Offer made to 2nd police chief candidate

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The process to hire a new police chief has been a difficult task for the Arlington City Council.

Some candidates early in the process pulled their applications or forgot to show for an interview.

The City Council, during a special meeting on Monday night, April 14, thought the issue had been solved when it extended an employment offer to Geoffrey Wyatt to fill the open police chief position.

Wyatt, however, declined the offer and pulled his application late last week.

The City Council, during its regular meeting on Monday night, April 21, unanimously approved a motion to authorize a conditional offer to Cory Danner to fill the open police chief position. His starting hourly wage would be $26.

Danner has been employed by the City of Estherville Police Department in Iowa for the past 14 years.

Danner is a 1996 graduate of the Estherville Public Schools. In 1998, he graduated from the Iowa Lakes Community College where he received an Associate of Science Degree in Criminal Justice/Law Enforcement. He is also a graduate of the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy.

Danner is married and has four children.

Maintenance Supervisor

The City Council, at its regular meeting on Monday night, April 21, also approved a motion to authorize a conditional offer to Tony Voight to fill the open maintenance supervisor position. His starting hourly wage would be $20.42.

Voight, who is a member of the Arlington Fire Department, is currently employed as a highway maintenance worker for the Scott County Highway Department.

Sibley East School Board approves an aggressive operational capital budget

By Karin Ramige Cornwell Manager

The Sibley East School Board passed an “aggressive” operational capital budget of over $750,000 at the regular board meeting on Monday night, April 21.

The operational capital budget is divided into three areas: operating capital projects, deferred maintenance projects and the facility lease levy.

The operating capital projects are $417,000 of the budget. Three fixed items in this area are the third and last payment on the iPad lease for $200,416, copy machine lease and maintenance of $25,000 (year three of five-year contract) and $40,546 for the second year lease payment on three buses.

Other items under the operating capital projects include wrestling mats for $5,000, elementary reading textbooks for $40,000, technology classroom equipment and $100,000 towards a new lighting and sound system at the football field and track.

The deferred maintenance projects budget totals $250,109. These funds can only be used to make improvements, not for anything new.

Projects on this list include: $25,000 for a heating contract with Honeywell, $90,000 for roof replacement at the elementary building in Gaylord, $12,000 for the resurfacing of the gym floors, $45,000 to resurface the track, $15,000 for cited boiler repairs, $15,000 for floor resurfacing, $8,109 for elevator repairs and $40,000 towards the football/track lights.

Another $88,206 is budgeted for the facility lease levy. This money is already levied and comes in and goes out again.

Under the lease levy payments are: $28,140 for the satellite buildings in Arlington, $10,342 for the Sibley Medical Center-Health Occupations class space, $48,224 for the River Bend Alternative Program lease and $1,500 for the Gaylord baseball field and tennis courts.

Dollars for the operational capital budget come from different levies and reserved funds.

Superintendent Jim Amsden said this is “one of the most aggressive capital budgets that I think we have seen in quite a while in terms of addressing projects, but you have the fund balances that are built up, that have been built up over time by not addressing some of the major issues. You cannot spend the dollars on other issues. It’s a matter of what your comfort level is with the dollars that remain in reserve.”

He added that the amounts left in the reserve budgets are adequate going forward and the district can work to build them back up again for future projects.

Board Chairperson Brian Brandt added that projects are not going to get any cheaper.

The estimated reserve fund balances at the end of the 2014-15 school year are $105,000.

Football Field & Track

The lighting at the football field and track has been a concern for many years. Currently the district has to turn on the lights at the baseball field and tennis courts to help illuminate the football field for evening games.

It has been a continued safety concern for the district and game officials for many years.

Blade Yocum co-stars in Christian film ‘The Current’

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Arlington resident Blade Yocum, a junior at the Minnesota New Country School in Henderson, is a co-star in a Christian film entitled The Current. He portrays Peter in the film.

In the film, Jake, 13, is uprooted from his life in Chicago when his parents decide that city life is getting too violent. They buy a campground in rural Minnesota to raise their children in a better environment. At the campground, a rebellious young Jake meets Peter — the boy across the river. The two form a fast friendship that God uses to transform Jake’s life in ways that Jake never could have imagined.

The film will be shown at the Creekside Community Church in Arlington at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 25. The event is free.

Behind The Scenes

Blade, who is the son of Michael and Bobbie Yocum, has been acting for seven years. The 15-year-old has over 50 pieces of film work to his credit.

He had his first audition for the film in early 2012 and his second audition during March 2012.

“After a couple of weeks, they asked him to play the part of Peter,” said Bobbi.

Blade added, “That is the co-star of the film. This is probably the biggest role and longest film I have been in.”

The 80-minute film, which consists of all volunteer cast and crew members, was primarily filmed at a Boy Scout camp near Anoka.

“It is really a great film,” said Blade. “It brings faith, hope and showing people how to trust in the Lord even when you feel all hope is lost.”

The film, which is suitable for all ages, was released at theatres last September. It is now available on DVD and at www.iiifilms.com. DVDs will also be available for sale during the event at the Creekside Community Church. Blade will be present to autograph the DVDs.

Since that time, the film has received five stars from The Dove Foundation. In addition, it is an official selection for the International Christian Film Festival in Orlando, Fla., this weekend.

Future

Bobbie said Blade has gotten his acting talent from his father.

“He’s actually been in a few films with me and some plays,” Blade said.

Blade’s goal is to further his acting career and go to Hollywood in the future.

His second option is to attend college to be a psychiatrist and receive his PhD.

County residents upset over agency inaction in ditch improvement issue

By Dave Pedersen
Correspondent

Sibley County Commissioners were strongly urged to be more assertive with state and federal agencies in regard to concerns about the Trunk Highway 25/County Ditch 1A improvement issue.

Land owners impacted by flooding upstream of Erin Lake presented their discontent at the county board meeting on Tuesday, April 22.

In return, county officials said they were in support of the land owners, expressing their own frustration with agency inaction and the tossing of obstacles in front of them as they work to make progress.

Flood Issues

More than a year ago, the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) identified the need to replace the existing metal arch pipe in a culvert due to potential pipe failure. In conjunction, county staff worked with MnDOT to develop a plan to take care of watershed flooding issues.

A cooperative agreement was written, approved and signed by the county board and MnDOT. However, the concept for adding pipe capacity and flood control stop logs ran into a roadblock with U.S. Fish & Wildlife and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers permit review. Resolution of this is still pending.

In October, MnDOT had to close the road due to safety concerns and replace the single pipe under an emergency contract.

In November, the new pipe was installed along with a drop log structure. MnDOT said it needs to have a second agreement that addresses the maintenance of the structure and placement or removal of stop logs by the county.

This control is what Fish & Wildlife and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has not been willing to give to Sibley County.

Meeting In Green Isle

Jeff Majeski, Sibley County Environmental Services Director, said he has set up a meeting with the DNR and as many of the parties involved as possible at the Green Isle City Office at 9 a.m. Friday, April 25. Land owners on CD 29 and 39A are also invited to attend.

At Tuesday's board meeting, Green Isle area resident Neil Dacey represented a group of land owners who are upset after spending money on improvements they claim to be worse off. He said the new drop log structure put in place by the DNR is restricting the flow of water.

"It just isn't working out," said Dacey about the structure. "Plus, the thing was not put in right, it is too high. Last year we spent $40 to $50,000 to clean out that channel to the lake. Now you got this thing in there blocking the water, catching all the garbage. If the water could flow free the channel would stay open."

Dacey said there are a lot of land owners from around the area who can't afford to be drowned out. He asked why non-elected officials are in control when the county is the ditch drainage authority.

"We are asking you to try harder to do something," said Dacey. "We have been up here forever. We hired a lawyer and an engineer and we keep going backwards."

Short power outages are now rescheduled for Wednesday

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Xcel Energy has rescheduled maintenance work on the transmission lines that serve the City of Arlington's electrical substation for Wednesday, April 30. As part of the required work, electrical service interruptions to local residences and businesses will occur, according to Arlington City Administrator Liza Donabauer.

Between the hours of 6 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., two 10-minute outages will occur as line crews transfer electrical service from one substation to another, according to Donabauer. This will allow Xcel Energy crews to conduct their maintenance work throughout the day.

In case of inclement weather, the maintenance work will be rescheduled for Thursday, May 1, according to Donabauer.

The upgrade to the system will cost approximately $140,000 to $150,000.

The new system will have a 30-year warranty which includes the replacement of all bulbs every 5,000 hours of use.

The new system will use more energy efficient lights, which could result in a cost savings and could be moved to a different location should the district ever relocate the playing fields.

There is a possibility of a five-year lease-to-purchase program.

Another big item to be addressed under the budget is the resurfacing of the track.

Activities director Randy Walsh said that it is a must. There are chunks coming off the track. If it is not addressed this year, a total resurface would need to be done next year which could cost well over $100,000.

School Board member Missy Weber added that other teams talk about the condition of the track and it is embarrassing for the team members.

"They should be proud of their facilities," Weber said.

Weber further commented that she feels very strongly that all these projects should be done. She added that the board needs to show the community that they are taking action.

The operational capital budget was approved unanimously by the six members of the board.

School Board approves aggressive operational capital budget

Our View: Aggressive move sends a positive and exciting message

Whether it is justified or not, the belief among many school district residents is that maintenance and repairs have not been a high priority at the Sibley East Public Schools over the years. A move by the School Board, during its regular monthly meeting on Monday night, April 21, may change the minds of some people. The School Board, by an unanimous vote, approved an aggressive operational capital budget of over $750,000.

The timing for these projects is perfect since these endeavors cannot wait until another bond referendum is proposed and placed on the ballot.

Included under the operational capital projects and deferred maintenance projects are new lighting and sound system at the football field and track in Arlington, track resurfacing in Arlington, roof replacement at the elementary school building in Gaylord, resurfacing of gym floors, elementary reading textbooks, wrestling mats, technology classroom equipment, floor resurfacing, boiler repairs and elevator repairs.

Sibley East, with the influx of additional money and solid reserves, was finally in position to tackle a variety of improvement projects that have been pushed off for years. The School Board, with its move on Monday night, has finally delivered. It has also sent a strong message that maintenance and repairs really matter at the Sibley East Public Schools.

A pastor was saying farewell to his congregation at the Church doors for the last time. He shook the hand of an elderly lady as she walked out.

She said "Your successor won't be as good as you."

"Nonsense," said the pastor, in a flattered tone.

"No, really," said the old lady, "I've been here under five different ministers, and each new one has been worse than the last."

Things To Ponder

- Escalators don't break down... they just turn into stairs
- "I'm sorry" and "I apologize" mean the same thing... except when you're at a funeral.
- I intend to live forever... or die trying.

4. We never knew he was a drunk... until he showed up to work sober.

5. A clear conscience is usually the sign of a bad memory.

6. A blind man walks into a bar... and a table, and a chair.

7. At what age is it appropriate to tell my dog that he's adopted?

8. Want to hear a pizza joke.... nah, it's too cheesy. What about a construction joke? Oh never mind, I'm still working on that one. Did you hear the one about the rope? Skip it. Have you heard the one about the guy in the wheelchair? Never mind, it's too lame.

9. I used to be in a band, we were called "lost dog." You probably saw our posters.

10. I childproofed the house... but they still get in!

Sarah, a sales associate at Walmart, notices a man in the card section. When she walks by an hour later and sees him still there she walks over to see if she can help.

"Can I help you?" she asks.

"Well I don't know" the man responds "I'm having a problem, I can't find anything that my wife would believe!"

Student: I don't think I deserved a zero on this test."

Teacher: "I agree, but that's the lowest mark I could give you."

Government as innovator? You bet!

By Lee H. Hamilton

Five years ago, the federal government spent $169 billion to fund basic research and development. This fiscal year, it's down to $134 billion.

People who believe in public belt-tightening applaud drops like that. I understand why: there are many reasons to reduce government spending. But in this case they're wrong. We need to boost the government's investment in R&D, not slash it.

Let's begin with the federal government's record, which is nothing short of impressive. The bar codes that revolutionized inventory control and tracking were developed with a grant from the National Science Foundation. Google's founders depended on government grants for their early research into search algorithms. Computer touch-screens, computer-aided design, GPS navigation, voice-activated "virtual assistants," the internet — all based on government research or funds. So were key advancements in agriculture (including the "easy-care cotton" you'll find in your permanent-press slacks), the horizontal drilling techniques that have turned the U.S. into a natural-gas powerhouse, and many life-saving pharmaceuticals.

The plain truth is that much of the research that catalyzes and accelerates technological advance is too risky, too slow to pay off, or too expensive for the private sector to undertake. "Today, the scope, duration and cost of breakthrough research is either beyond the private sector's corporate and philanthropic resources or outside its profit model," wrote Teresa Tritch in The New York Times last year.

This is not welcome news for market absolutists, but clearly there is a government role to play in underpinning economic dynamism. Mariana Mazzucato, a British economist who last year published a bracing book on the subject, "The Entrepreneurial State," argues that federal government programs such as Small Business Innovation Research and the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency have provided far more funding for early-stage technology companies than private venture capital has done.

Mazzucato writes, "Not only has government funded the riskiest research, whether applied or basic, but it has indeed often been the source of the most radical, path-breaking types of innovation. To this extent it has actively created markets, not just fixed them."

There is no question that there will be waste in research and development, just as private corporations sometimes veer onto the wrong track. All you need do is think back to 2012 and the scandal surrounding Solyndra, the Silicon Valley-based solar panel manufacturer that collapsed, leaving taxpayers on the hook for $535 million in federal loan guarantees.

Opponents of public spending often seize on cases like this to make their point — conveniently forgetting that Apple, too, benefited not just from the government research that created many of the technologies it uses, but from early support from the Small Business Investment Company program.

The point is not that government investment in research and development is better or worse than private-sector investment, but that collaboration between government and industry puts us in a stronger position competitively than either sector acting alone. Both are needed to solve big problems.

Which is why the cuts we're seeing in federal R&D spending are so alarming. We're already down to a level of funding last seen over a decade ago, and a study last year by the American Association for the Advancement of Science sees some $53 billion in federal R&D investment at risk if the sequester remains in place for another three years. It is impossible to know how many new products and even new industries won't get developed as a result, but it's certainly safe to say that the U.S. economy — and we as Americans — will bear the cost of these unspent dollars well into the future.

We live in an era of pervasive anti-government sentiment. There is no question, as I have argued many times before, that both Congress and the executive branch need to improve their game and learn how to become more effective and less wasteful of both time and money. But the importance of federal spending on research and development is undeniable. At a time when we as a nation face mounting economic challenges and a raft of eager business competitors, cutting investment in R&D, rather than expanding it, is foolhardy.

Lee Hamilton is Director of the Center on Congress at Indiana University. He was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives for 34 years.

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Victoria Henry, a senior at the Sibley East Senior High School in Arlington, was recently chosen by her classmates as the Outstanding Senior of the Quarter.

Seniors at Sibley East vote for the outstanding member of the senior class each quarter. The names of those students are then submitted to the Gaylord Rotary Club to consider for a scholarship sponsored by the club. The scholarship will be presented to the outstanding senior of the year during the annual awards ceremony this spring.

Henry is currently enrolled in Calculus, Economics, Creative Foods, Ceramics, English, Study Hall and Co-op. As part of the Co-op Program, Henry works at the First National Bank of Minnesota in Gaylord.

Henry is a member and president of the National Honor Society. She recently coordinated a tie-blanket project through that school group.

Henry is a member of the “A” Honor Roll and is a past Student of the Month.

An Arlington farmer, Henry Roehler, 53, was hospitalized late Monday following an accident in which the tractor and manure spreader he was driving was rammed from behind by an auto driven by Ernest H. Plie-seis, 52, of New Auburn. Roehler's condition was listed as very serious on Wednesday.

Fast action by the Arlington Fire Department Saturday evening minimized damage at a fire at the Carl Bandelin farm, four miles west of Arlington. The blaze began when a gas barrel accidentally ignited after one of Bandelin's sons, Bernie struck a match too close to the barrel. The fire immediately spread to a nearby shed and grainery. When the Arlington firemen arrived on the scene both buildings were in flames. They quickly doused the fire, saving the building and grain.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Buckentine was baptized Sunday at the El-rosa Catholic Church. She was given the name Sally Lynn.

Arlington named Tree City USA

Arlington was recently named a Tree City USA by the Arbor Day Foundation in honor of its commitment to effective urban forest management.

Arlington achieved Tree City USA recognition by meeting the program's four requirements: a tree board or department, a tree care ordinance, an annual community forestry budget of at least $2 per capita, and an Arbor Day observance and proclamation.

The Tree City USA program is sponsored by the Arbor Day Foundation in partnership with the U.S. Forest Service and the National Association of State Foresters.

"Everyone benefits when elected officials, volunteers and committed citizens in communities like Arlington make smart investments in urban forests," said John Rosenow, founder and chief executive of the Arbor Day Foundation. "Trees bring shade to our homes and beauty to our neighborhoods, along with numerous economics, social and environmental benefits."

Clean air, improved storm water management, energy savings and increased property values and commercial activity are among the benefits enjoyed by Tree City USA communities.

More information on the program is available at [arbo rday.org/TreeCityUSA](http://arbo rday.org/TreeCityUSA).

RSFiber Project

Lowell Nagel, SEDCO board member, and Harold Jackson, Gaylord resident, were invited to Windom to re-visit their fiber operation, Windomnet. Lowell has been following it since 2007 and wanted to clarify some false reports. Every township in Sibley County has this information for easy decision making. If you want to know the good and bad about the Monticello fiber just call the Windom phone number for accurate information.

This will be published in local papers, Winthrop, Gaylord, Arlington and Henderson. I was taught the basics of life by many parents. I was taught the basics of business by a gentleman with four years of education. The most important thing he told me was to never tell lies or falsehoods about your competition, it will come back to haunt you.

Excerpt: Windom Fiber Update, written by Steve Downer of the Minnesota Municipal Utilities Association, March 2014.

WindomNet was criticized as a failed project by a private telephone company, but in fact Windom made money last year and is poised to be a great success.

Demand was so high that it led to increased costs early on. The original plan was for 1,400 service drops. WindomNet put in 2,200. When you're successful, you have to buy a lot more capital equipment. Demand has far outstripped initial projections.

WindomNet has provided numerous benefits to residents, schools, health care, business and industry in the city and surrounding region. And the enterprise finished last year with $22,000 more in revenues than expenses.

The latest economic development success involves the purchase, by Fast, of three lots in a new city industrial park. The manufacturer of agricultural applicators and sprayers is building a 144,000 square foot production facility. The company, which will employ 90 people, needed a sizeable broadband connection.

Another notable economic development story involves Fortune Trucking. The company, located 1.5 miles outside of Windom, installed a new $30,000 phone system in 2010. Despite earlier assurances, a large multi-state phone provider then said it couldn't deliver the services needed.

If Fortune didn't get the telecom services it needed it would move to Roswell. Six weeks later the City of Windom had fiber optic cable run.

WindomNet maintains a great relationship with TORO. When TORO needs an upgraded circuit, they make one phone call and the upgraded service is provided, even the same day.

WindomNet has also been a boon to the Windom Area Hospital. With the new municipal service, reading X-rays, heart monitors, and MRIs is often done remotely, due to reliable, high-speed internet connections. Doctors, in some cases, video-conference with patients. The facility has 315 phone numbers and those costs were reduced with WindomNet service, which also eliminated the need for long-distance phone lines.

WindomNet has built out the fiber system to 11 other communities in its area. Service in those communities is being provided by Southwest Minnesota Broadband Services (SMBS), headquartered in Lakefield. Like WindomNet, SMBS offers a superior product and customer service, and also provides local programming.

Initial sign up for fiber service in the 11 communities has been above 60 percent.
