prices they can afford.

Le Sueur-Henderson high school student Ellie Tiegs, daughter of Jim and Fran Tiegs, Henderson, was the local winner of the Patriotic Art Contest sponsored by the Arlington VFW Auxiliary to Post 6031.

Tiegs also won the District 2 contest and placed second at the state level. She received awards at all levels.

Tiegs' painting was displayed at the State VFW Auxiliary Convention.

Her winning entry, "Com-

Coming Home by Ellie Tiegs

This is a picture of my aunt, who is arriving home on leave from the United States Navy. She shows a particular happiness to be home that is mixed with a proud determination to fulfill the obligation she made to her country. She is home but she knows it is temporary and willingly accepts that. "Coming Home" reflects the sacrifice military service people make, leaving all they have for something unknown. Sadly, some of these brave people never return home. "Coming Home" shows my wish for all the people who serve our country in military service, my wish to welcome them home.

Student support programs at Sibley East

By Steve Harter
Junior High Principal

There are many aspects of a school that are overlooked. Usually, when schools are discussed, the topic of conversation revolves around the more noticeable items like testing, homework, buildings and even athletics/activities. An often unnoticed area that is very important to the operation of the school is the many different types of support services and programs that are provided for students and even families; many of which would have to be considered essential services. One of these services at Sibley East Junior High School is provided by our school counselor. Our counselor offers academic, scheduling, career and even social advice to many students on a daily basis. When you consider all of the social and emotional challenges that middle level students are going through at this time in their lives it is easy to understand the counselor's importance to both the students and the school. Another service that we are also very proud of at Sibley East is our Peer Tutor program. The concept behind the Peer Tutor program is just as its name implies: peers helping or tutoring other students. Even though students are involved in this program at the same time that other students are in a study hall it is not a study hall; the tutors help their fellow students not only understand the assigned classroom material but also try to give them innovative ways to learn future material. Maybe the most important aspect of the peer tutor program however is the positive academic role model that the tutors provide their fellow students. Hundreds of students have benefitted from this program over the past years. A similar program can be observed Monday through Thursdays after school from 3:20 until 5:00. The after school program is geared toward helping those students who need additional assistance in learning new material; especially in reading and math. A group of dedicated Sibley East staff members work with the "after school" students on not only home work but also do whatever is possible to keep these students organized and prepared for future academic assignments/tasks. The last program is the "Response to Intervention" or RTI program. Even though the acronym "RTI" might sound like a new educational service it is really what schools have done for years; it is a way to help students that have demonstrated a difficulty in reading based on their test scores. The students in this group are "progress monitored" on a regular basis to see how they compare with the rest of the students at their grade level; if the monitoring indicates that additional help is needed then the RTI coordinator works with the students in a small group setting until the next progress monitoring session takes place. These are just a few of the many "behind the scenes" support services that we use to help students be academically successful at SEJHS.

Mankato Free Press delivery driver is arrested

A suspect has been arrested in the Blue Earth County investigation into theft of mail and checks in the Madison Lake, Eagle Lake and Mankato areas, according to KNUJ Radio.

The Blue Earth County Sheriff's Office arrested Dalton Ray Harrington, according to the report.

Harrington is employed as a Mankato Free Press delivery driver for Madison Lake, Elysian and the Waterville area, the report said. Harrington admitted that while delivering newspapers in October he went through mailboxes on his route and removed mail looking for checks. Harrington would then remove the payee's name from the check and forge his own name. According to authorities, the majority of recovered mail and checks have mailing addresses from the Madison Lake area.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

According to the American Cancer Society, breast cancer is the second most common cancer among women. About one in eight women born today in the United States will be diagnosed with breast cancer at some point. The good news is that many can survive breast cancer if it's found and treated early. A mammogram—the screening test for breast cancer—can help find breast cancer early, increasing the odds of survival.

To enhance early detection for area residents, Ridgeview Sibley Medical Center recently upgraded its mammography technology to the Senographe® Essential full-field digital mammography system. This is the same advanced equipment that is used at Ridgeview Medical Center in Waconia and at Ridgeview's Imaging Center at Two Twelve Medical Center in Chaska.

"There are several patient benefits with this digital system, including quicker exam times, 20 percent less radiation and superb quality images," said Cindy Steenstra, director of Imaging Services at Ridgeview. "This advanced technology enhances the radiologists' ability to detect abnormalities and generate images that are available immediately for viewing."

Purchase of the new mammography system was made possible through the generous support of the Ridgeview Sibley Medical Foundation, which raised $12,000 at its spring fundraiser event to help fund the purchase.

About Ridgeview Sibley Medical Center

Volleyball team loses twice

By Kurt Menk Editor
The Sibley East varsity girls volleyball team closed out its regular season with two losses last week.

The Lady Wolverines conclude the regular season with a 2-4 mark in the Minnesota River Conference and a 15-11 record overall.

Sibley East will now face Southwest Christian in the opening round of the Section 2AA North Sub-Section Volleyball Tournament at the Chaska High School at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 29.

Belle Plaine 3 Sibley East 0

The visiting Sibley East varsity girls volleyball team was blanked by Belle Plaine 3-0 on Thursday night, Oct. 22.

The Lady Wolverines dropped the three games 25-12, 25-10 and 25-19 respectively.

Senior Megan Krentz contributed 12 kills, three blocks and three digs. Senior Katie Tuchenhagen dished out 16 set assists and converted eight of eight serves while senior Sydney Fogarty had 11 of 12 serves with three aces. Senior McKayla Stumm recorded seven digs while freshman Rachel Rettmann added two kills and two blocks.

“Belle Plaine is ranked number one in the state in class AA, and when they are on like they were against us, they can beat any team in the state regardless of class,” said Sibley East head coach Chip Wolverton. “I was very proud of the way our team showed up to play and really competed at a high level, despite the lopsided scores in the first two sets. The third set was more indicative of the night, as we carried a lead as much as 14-10. (In fact we did hold early leads in all 3 sets before they took control.) At 18-18, we were still in the match and looked like we were going to hang with them. Unfortunately, we made a few errors before they finished with two kills to end the match. This will be valuable experience for us as we head into our subsection play.”

Jordan 3 Sibley East 2

The Sibley East varsity girls volleyball team won the first two games, but dropped the next three games and was edged by visiting Jordan 3-2 on Friday night, Oct. 23.

The Lady Wolverines, who captured the first two games 25-13 and 25-20, lost the next three games 26-24, 25-17 and 15-10 respectively.

Senior Katie Tuchenhagen, who dished out a career high 49 set assists, converted 17 of 17 serves and contributed five digs and three kills. Senior Sydney Fogarty converted 26 of 28 serves with four aces and recorded five digs and five kills. Senior Megan Krentz had 22 kills, 11 digs and eight blocks while senior McKayla Stumm compiled 24 digs and nine of nine serves. Senior Kailey Geib posted 16 digs and 13 kills while junior Hannah Wentzlaff had 13 kills and four blocks. Freshman Rachel Rettmann collected four kills and four blocks while sophomore Taylor Brinkman added seven digs.

“This was a tough loss to take as we had them beat in set three when we had a 24-22 lead,” said Sibley East head coach Chip Wolverton. “Losing that set took the wind out of our sails, as the score in set four indicates. But we put together a late rally and used that momentum to get off to a good start in the deciding set five. Unfortunately, we could not hold that early lead and let a very good Jordan team come back and take 10 of the next 12 points to win the match.”

Wolverton added, “Looking ahead, this should give us some incentive and confidence heading into the playoffs. We know we can compete with high level teams, and our first round opponent Southwest Christian is very good. If we play the way we did tonight, we’ll get a win Thursday, and likely get another crack at Jordan in the second round.”

Steer clear and watch out for wildlife collisions this fall

Motor vehicle accidents involving deer tend to peak in the fall months. Between 2012 and 2014, nearly 7,000 vehicle crashes with deer were reported to the Minnesota Department of Public Safety.

As Minnesotans hit the road for hunting and other fall activities, the Minnesota Department of Commerce offers tips to help motorists stay safe. Before a collision occurs, make sure you’re protected with the right type of insurance and understand how to prevent animal accidents.

“Deer accidents can be dangerous and costly,” said Commerce Commissioner Mike Rothman. “These accidents can sometimes be avoided by exercising caution during peak times when deer are most active. Many times these accidents are unavoidable, but you can avoid being hit with a large repair bill by checking your insurance in advance.”

Are You Covered?
The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

(NHTSA) estimates that damage caused by deer accidents results in over $1 billion in annual insured losses.

Damage to a vehicle from a collision with an animal is covered under an auto policy’s optional comprehensive portion. If you only have collision or liability coverage, your insurance carrier will not cover damage to your vehicle resulting from a collision with an animal. If you want to make sure your vehicle is covered for animal collisions, contact your agent or insurer to discuss adding comprehensive coverage to your policy.

Filing a claim for an accident covered by your comprehensive coverage means you will still need to pay a deductible. After that, your insurer will cover the costs of the claim up to your policy limits.

What To Do After An Animal Accident

Some accidents are unavoidable. Knowing how to react in the event of an animal collision can help keep you safe. The Minnesota Department of Public Safety advises that if you can’t avoid a collision, try not to swerve. If you swerve, you could lose control and hit a tree or veer into oncoming traffic. After a collision with an animal, follow the steps below:

Stay Calm

If you can, move your vehicle to a safe place and turn on your hazard lights. This may mean pulling over to the shoulder of the highway.

Stay away from the animal. A frightened or wounded animal can lash out and hurt you.

If you can’t move your car, or the animal carcass is blocking traffic, alert the authorities so they can clear the roadway.

Document the incident by taking photos of your vehicle damage, the roadway and any injuries sustained.

Check to see if your vehicle is safe to operate. Check for leaking fluid, damaged lights, loose parts or other safety hazards. When in doubt, call a tow truck.

Eighth grader Elizabeth Alejandro placed 17th with a time of 22:32 while sophomore Tamara Ehrich finished 33rd with a clocking of 24:39. Freshman Breanna Fahning placed 34th with a showing of 24:48 while eighth grader Lillian Beneke finished 36th with a time of 25:25.

In the junior high girls race, Sibley East seventh grader Jaden Kmetz placed 11th with a time of 8:10.

Sibley East football team falls to JCC 44-13 in section playoff game

By Kurt Menk Editor

The visiting Sibley East varsity football team lost to Jackson County Central 44-13 during the semi-final round of the Section 3AAA football playoffs on Tuesday night, Oct. 20.

“We fought the entire game,” said Sibley East head coach Chuck Hartman. We played with a lot of backbone and guts. That was a very good team. We made mistakes and they capitalized. We had played pretty mistake-free football for the last three games.”

Junior Brody Bates paced the Sibley East ground game with 157 yards on 29 carries. Sophomore Jesus Rodriguez ran seven times for 73 yards and one touchdown while sophomore Gavin Bates had six attempts for 58 yards and one score.

Gavin Bates also completed one of four passing attempts for 40 yards.

Senior Paul Glisczinski had the lone reception.

There were no defensive statistics available from the game.

The Wolverines, under the direction of head coach Chuck Hartman, conclude the season with a 4-6 record overall.

Roger Lietz is interviewed on Fox 9 Sports

By Kurt Menk Editor

Arlington resident Roger Lietz, a huge Minnesota Gopher football and basketball fan, was interviewed by Fox 9 Sports reporter Maury Glover on Sunday night, Oct.

Lietz, who was in attendance at the Gopher basketball intrasquad game at Williams Arena, was asked about the sudden passing of former Gopher basketball player and Minnesota Timberwolves head coach Flip Saunders.

The piece aired on Fox 9 Sports on Sunday night, Oct. 25 and Monday morning, Oct. 26.

What's new in Medicare for 2016?

People are invited to see how changes in Medicare for 2016 will affect Medicare beneficiaries during a free presentation at the Arlington Community Center on Thursday, Nov. 12.

The County Area Resources for Everyone (CARE) event is being sponsored by Sibley County Public Health & Human Services and Veteran Services. This is the perfect opportunity to learn about some great resources that are available to people in the community.

Two sessions of this event will be offered. The first session will begin at 2 p.m. while the second session will start at 6 p.m.

There will be free blood pressure checks before the presentations, refreshments and door prizes.

Featured speakers will be Robin Thompson from the Minnesota River Area Agency on Aging and a Minnesota Department of Veterans representative, regarding the Choice Program.

Local agencies supporting the event will share information on the services they offer. They include Sibley County Public Health and Human Services, Veteran Services, Minnesota Valley Action Council, University of Minnesota Extension Service, Trailblazer Transit, Salvation Army, Sibley County Food Shelf, and Minnesota River Area Agency on Aging, Inc.

People who have questions are encouraged to contact Sibley County Public Health and Human Services at 507-237-4000.
