Judge to rule on referendum lawsuit after Dec. 9

By Kurt Menk
Editor

A lawsuit filed by rural Gaylord resident Nathan Kranz in Sibley County District Court to contest the recent passage of the Sibley East Public Schools $43 million building bond referendum is now in the hands of Judge Kevin Ide.

An evidentiary hearing was held and completed on the matter in district court on Tuesday morning and afternoon, Dec. 2. The attorneys for both sides will submit memorandums/summations and Judge Ide will make a prompt ruling after Tuesday, Dec. 9.

Kranz contests the bond issue special election on two grounds, according to the court document.

First, the School District, acting through the clerk of the School District, failed to publish the notice of the ballot question two weeks prior to the Nov. 4 election as mandated under Minnesota Statute 205A.07.

Second, the School District, acting through the School Board, failed to timely publish an adequate notice of the Minnesota Department of Education Commissioner's review and summary of the project(s) supported by the ballot bond question placed before the voters on Nov. 4 as mandated under Minnesota Statute 1233B.71, Subdivision 12. That provision required the Commissioner's comments of the project be published at least 20 days, but not more than 60 days before a referendum for bonds related to the project. The notice failed to identify what project the review and comment was related to.

As a result of these two violations, Kranz contends the ballot bond question election results must be declared statutorily invalid under Minnesota Statute 209. In addition, Kranz and the group of contestants want to be reimbursed for attorney fees, costs and expenses under Minnesota Statute 209.07.

The morning session of the evidentiary hearing was attended by approximately 75 people.

Attorney Erick Kaardal, who is representing Kranz, waived his right to an opening statement.

Attorney Michelle Kenney, who is representing the Sibley East Public Schools, made an opening statement and said the will of the people at the ballot box should not be disturbed. She also stated

Arli-Dazzle Parade

The Arlington VFW Post #6031, with donated supplies, made 100 parking signs which will be used for the Arli-Dazzle Parade and festivities on Saturday, Dec. 6. The VFW sign installation crew included Lowell Nagel, Dick Luepke, John Krebsbach and Duane

Arli-Dazzle is Saturday, Dec. 6

By Kurt Menk
Editor

There is snow on the ground and the temperatures will be about 30 to 40 degrees warmer than last year for this year's Arli-Dazzle festivities which will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6.

Santa Day

Breakfast With Santa Claus will be held at the Arlington Community Center from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. A live KNUJ Radio broadcast will be held during this time. The registration deadline for this event was Monday, Dec. 1.

Santa Day will follow at the Community Center. Children will have an opportunity to visit with Santa & Mrs. Claus from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. There will be free and fun activities for children of all ages. The activities will include cookie decorating, make and take crafts, tattoos, face painting, letter writing to Santa, plus lots of games and fun holiday activities. Prizes will also be awarded.

In addition, there will be a Library Bake Sale, Usborne Book Sale and lunch available for purchase.

People are encouraged to bring canned items or a cash donation for the Sibley County Food Shelf.

Quilt Show

A quilt show will be held at the Arlington Public Library at 9 a.m., according to Librarian Kathy Homme.

Bethlehem Express

The Bethlehem Express will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church from noon to 3:30 p.m.

A complete article on this event appears on page 9 in this week's edition of the Arlington Enterprise.

Dash Through The Snow

The Dash Through The Snow 5K Run/Walk will start in front of Thomes Brothers on Main Street at 12:30 p.m.

The registration will begin at the Emergency Services

Building at 11:30 a.m.

Snowball Game

The snowball baseball game between the Arlington Greys and Mankato Baltics will be held on the playground behind the Sibley East Senior High School at 2:30 p.m.

The nine-inning game will be played under the rules of the 1860s.

There will be a sharp contrast in the weather this year. The temperature during the first pitch last year was zero degrees.

Main Street Activities

The Arlington Fire Department's Blacktop Fishing Derby will start at 1 p.m.

Horse drawn sleigh rides will start at 1 p.m.

People will have the opportunity to interact with a real live sled dog team on Main Street at 2 p.m.

Santa's reindeer will be featured on Main Street at 3:30 p.m.

The Amazing Hoopsters will be featured on Main Street at 4 p.m.

Music on Main Street will be provided by the Schell's Hobo Christmas Quartet and Sibley East Carolers prior to the parade.

After the parade, there will be fun in the Fish Camp. The activities will include the Schell's Hobo Christmas Quartet and a bonfire with free s'mores. In addition, the raffle winner will be announced.

Arli-Dazzle Chairperson Kim Schneider encourages everyone to buy and proudly wear their Arli-Dazzle Buttons. People who are seen wearing their button may receive a gift from a Secret Santa on the spot.

Parade

Approximately 100 units are registered for the Arli-Dazzle Parade which will be held at 5:30 p.m., according to Schneider. The event is known as "Probably the Largest Lighted Christmas Parade in Minnesota."

Springsted will begin administrator search for Sibley County

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

The Sibley County Board of Commissioners, during its regular meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 25, approved the county administrator search proposal presented by David Unmacht from Springsted, Incorporated.

The total cost charged by Springsted, Inc. will not exceed $12,000. The cost includes $10,500 for professional fees and $1,500 for expenses. The total cost of the search in 2012 was $16,400. Unmacht stated that his role will be that of a manager and providing extensive outreach.

In regards to the position advertisement, current County Administrator Matt Jaunich recommended narrowing the salary range in the listing. The salary range is listed at $62,025 to $100,734. Jaunich suggested increasing the lower number. Unmacht plans to have the documents updated by the next Board meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 9. Unmacht will work with Jaunich to work out the details of the posting. The time frame for advertising the position was tentatively set for Dec. 15 through Jan. 19, 2015, with the Board having the option to increase the time frame if it does not receive enough applicants because of the holidays.

The Board also established a five member search committee. County Commissioner Bill Pinkske stated that "no one applying for the position would be eligible to be on the search committee."

The committee members include Pinkske, County Commissioner Jim Swanson, Sibley County Public Health and Human Services Director Vicki Stock, Sibley County Treasurer Mary Fisher and Sibley County Public Works Director Tim Becker.

Annual Report

The Mental Health Local Advisory Council presented its annual report to the Board. The Council's goal is to educate the community and delete the stigma of a mental health diagnosis.

The Clubhouse was open 250 days the past year and had an average number of 6 clients per day. It hosted an open house in May which 50 people attended and had a record number of people for Thanksgiving last year.

Some of the challenges faced by the Council included ride ability with Trailblazer Transit. Some clients had to arrive three hours early for an appointment or wait three hours to be picked up afterward. The Council also reported that clients are struggling to find affordable housing. Clients without a strong rental history or a criminal record are having a difficult time finding housing. The Council has also had an increased number of referrals. Staff are limited to no more than 30 clients each. They are unsure if they will be able to meet demands with the current staff levels.

The Board also approved the 2015 Public Health and Human Services Agreement with Greater MN Family Services for the provision of In-Home Family Based Services at a cost not to exceed $118,395.

Trailblazer Agreement

The Board passed resolution #2014-70 to approve the amended Trailblazer Joint Powers Agreement. Pinkske said, "It's time to form this partnership and move forward."

On June 8, 1999, Sibley County approved a resolution to enter into a Joint Powers Agreement with McLeod County to provide for a "Transit Board" for the purposes of providing coordinated service delivery and funding sources for public transportation in and among the counties. Resolution #2014-70 amends the 1999 resolution to include Wright County Area Transportation Joint Powers Board (WCAT). The resolution passed, but several Commissioners voiced their disappointment with McLeod County's last minute change which sets the board composition at three elected officials from McLeod County and two elected officials from Sibley County and WCAT. This gives McLeod County three votes to two.

Sale of Lots

The Board also approved Resolution #2014-68, the sale of Winthrop tax forfeited lots #11 and #12, Block 21 of Frankenfield's Second Addition, to the City of Winthrop for $1,000. The city plans to tear down the dilapidated house on these lots. The Board likewise approved resolution #2014-69, the sale of another small parcel of land in Winthrop to the City of Winthrop. The land used to be part of Auntie Hildegard's and borders city property.

Sibley Estates East and West

The Sibley County Board approved the Sibley Estates East and West 2015 budget and approved the Agreement with Dominion Management

The Kingery Family

The Kingery family will present a program at Zion Lutheran Church in Arlington at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 10. This program is the annual Community Christmas Program presented by the Zion Church Women. A free will offering will be taken with proceeds going to the Community Assistance Fund. Everyone, men, women and children are invited to attend this uplifting program. The Kingery family, from central Minnesota, began as a family of ten -- Mike, Chris and their eight children singing and ministering together through music. It has grown to include two sons-in-law and four grandchildren. They have enjoyed singing together for the past 11 years. They sing primarily gospel bluegrass music while incorporating fiddle, patriotic, Americana and a Capella. The Kingery family's hope is to glorify the Lord Jesus Christ and to point Him to others.

Arlington Industries holds annual meeting

Arlington Industries recently held its annual meeting at the Arlington State Bank.

The industrial development corporation is a local development company which assists in development projects to encourage economic expansion and employment opportunities in the Arlington area.

It was reported that the corporation had a successful and profitable year with its loan portfolio at its highest point historically and with all loans current.

The policy of the revolving loan fund is to provide gap financing to assist companies or individuals to obtain financing to expand current business or start new business ventures and find a need for equity financing as part of their expansion project.

The group would encourage any local business entity considering expansion to consider utilizing Arlington Industries revolving loan fund for a part of their financing package. For information regarding the loan fund, individuals can check with Secretary Larry Sorenson at 507-964-5588 or loan committee members Scott Sorenson or Pete Arneson at the Arlington State Bank.

During the business session, the group decided to give $1,000 to the Arlington Historical Society to help with their project to convert part of the old fire hall to a museum. The group also discussed the implications of the Seneca Foods closing as well as the recent school bond issue. It was the consensus of the group that having a first class school system is critical for the community to attract business and residents to Arlington.

Up to 30 members can be active in the corporation and presently there are slots open for additional members. Any community member interested in economic development is encouraged to contact Arlington Industries about membership.

The officers for Arlington Industries are President Lowell Nagel, Vice President Bill Pinske and Secretary/Treasurer Larry Sorenson.

Mercier is Senior of the Quarter

Ashley Mercier, a senior at the Sibley East Senior High School, was recently chosen by her classmates as the Outstanding Senior of the Quarter.

Seniors at Sibley East vote for the outstanding member of the senior class each quarter. The names of those students are then submitted to the Gaylord Rotary Club to consider for a scholarship sponsored by the club. The scholarship will be presented to the outstanding senior of the year during the annual awards ceremony next spring.

Mercier is currently enrolled in U.S. Government, College Biology, Calculus, English, Animal Production, Choir and Sociology.

Mercier, who is a member of the National Honor Society, is a member of the "A" Honor Roll and is a past Student of the Month.

She is a three-year letter-winner in tennis and played at number one doubles this past fall.

Mercier is also a member of Teens 4 Real and the Show Choir.

Outside of school, Mercier works part-time at the Arlington Public Library. She is a member of the High Island Clovers 4-H Club and is a server at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Arlington. In addition, she volunteers at the local veterinary clinic.

After graduation, Mercier plans to attend the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, and major in animal science pre-veterinarian.

She is the daughter of Sue Mercier and the late Robert Mercier.

Services for Sibley Estates East and West.

Cindy Fleegel, Senior Regional Property Manager, identified that Sibley Estates expects to have a profit of $10,098.68 next year. The major expenses are expected to be a new power head in the elevator in Henderson and a cable in the elevator in Winthrop.

New Concepts

Vanessa Steffl and Sarah Anderson from Lutheran Social Services (LSS) updated the Board on the Senior Dining and Meals on Wheels Programs. Steffl stated that they face government funding cuts and may have to make some changes. One option would be to cut back on congregate meals. LSS serves congregate meals and home delivered meals throughout Sibley County. The congregate meals for Arlington/Green Isle are served at Highland Commons on Seventh Avenue and Main Streets. Meals are for adults 60 years and up. A $4.00-$7.00 donation per meal is suggested.

LSS has been experimenting with frozen meal delivery in an attempt to reach residents living in the country. Residents are able to order a frozen meal bundle containing a five or ten-meal box. LSS is also experimenting with a Healthy Eating Rewards Card in Fairfax, Gibbon and Winthrop. Residents who dine-in four times will get their fifth meal free thanks to a grant from Allina Health.

Recognition

There will be a recognition for County Commissioner Harold Pettis in the Courthouse Rotunda following the Sibley County Board meeting from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 23. The Commissioners' terms end January 2015.

that Sibley East substantially complied with the law.

During the morning testimony, Kranz said Sibley East published the Notice of Special Election in the Arlington Enterprise and Gaylord Hub on Oct. 23 and Oct. 30 which was two days late, according to state statute.

The organic chicken farmer also said the Review and Comment Statement was published late and did not contain a description of the project or date of the special election.

Kranz also stated that 1,266 registered voters did not show up at the polls for the special election on Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Arlington Enterprise Manager Karin Ramige-Cornwell testified that the newspaper received the Notice of Special Election and the Review & Comment Statement on Wednesday, Oct. 15 which was well after the weekly deadline. Ramige-Cornwell, who communicated concerns about legal deadlines to Sibley East, said the newspaper could have made an exception to the weekly deadline, but Sibley East did not ask.

Gaylord Hub Publisher Joe Dies said the newspaper also received the Notice of Special Election and the Review and Comment Statement after the weekly deadline.

Sibley East Superintendent Jim Amsden, in the morning session, admitted that the Notice of Special Election and the Review and Comment Statement were not published on the required dates.

Less than a third of the crowd returned for the afternoon session.

Amsden testified that he discovered on Wednesday, Oct. 15 that the Review & Comment Statement had not been published. Amsden said he sought legal advice on the matter to move forward. He also conferred with Sibley East Elections Clerk Lindsey Neisen about the matter.

Amsden said Sibley East immediately submitted the Review & Comment Statement to both legal newspapers. The document was also forward to The Sibley Shopper which features wider circulation and The Free Press which is a daily newspaper. In addition, the document was placed on the front page of the Sibley East website. The goal was to get the notices out as quickly as possible, he added.

Amsden also testified that informational meetings on the building bond referendum were held in all three communities and numerous smaller meetings were held throughout the school district.

In addition, Amsden said there were over 100 articles about the referendum published in both legal newspapers from August through the Special Election.

He did admit, during the testimony, that there was no discussion about postponing the Special Election.

Neisen testified that she was informed by the Sibley County Auditor's Office to publish the Notice of Special Election in both legal newspapers on Oct. 20. It was also published as a precautionary measure on Oct. 27.

Corissa Aronson, who held the title of assistant county auditor at the time of the Special Election, testified that the voter turnout for the mid-term election in 2014 was 71.51 percent of registered voters. The turnout for recent mid-term elections in 2010 and 2006 was 71.89 and 72.5 percent respectively.

During his closing statement, Kaardal said there is no dispute that the notices were published late and the Special Election could have been delayed when Amsden discovered on Oct. 15 that the Review & Comment Statement had not been published. Kaardal said the margin of victory was only 96 votes (1,634-1,538) and 1,266 registered voters did not show at the polls. He added that the court has no choice, but to invalidate the Special Election. Kaardal added that there needs to be a new Special Election where all laws are followed.

Kenney waived her right to a closing statement.

Drive-By Living Nativity will be held on Saturday night, Dec. 13

The annual Drive-By Living Nativity will be held at the Sibley County Fairgrounds on West Chandler Street in Arlington from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 13.

Many people from the community work behind the scenes to set up each scene of the Nativity and to prepare the actors for their scenes. People are encouraged to read the Bible verses aloud as they stop to observe each scene.

Viewers are asked to enter the fairgrounds off Chandler Street and exit on County Road 9. The greeters will give people a handout and ask them to tune their car radio to FM 104.9. This station is dedicated to music specific to the Living Nativity and will be heard only in the fairgrounds.

Admission is free with a cash or food donation. Donations will go to the Sibley County Food Shelf in Gaylord.

The event is sponsored by the Arlington Christian Community Task Force.

Arli-Dazzle festivities are this Saturday

Our View: One way to say thanks to the many volunteers/sponsors is to attend the various activities in town

The Arlington Area Chamber of Commerce has hit a grand slam with the Arli-Dazzle festivities which are held during the first Saturday in December each year. Most small towns would kill to have a holiday celebration of this variety and magnitude.

The Chamber plays a major role in this highly successful celebration, but the event could not be pulled off without the support and dedication of many volunteers, businesses and organizations as well.

Dozen and dozens of volunteers, businesses and organizations donate a lot of time and money each year to make this event one of the best holiday celebrations in Minnesota.

Other than saying thanks, there are also a few other ways for people to show their appreciation to these volunteers, businesses and organizations. One way is for people to either attend or participate in the variety of activities in the community that day. Another way is for residents to support these generous businesses and organizations throughout the year.

Hats off to these volunteers, businesses and organizations who made this celebration not only possible, but such a huge success each year. There would be no Arli-Dazzle festivities without their volunteerism and support.

Faced with hard times, the company offered a bonus of $100 to any employee who could come up with a plan to save money.

The bonus went to a young man in accounting who suggested limiting future bonuses to $10.

A little boy was eating in a restaurant for his birthday, when he started eating without a prayer. His parents turned to him and said, "We say a prayer before eating in our house!"

The little boy replied, "Yeah, that's in our house, but here the chef knows how to cook!"

"Take out a pen and paper," the teacher said. "Imagine you are a millionaire, and write an essay on how you're feeling."

All the children started writing their essay except for Willy. "Why aren't you writing your essay, Willy?" asked the teacher.

"I'm waiting for my secretary,"

he replied.

At a all-you-can-eat restaurant, Josh came back to the table, his plate full for the fifth time.

"Josh!" exclaimed his mother. "Doesn't it embarrass you that people have seen you go up to the buffet table five times?"

"Not a bit," said Josh, "I just tell them I'm filling up the plate for you!"

A couple was sitting in the lawyer's office working on their will. The lawyer told them that they should discuss end of life issues how they want to be treated.

The man turned to his wife and said, "Please promise me that if I am ever dependent only on machines and bottled fluids to keep me alive, you will take action and put an end to it right away."

So when they got home, his obedient wife went straight to the TV and unplugged it, then took his beer and poured it down the drain.

Outside the train station a kid selling newspapers bellowed, "Extra! Extra! Read all about it! Five men swindled!"

A man walks up and buys the paper. After reading it he comes back to the kid. "Hey kid, I don't see anything here about five people being swindled!"

"Extra! Extra!" yells the boy. "Six men swindled!"

John came back from a two-week vacation. He asked his boss for another week off to get married.

"What?" shouted the boss. "Why didn't you get married while on vacation?"

John turned to his boss. "Are you crazy? That would have ruined the whole vacation!"

Three guys, all hard of hearing, are walking down the street. The first guy says, "Boy, it's windy today."

The second guy says, ""No, it ain't, today's Thursday."

Letter To The Editor

Disappointed over decision on open consumption

To The Editor,

A number of weeks ago your paper reported the City Council had decided to use a section of the city charter to declare "non-enforcement" of "open consumption" on Main Street during the Arli-Dazzle Parade. When I read this, I was chagrined that this decision was made.

I had a conversation with a member of the City Council about this decision and its rationale. I fully appreciated that enforcement on a very crowded Main Street and during the parade is practically an impossible task for a police department. I understand the desire that police not be criticized for non-enforcement so the action seemed like a good option to use. I also understand a similar action has been taken in the past for car shows and other events on Main Street.

But I am chagrined because as a community Arli-Dazzle is an attempt to provide a "family event" day of activities. Having open consumption on Main Street during the parade is not the image our community should be projecting.

I am not against responsible consumption of alcoholic beverages (although I understand that some pastors and other townspeople likely are). What concerns me is that the work of the Partnership for Prevention/Teens Are for Real seeking to promote our community as one which does not condone or encourage underage drinking is undermined by this action by the City Council. The wrong message is sent.

I personally would be comfortable with a designated area "beer garden" place with barriers allowing "of age" people to partake even on Main Street during the parade. What I cannot be comfortable with is the likelihood (or maybe the certainty) of folks walking up and down the street drinking openly in the presence of children and youth which makes drinking on a public street seem like acceptable behavior.

If as a community there is concern for underage drinking and the illegal use of drugs (especially marijuana and meth), then this action sends the wrong message.

This letter and its position are my own. Neither the coalition on which I serve nor the congregation I serve have reviewed or have control over what I have written.

Again, I understand the rationale for the decision the City Council made. But this action sends the wrong message for children and youth of our communities and does not promote the "community image" I think our community desires.

Guest Column

What lies ahead

By Lee H. Hamilton

Given all the words and images devoted to the midterm elections over the past few weeks, you'd think the results had told us something vital about the future of the country. In reality, they were just a curtain-raiser. It's the next few weeks and months that really matter.

The big question, as the old Congress reconvenes and prepares to make way for next year's version, is whether the two parties will work more closely together to move the country forward or instead lapse back into confrontation and deadlock. I suspect the answer will be a mix: modest progress on a few issues, but no major reforms.

Overall, the deep frustration Americans feel toward Washington will likely continue. Especially since, despite the urgent problems confronting us, the House leadership has announced an astoundingly relaxed 2015 agenda that includes not a single five-day work week, 18 weeks with no votes scheduled, and just one full month in session: January.

Still, there is hope for at least a modicum of progress. The President wants to enhance his legacy. More politicians these days seem to prefer governing to posturing. The Republican Party may have won big in the elections, but it still cannot govern alone: it will need Democratic votes in the Senate and the cooperation of the President. And both parties want to demonstrate that they recognize they're responsible for governing.

Congress faces plenty of issues that need addressing, which means that skillful legislators who want to show progress have an extensive menu from which to choose. Trade, health care, terrorism, responsible budgeting, rules on greenhouse gas emissions... All of these are amenable to incremental progress.

Which is not to say that progress is inevitable. President Obama acted to halt deportations of millions of illegal immigrants, though he did so without Congress. His action could unleash unpredictable consequences. Meanwhile, the new Republican Senate is almost certain to give the President's nominees a hard time; while GOP senators are unlikely to want to appear too tough on Loretta Lynch, the nominee for attorney general, the gloves will almost certainly come off for nominees who must negotiate hearings after her.

Yet indications of what next year may be like have already begun to emerge. Bills with a relatively narrow focus that enjoy bipartisan support — boosting agricultural development aid overseas, funding research into traumatic brain injuries, giving parents with disabled children a tax break on savings for long-term expenses — either have passed the "lame-duck" Congress or stand a good chance of doing so.

In the end, 2015 will see a mix of small steps forward and backward. There's little chance of a minimum wage increase and it's unlikely the budget will be passed in an orderly and traditional manner. Similarly, significant and difficult issues like major entitlement and tax reform will prove hard to budge, and comprehensive immigration reform is a near impossibility. There will be no knockdown punch on Obamacare, but we'll see plenty of efforts to chip away at it.

On the other hand, Congress can probably manage to avoid a government shutdown, and it faces decent prospects of expanding and protecting our energy boom, promoting fast-track trade authority, and funding key infrastructure needs. Defense spending will not be further reduced.

The parties on Capitol Hill are highly suspicious of one another. Incoming Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell has said the right things about wanting more openness, a more traditional process, and more ability on the minority's part to offer amendments, but he'll be under great pressure from members of his caucus to make life hard for Democrats. Similarly, Democrats in the Senate, still fuming over what they view as obstructionism from the Republicans over the last several years, will face pressure to make life as hard as possible for the new majority.

Yet here's the basic truth: divided government does not have to be dysfunctional. It can be made to work, and if incremental progress on small issues is the way to get started, then let's hope Congress and the President pursue that course.

The wedding of two popular and well known Arlington township young people was solemnized at St. Paul's Lutheran Church yesterday afternoon, uniting the hearts of Miss Lizzie Emma Witte and Mr. Theodore A. Sickmann. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witte and the groom the son of Mrs. August Sickmann. Rev. R. Heidmann tied the knot in the presence of a host of admiring relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The old Sullivan farm, north of town was sold this week by Aug Huckenpoeler for $200 an acre, Martin Joel being the purchaser. The farm consists of 153 acres and brought the sum of $30,600.

Art Zacharias is spending the week at his parental home at Gaylord where he is recovering from a prolonged siege of hiccoughs. The hiccoughs took a fancy to Art and stayed with him for several days, and it was only after the best medical attention and a few days rest that they (Art and the hiccoughs) parted company.

The coal situation is growing worse. Local dealers are all out of hard coal and prospects of receiving shipments are not very promising altho numerous orders have been placed for the same. Several varieties of soft coal are still obtainable here but several large consumers have only a few days supply on hand and unless a few cars are received within the week they will be up against a shortage. One car of soft coal consigned to one of our retailers has already been held up by the railroad company and has been standing in the yards here for a week or more.

Later-The coal situation became serious Tuesday and the railroad company released the car.

State forest Christmas tree to grace governor's residence this season

This year's Christmas tree for the governor's official residence in St. Paul is a 50-foot balsam fir from the Nemadji State Forest, according to the Department of Natural Resources.
Today, DNR staff and the Conservation Corps Minnesota cut down the tree -115 miles northeast of the Twin Cities; it will be erected at the governor's residence on Monday.
"Finding a perfect specimen growing in the wild is not an easy task," said Tim Brault, DNR forestry technician who helps locate the governor's Christmas tree. "A candidate tree should have symmetrical branches, no noticeable gaps in the branches and a gradual taper."
Extreme care must be taken as the tree is loaded onto a trailer, bound in rope and covered with a tarp for its trip to St. Paul.

The tree will be removed from the front lawn of the governor's residence when the holiday season ends. It will then be chipped and recycled.
The Christmas tree hunt begins in early fall when DNR foresters scout for potential candidates in Minnesota's 58 state forests.
Annually, 500,000 Christmas trees are harvested in Minnesota. For every Christmas tree harvested, one to three seedlings are planted in its place, making it a renewable product.
People can cut their own Christmas trees from a Minnesota state forest, as long as they obtain a special products permit. Contact a DNR forestry office for more details.

Wild turkey stamp contest entries are being accepted

Artists can submit entries for the 2016 Minnesota Wild Turkey Stamp contest from Monday, Dec. 8, through 4 p.m., Monday, Dec. 29, according to the Department of Natural Resources.
The turkey stamp is sold along with hunting and fishing licenses or as a collectable. In the contest, the eastern wild turkey must be the primary focus of the design. Judging will take place on Thursday, Jan. 8, at DNR headquarters, 500 Lafayette Road, in St. Paul.
Revenue from stamp sales is dedicated to wild turkey habitat management. Extirpated from Minnesota around 1900, wild turkeys now thrive throughout all but the northern forested portions of the state.

The contest offers no prizes and is open to Minnesota residents only. Artists are not allowed to use any photographic product as part of their finished entries. Winning artists usually issue limited edition prints of the artwork and retain proceeds.
Artists who want to submit entries should closely read contest criteria and guidelines for submitting work, available from the DNR Information Center, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155, and online.

First Deer

Tucker Hendrycks, a fifth grader at the Sibley East Elementary School in Arlington, shot his first deer during the muzzle loader opener south of Gaylord on Saturday, Nov. 29. He is the son of Aaron and Melissa Hendrycks, Arlington.

Minnesota snowmobile season, weekly trail reports begin

Snowmobilers can legally ride any of the more than 22,000 miles of Minnesota's state and grant-in-aid snowmobile trails, from Dec. 1 through the end of March, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

"Although many trails do not yet have adequate snow cover for grooming, this is a good time to register your snowmobile, inspect your equipment, download maps and do your trip planning," said Tom Landwehr, DNR commissioner. "Minnesota offers a variety of scenery and terrain to explore in state parks, in state forests, on state trails and on private land that citizens kindly allow snowmobilers to use throughout the winter months."

The economic impact of snowmobiling in Minnesota is estimated to be approximately $1 billion each year, according to Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association (MnUSA). Minnesota snowmobile registrations totaled 216,144 last season.

"Outdoor recreation, including winter activities, is important to Minnesota tourism," said John Edman, director of Explore Minnesota. "Snowmobiling Minnesota's excellent trails, lakes and forests is a great way to take in beautiful winter scenery that can be found only in Minnesota."

As riders head out on the trails, the DNR urges them to ride safely and responsibly.

"Know the rules and use common sense," said DNR Conservation Officer Adam Block. "Obey signs, drive sober and be especially careful around wetlands, streams and lakes, because the ice may not be thick enough to ride on, especially this early in the season."

Club volunteers maintain more than 21,000 of the Minnesota's 22,000-plus trail miles. Trail clubs welcome new members to help keep trails open and join in other club activities.

"Snowmobile clubs and trail crews are out working on the trails now, and have been for some time," said Terry Hutchinson, president of MnUSA, "but it could be awhile before trails in some parts of the state will be ready to ride."

Snowmobile trail maintenance costs are partially funded through snowmobile registrations, trail pass sales, and gas tax attributed to snowmobile use. Donations, fundraisers, and volunteer work by trail clubs make up the remainder of the costs and efforts to operate these trails.

Snow depth and trail conditions are updated every Thursday after 2 p.m. throughout the winter months.

Printed maps are available at local DNR offices and also can be ordered by calling the DNR Information Center at 651-296-6157 or 888-646-6367 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday or sending an email message to info.dnr@state.mn.us. More information on snowmobile and winter travel opportunities in Minnesota can be found online. MnUSA's snowmobile trail reports are available online as well.

Spring wild turkey hunters can apply for permits starting Dec. 1

People can apply for early season spring wild turkey hunting permits now through Friday, Jan. 9, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

The spring season, which runs from April 15 to May 28, is divided into eight time periods. Only people age 18 and older who want to hunt during the first three time periods (A-C) need to apply for a spring turkey permit. Permits for the remaining time periods (D-H) can be purchased over-the-counter.

Permits for the last five time periods and youth licenses for any time period are sold over-the-counter starting March 1. Surplus adult licenses from the first three time periods, if available, are sold starting around mid-March.

"There are a lot of options for hunters. You can apply for an early spring permit or buy one over-the-counter," said Steve Merchant, DNR wildlife population and regulations manager. "For the second year, we've let youth hunt during all of the time periods, which makes it easier to introduce a young person to turkey hunting."

In Minnesota, hunters can hunt wild turkeys in spring and fall, but spring turkey hunting is much more popular. The first spring hunting time period begins on Wednesday, April 15.

Turkeys rear their young after the spring hunting season, and nesting success can influence how many turkeys are present during the fall hunting season that runs from early October through early November.

For more information on turkey hunting, see the Wild Turkey hunting Web page.

“Festzug”

The Sibley East Senior High Band premiered Brad Bombardier's “Festzug” at its concert in Arlington on Monday night Nov. 24. The piece was composed specifically for the group. Last summer, Sibley East Band Director James Callahan, left, contacted his friend and sax professor, Brad Bombardier, from The University of Minnesota, Duluth, to see if he would work on a commissioned band piece. Bombardier agreed and created the piece “Festzug.” Festzug is the German translation of “Pageant.” He originally sought out to write a piece with the same structure as Vincent Persichetti's band piece called Pageant. He ended up scrapping the structure and creating his own, but kept the title to pay homage to Persichetti and represent the German heritage of the area. Bombardier highlighted the group's strengths with the piece. He also wrote a large part for timpani to feature the new set that we purchased last year. In addition to attending the premier of the work at the concert on Nov. 24, Bombardier came down to work with the group at the end of September. It was a unique experience for the students to be able to study a piece with the actual composer.

Microloan Program

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) developed the Microloan (ML) program to better serve the unique financial operating needs of beginning, niche and small family farm operations.

USDA is raising the borrowing limit for the microloan program from $35,000 to $50,000, effective Nov. 7, 2014. The loan features a streamlined application process built to fit the needs of new and smaller producers. This loan program will also be useful to specialty crop producers and operators of community supported agriculture (CSA).

Eligible applicants can apply for a maximum amount of $50,000 to pay for initial start-up expenses such as hoop houses to extend the growing season, essential tools, irrigation and annual expenses such as seed, fertilizer, utilities, land rents, marketing, and distribution expenses. As financing needs increase, applicants can apply for a regular operating loan up to the maximum amount of $300,000 or obtain financing from a commercial lender under FSA's Guaranteed Loan Program.

Individuals who are interested in applying for a microloan or would like to discuss other farm loan programs available should contact their local FSA office to set up an appointment with a loan official.

Hunters register 111,000 deer through 3rd weekend

Minnesota hunters registered 111,000 deer through the third and last weekend of firearms deer season, down 31,000 from the same period in 2013, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

So far this year during special hunts and the archery, early antlerless and firearms seasons, hunters have harvested 127,000 deer, down from the 2013 to-date harvest total of 160,000.

This year's lower harvest is by design because regulations were implemented to place more deer – particularly does – off limits to increase Minnesota's deer population.

The DNR's ongoing deer management work also includes upcoming revisions to the deer population goals for large portions of northeastern, north-central and east-central Minnesota. This is part of a multi-year goal-setting process for the entire state. People interested in helping set these deer population goals can get more information on the process and opportunities for involvement at www.mndnr.gov/deer.

Additional deer will be harvested during the late southeastern season, which runs through Sunday, Nov. 30, and the muzzleloader season, which begins Saturday, Nov. 29, and continues through Sunday, Dec. 14. The archery season also runs through Wednesday, Dec. 31.

Bethlehem Express to be held at St. Paul's

As part of the Arli-Dazzle festivities on Saturday, Dec. 6, St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 101 West Chandler Street will once again be transformed into a train depot. The Bethlehem Express will be set to take passengers on an imaginary journey to Bethlehem to experience the true meaning of Christmas. Several "trains" are scheduled throughout the afternoon for this family-friendly event. Upon arrival, visitors will receive a free ticket at the Depot to begin their journey. A conductor will then guide groups of "passengers" from stop to stop inside the church where riders will listen to the choir sing Christmas carols, participate in making a small craft, and enjoy a snack and refreshments before arriving at the final destination of Bethlehem. Here riders will view a short DVD on the birth of Jesus, the real meaning of Christmas. Trains will begin to leave the depot at noon and depart every 30 minutes. The last train will depart at 3:30 pm to allow ample time before the start of the Arli-Dazzle Parade. Each train ride lasts about one hour. Visitors may also consider arriving by way of the Arli-Dazzle Horse Drawn Sleigh Rides. No reservations are needed and the church is wheelchair accessible. For more information on this free event visit St. Paul's website at www.stpaularlington.com.

If You're Leaving Your Employer, Do You Know Your 401(k) Options?

At Edward Jones, we can explain options for your 401(k), including leaving the money in your former employer's plan, moving it to your new employer's plan, rolling it over to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or cashing out the account subject to tax consequences. We can help you review your options so that you can select the one that's best for you. If you decide to roll it over to an Edward Jones IRA, we can help.
