New city administrator is officially hired

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Arlington City Council, during a special meeting on Wednesday night, April 24, unanimously approved a motion to approve a contract and hire Liza Donabauer as the new city administrator for the City of Arlington.

City Council members James Jaszewski, Jennifer Nuesse, Curt Reetz, Jason Ruehling and Galen Wills all voted in favor of the motion.

The City Council, during a special meeting on Saturday afternoon, April 27, had unanimously approved a motion to offer the position to Donabauer who later accepted.

Donabauer, who will begin her new duties on Tuesday,

June 4, will receive a starting salary of $65,000 plus benefits, according to city officials.

Donabauer graduated from the University of Wisconsin at Stout in Menomonie, Wis., where she earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration.

She was the office manager/executive assistant to the president at Hunerberg Construction, LLC in Plymouth from 1997 to 2000. Donabauer was the office administrator/systems and services controller at Klein Underground, LLC in Watertown from 2000 to 2005. She was also the recording secretary for the City of Minnetrista, Medina and Long Lake from 2004 to 2005. Donabauer was the executive assistant at Granite Financial, Inc. in St. Cloud from 2005 to 2007. She was also the administrative clerk to the county coordinator for Wright County in Buffalo from January 2007 to July 2011. In addition, she has been the city clerk for the City of Clearwater in Kansas from July 2011 to the present time.

In addition to Donabauer, the other finalists were James Rosenthal, Dana Hedberg, Scott Weske and Kerry Venier.

History

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Tuesday night, Jan. 22, unanimously approved a proposal from Brimeyer Fursman, LLC, Maplewood, to conduct an executive search for a new administrator for the City of Arlington.

The City Council made the move after it had earlier and unanimously accepted the resignation of City Administrator Matt Jaunich effective Friday, Feb. 8. Jaunich was hired as the first ever Sibley County administrator.

The cost for the executive search will be $18,875.

The City Council, incidentally, used Brimeyer Fursman, LLC, to conduct its search for a new city administrator during 2007. Jaunich was hired as a result of that search.

Highway 5 Gaylord to Arlington construction will begin in mid May

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Weather permitting, motorists are advised that road construction on the Highway 5 Project from Gaylord to Arlington may begin as early as Monday, May 13, according to the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT).

Mn/DOT officials said work will begin on a bridge just east of Gaylord which will result in a two-week detour to Highway 19 and County Road 13.

Work will also begin in Arlington with the reconstruction of sidewalk ramps throughout town on Highway 5, according to Mn/DOT officials. The sidewalk improvements will be made on alternating ramps so that pedestrians are not inconvenienced.

When the bridge work and pedestrian ramps are complete, the contractor will begin a resurfacing operation from First Street in Gaylord to Sheila Drive in Arlington, according to Mn/DOT officials. Traffic will be restricted to one lane and controlled with flagging operations and a pilot car. Motorists are advised to drive with caution through the work zone and watch for workers, equipment and traffic control devices.

Central Specialties, Inc., Alexandria, is the contractor on the $2,593,892 project. The project should be complete in early July. Motorists can expect a smoother ride on Highway 5 and pedestrians in Arlington will have ADA compliant sidewalks.

A second project on Highway 5 from Arlington to Green Isle is scheduled to begin in July.

Sibley County works at recovering cost of detox

By Dave Pedersen Correspondent

Despite reporting a low collection rate for the cost of the detox program, Sibley County Public Health and Human Services Director Vicki Stock said it is getting better at the April 23 meeting of the board of commissioners.

The 2012 detox report showed Sibley County was billed $19,206 for services provided by the Brown County Detox Center. After $3,332.80 was collected and another $3,903.20 was written off, the balance of costs owed to the county was $16,292.

"From $2001 we have a little over $101,000 still owed to us from people who were in detox," said Stock. "We typically don't write off bills, but there are situations when we will have to. For instance, if we don't have any contact information from a person for three years, we may look at it as a write-off."

The county also can not charge back to the clients who are on federal poverty guidelines or if they are on public assistance. Sibley County does continue to attempt cost collection and does send cases to the revenue recapture program and tries to get costs back.

"We send letters saying what we are owed and a fair number pay us right away," said Stock. "Others wait, thinking it will go away. It just won't."

Stock said the county has "an unusual formula" with the Brown County Detox Center. Sibley County is charged for services after any third party liabilities are paid, such as insurance companies.

In 2012, the amount billed to Sibley County was $19,206, including a 12 percent charge to the county for helping with billing and collection.

"We found it is much easier for the detox center to do the billing because they have a person right there who can take insurance information," explained Stock. "Previously, they billed us the full amount and we had to try to get a hold of the people to get that information. Often times they would not provide it or we could not find them. This is a fairly new concept that seems to be working very well."

The total amount billed to clients in Sibley County was $23,528, which is higher than what the county was billed because the county bills for the full cost, including the 12 percent fee charged by detox.

The county is named under state statute to cover the costs for detox. The average cost per stay is $340 a day and the average stay is two days.

"It is really our only option in this area for detox," says Stock. "We are a member county, so if we pay our bill within 30 days we get a $65 reduction per client per day, where a non-member county does not get the discount."

When Brown County recently closed the detention part of the Brown County building, Sibley County rates were raised. Stock said it is still the cheapest option in the area.

For the last four years, the average of what Sibley County was billed for detox is just under $26,000. Stock said the county had two years since 2001 that stood out when it had extremely high detox bills, both higher than $30,000 and one was over $40,000.

Many years ago, the Sibley Medical Center used to have detox services, but got out of it.

"They tell us that the people they are seeing now are sicker with drugs, alcohol and medication in their systems," said Stock, about how it takes longer to detox a patient to get drugs out of their system.

Other Business

In other public health and human services news, Stock reported the resignation of two staff, both going over to Carver County.

"We will look to reorganize internally," said Stock. "We anticipate more leaving because a lot of the staff does commute. One cut commute miles from 40 miles to 23. With big fuel prices we can understand that."

May is Mental Health Month and National Foster Care Month. To bring mental health issues to the attention of the public, the county will do news articles and churches will receive information for their bulletins if they choose.

"We have bookmarks that list famous people who had mental health issues," said Stock. "It shows there should be no stigma to it and we want to get across that this is an illness."

There will be a free food stand set up in May at Jerry's Foods when handing out informational materials. To promote healthier eating, public health will be giving out yogurt this year.

Last year the county went over its burial fund of $20,000. Stock said she will be coming to the board with a new policy for burials, where it should be made clearer what the county pays or does not pay.

The next Sibley County board meeting is Tuesday, May 14.

Matt and Corine Carney open new restaurant, Side Dish, in Arlington

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Matt and Corine Carney, owners of the Arlington Dugout, have opened Side Dish in the former VFW Building along the 300 block of West Main Street in downtown Arlington.

The new business is adjacent to the Arlington Dugout, but an inside door connects the two businesses.

The couple, after a year of talks, purchased the building for the new restaurant in February.

"We thought having the food in the restaurant paired with the alcohol in the bar would be a big benefit," said Matt.

The front room of the new restaurant has been completely remodeled. The previous bar has been removed to create more space for the salad bar and to comfortably seat 45 people. The couple hopes to add another 30 to 40 seats in the back room. New chairs, tables and booths are also featured in the front room.

The restaurant, which features a full breakfast, lunch and dinner menu, is open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week.

"We wanted to bring a new style menu to the community," said Matt. "Everything is pretty much made in house. We bake our own bread for our sandwiches. We cut our own steaks here too. We also have a variety of turkey, beef, lamb and pork chorizo burgers."

The couple is also looking to buy products from local farmers as much as possible.

"Obviously, there will be some items that we will have to get off the truck," said Matt and Corine, who have owned the Arlington Dugout for the past four years.

The couple plans to offer daily lunch specials and theme style dinners on the weekends in the future.

Fridley resident Shawn Richardson, who previously owned Woodsman Grill in Anoka, has been hired as the head chef.

The couple currently has 10 to 12 employees and hopes to hire five to six additional employees down the road.

The back room is also available to rent for private parties, meetings and lunches.

Sibley County Court news makes its debut in this week's newspaper

Our View: Readers have repeatedly requested it

The Arlington Enterprise, like any other business, has received its share of suggestions and requests over the years. The one repeated request is for the local newspaper to publish the weekly Sibley County Court news.

The hometown newspaper, after several months of debate and discussion, recently decided to publish the weekly Sibley County Court news. The debut of the court news is published on page 8 in this week's edition of the Arlington Enterprise.

The Sibley County Court news is public record and will add another dimension for people who read in the Arlington Enterprise. For some readers, it will become a popular section in the newspaper like the front page news, sports, obituaries and letters to the editor. Other readers may not care unless their name appears in the court news.

Other than the weekly publication of this court news in the local newspaper, another constant is the entire document will be printed exactly as it is received. No names will be conveniently omitted. In other words, people can save their dime in attempt to have their name removed from the court news. All names will be published, even the employees of this newspaper.

John was riding his brand new bike down the block when he knocked over an old lady. "You clumsy idiotic boy!" fumed the lady as she struggled to her feet. "Don't you know how to ride a bike?"

"Of course I do," replied John. "I just don't know how to use the horn!"

Teacher: "If there are a dozen flies on a table and you swat one, how many are left?"

Math clown: "Uhhhh, just the dead one?"

A truck driver was driving along the highway when he saw a sign, "Low Underpass Ahead." Thinking his truck could for sure make it, he drove under and got stuck. Soon all the cars were honking their horns and shouting.

Before long, a cop came and said, "What's the problem, got stuck, huh?"

Thinking quickly, the truck driver smiled and said, "No, I didn't get stuck, I was delivering this bridge and ran out of gas."

A woman got on a bus but soon regretted it. The driver sped down the street, zigzagging across the lanes, breaking nearly every rule of the road. Unable to take it any longer, the woman stepped forward, her voice shaking as she spoke. "I am so afraid of riding with you, I don't know what to do."

"Do what I do," said the bus driver. "Close your eyes!"

Teacher: "Can you give me an example of a national disaster?"

Class clown: "How about my last report card?"

A boy went to the ballet with his mother. As the program began, the boy leaned over his seat and whispered, "Mom, they're all dancing on their toes."

"Yes, I know," said his mother. "That's the way they do it."

The boy watched for a moment longer and then said, "Well, why don't they just get taller dancers?"

Upon entering a little country store, a stranger noticed a warning sign that read: "Danger! Beware of dog!" posted on the door. Inside, he noticed a harmless little dog asleep on the floor beside the cash register. "Is that the dog folks are supposed to beware of?" he asked the owner.

"Yep, that's him," came the reply.

The stranger couldn't help but be amused. "That certainly doesn't look like a dangerous dog to me. Why in the world would you post that sign?"

"Because," the owner explained, "Before I posted that sign, people kept tripping over him."

A passenger train is creeping along, slowly. Finally it creaks to a halt. A passenger sees a conductor walking by outside. "What's going on?" she yells out the window.

"Horse on the track!" replies the conductor. Ten minutes later, the train resumes its slow pace. However five minutes later it stops again.

The lady sees the conductor walking by again. She leans out and yells, "What happened? We caught up to that horse again?"

A zookeeper saw a visitor throwing $100 bills into the monkey cage.

"Why you doing that?" he asked.

"The sign says its ok," the visitor replied.

"No it doesn't," the zookeeper replied.

"Sure it says 'Do not feed. $100 fine.'" replied the visitor.

Letters To The Editor

Update on budget bills from Gruenhagen

To The Editor,

I wanted to share with constituents some updates about the budget bills passed by the House this past week. I hope, as always, you'll contact me with any input you have about these or any future bills. These bills will ultimately go to conference committee, where differences between the House and the Senate will be worked out before coming back to the House for final passage before heading to the Governor's desk.

Health and Human Services

The only budget area Democrats chose to cut this session was in Health and Human Services. While I was glad to see Democrats talking about starting to bend down the cost curve and get HHS spending under control, the cuts that were made were without any meaningful reforms that would reduce future costs, and were made indiscriminately in areas that could have negative consequences on the state of Minnesota.

Part of the $150 million dollar cut to the HHS budget was $26 million from nursing homes and senior care centers. Minnesota has an aging population. By 2020, it's estimated that we will have more seniors in retirement than students in our K-12 education system. With these kind of demographic realities, it doesn't make sense to be cutting funding from senior care centers.

The Republican budget we passed in 2011 made a promise to seniors. Unfortunately, Democrats reneged on that promise to the tune of a $26 million dollar cut from what Republicans had set under law to give to the nursing homes and senior care centers.

Again, I applaud the majority for finally coming to realize that we must get our spending under control, but this is simply the wrong way to do it. We must make serious reforms that address the cost drivers in our health care system, and find ways to deliver health care services to our citizens more efficiently and more effectively, rather than cutting from our most vulnerable. With 100 nursing homes at risk of closure around the state, it's irresponsible and risky to be making these types of cuts.

K-12 Education

As a member of the Education Finance committee, it was great to see months of work and collaboration come to the floor in the form of the K-12 Omnibus bill.

I ultimately voted no on the K-12 bill because it removes graduation standard testing, and dilutes the meaning of a students' diploma. It also grows the Minnesota Department of Education, adding layers of bureaucracy in the form of "regional centers of excellence" rather than adding more funding that would go directly to classrooms.

Worse, the bill has a $1 billion dollar negative tail, meaning we will be faced with a funding shortfall in future years, even though the Democrats are already raising $3 billion dollars in new taxes and fees.

Will you and your family be better off?

To The Editor,

How bad is the Tax Omnibus Bill? It is so bad that the DFL majority could not pass their own bill the first time and after twisting some arms revoted and passed the bill. This bill raises $1,839,393,000 (1.84 billion) in new tax hikes for FY 2014-15. It would make Minnesota's income tax the fourth highest in the nation, behind only California, Hawaii and Oregon. This bill freezes tax relief on commercial real estate and creates a new sales tax on services and internet sales.

Minnesotans can't afford the Senate Democrats' tax plan. Everyone will pay more for clothing, auto repair, haircuts and over-the-counter medication. We should not be extracting an extra dime from hard-working taxpayers of Minnesota until the legislature goes line-by-line through our budget and cuts the waste that has been accumulating. Raising taxes penalizes small businesses and jeopardizes the welfare of people who work for those businesses.

Think about this, the DFL party is elated to be raising your taxes. Senator Rod Skoe, Senate Tax Chair, was quoted in Politics in Minnesota as saying: "When I woke up this morning, I was so excited I almost smiled," on having his Tax Omnibus bill being heard. You can read the whole article here: <http://politicsinminnesota.com/2013/04/senate-tax-bill-increases-top-income-tax-rate-to-9-4-percent/>.

Below are the major provisions in the bill that employers and employees alike will be facing should the DFL pass this tax bill:

- Increases sales taxes in the amount of $89 million over FY 2014-15 by expanding the sales tax base to include a new sales tax on:
- Clothing, over the counter drugs, personal services (hair, nails, tattoos), other personal services (wedding planning, dating services, personal shopping), auto repair services, household goods repair and maintenance, electronic and commercial equipment repair and maintenance, warehousing and storage services, telecommunications equipment, court reporter documents, and publications (excluding newspapers).

- Increases cigarette/tobacco taxes by $333 million over FY 2014-15 largely through adopting the Governor's $0.94 per pack additional tax on cigarettes.

- Increases individual income taxes by $1.2 billion by increasing the current 7.85 percent third tier to 9.4 percent.

- Single: $79,730.
- Head of Household: $120,070.
- Married joint: $140,960.

This is not the "Tax the Rich."

Tired of budget shenanigans?

By Lee H. Hamilton

With the formal release of President Obama's budget, the pieces are finally in place for a reprise of the Washington drama we've all come to know. There will be high-stakes negotiations, lines in the sand, and enough intrigue to keep Beltway insiders riveted by every piece of breaking news.

The rest of us, though, are already worn out. In repeated conversations with ordinary people, I've been struck by the immense frustration I've encountered. They're tired of brinkmanship and constant fiscal crisis. They're fed up with accusations, spin, fear mongering, and intransigence. They've had it with a complex, opaque process when the outline of a solution — controlling spending and entitlements, raising revenues to meet the country's obligations, and investing in economic growth — seems evident. Above all, they're weary of a government that appears addicted to crisis. Why, they wonder, can we not pass a budget in an orderly, rational way?

It's a good question, though the answer is hardly reassuring: I believe Congress no longer knows how. Talking to a group of younger members recently, I realized they'd had no experience of following regular procedures to craft a budget. They've spent their congressional careers watching the leadership put it together in an ad-hoc, crisis-fueled manner. True budget-making skills on Capitol Hill are eroding. It's in danger of becoming a lost art.

Yet it need not be. There is a time-honored process that we can rejuvenate at any time for constructing a budget. On Capitol Hill, it's known as "the regular order."

This is the insider's way of referring to procedures that Congress developed over our history as a nation. Their guiding principle is to provide a coherent and well-structured way of deciding in detail where our national priorities ought to lie, and then funding them. They were designed to give members of Congress

Arbor Day Program

Henderson Fire and Rescue awarded $600,000 grant for Sibley County radio project

U.S. Representative Collin Peterson announced that the Henderson Fire and Rescue Department has been awarded $603,638 for operations and safety from the Assistance to Firefighters Grant (AFG) Program of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

"These grants are critical to departments like Henderson Fire and Rescue, and I'm happy to see them get these funds for such an important project," Peterson said. "I'm thankful for all the volunteer firefighters and first-responders who are so critical to all our rural communities."

The grant will be used to purchase communications equipment for emergency responders throughout Sibley County, including law enforcement, hospitals and public works departments, according to Tom Phillips, who has worked on the project since 2007.

"We are just really grateful for the work of Representative Peterson and his staff to see this project through," Phillips said.

Since 2001, the AFG has provided approximately $5.25 billion in grants to first-responder organizations to obtain much-needed emergency response equipment, personal protective equipment, firefighting and emergency vehicles, and training.

The purpose of the AFG is to award grants directly to fire departments and Emergency Medical Services organizations (EMS) that are unaffiliated with a hospital to enhance their ability to protect the health and safety of the public, as well as that of first-responder personnel. Using a competitive process that is overseen by fire service subject matter experts, grants are awarded to applicants whose requests best address the priorities of the AFG Program.

Operations and Safety Grant projects funded include professional training, wellness and fitness programs equipment, personal protective equipment, modifications to facilities, and supplies that support firefighting and non-affiliated EMS operations and safety.

a clear, fair way to scrutinize, consider, debate, and reach consensus on the divisive issues that go along with taxing and spending.

The last time Congress passed a regular-order budget, not an omnibus spending bill, was 1997. Though it was far from a tidy process, its abandonment, I believe, is what has produced our current mess.

So what is the regular order? The President submits a budget on time (not two months late, as President Obama has just done). Then congressional committees and subcommittees take it up, dividing their work according to the departments of government — agriculture, defense, transportation and the like. They hold hearings, call witnesses, explore what the executive branch has done with its money in the past, and consider its plans for the future. They debate and draft their own proposals, and allow amendments from both parties. Once the full committee acts, its measure goes to the floor for further debate, amendments, and a vote. Eventually, the bills arrived at separately by the House and the Senate get reconciled and go to the President to be signed.

The advantage of the regular order, in addition to its transparency and accountability, is that it spreads the workload and makes room for the expertise and considered judgment of a wide array of legislators. In the past, the leadership deferred to experienced committee chairmen who knew the issues they were confronting inside and out, and who had a talent for drafting legislation. Rank-and-file members had a chance to influence the outcome through amendments and debate. The process played to Congress's core strength of deliberation.

Not any longer. Now, huge omnibus bills and continuing resolutions — not to mention the mindless cudgel of the sequester — are put together by a handful of leaders and their staffs. They don't have specific, detailed expertise, and they're more interested in seeking partisan advantage than in fair process or effective legislating.

Too often in the past, members of Congress have sought some automatic budget mechanism — a balanced-budget amendment, say, or budget caps — to solve their problems. Mostly, these have been a way to avoid the hard choices required by the regular order. In the end, there's no substitute for experience, knowledge, hard work, compromise, and a resolve to seek solutions. That's what the regular order would encourage. It's time for Congress to stop paying it lip service and actually revive it.

Local legislators encourage DFL majority to fully fund nursing homes, senior centers

Local legislators said the Minnesota House majority's plan to cut $26 million next biennium from senior living has rural nursing home staffs very concerned, according to the Office of State Representative Glenn Gruenhagen. More than two dozen members from the GOP's Rural Caucus participated in a press conference on Monday, April 22, to highlight the proposed cuts, and called on House Democrats to fully fund the promises made to Minnesota seniors.

"Democrats are proposing to cut $26 million from the 2014-2015 baseline passed by Republicans in 2011. This represents a broken promise to our Greatest Generation, and an astonishing move from the Democrats, whose priorities are clearly out of line," said Gruenhagen, R-Glencoe.

Gruenhagen explained that the DFL's budget cuts will jeopardize 115 senior living facilities, 15,000 long-term care workers, and countless rural communities.

"We need to be going line by line through our budget to eliminate wasteful government spending, streamline our government programs and find cost savings," said State Representative Dean Urdahl, R-Acton Township.

"That money can be used to fund the promises made to our seniors. Why the Democrats feel the need to raise $3 billion in new revenue but make cuts to our most vulnerable is simply beyond me."

Urdahl said that House Democrats are claiming an increase in nursing home funding in their budget, but he explained that the "increase" actually amounts to a net cut of $26 million in the 2014-2015 biennium baseline. He added that $26 million, at minimum, was needed to maintain current service levels at nursing home and senior care facilities across the state.

mantra the Governor has been promoting, but rather a tax increase on middle income, taxpayers.

- Increases the Statewide Property Tax by $176 million largely by freezing the tax rate for Commercial-Industrial (C/I) property at the rate imposed for taxes payable in 2002. The inflator for C/I property is eliminated.

- Increases business taxes by a net $63 million in FY 2014-15 through the repeal of the Foreign Royalty Deduction. With the repeal of this deduction on business income earned outside of the state of Minnesota, why would a corporation remain or come to Minnesota? Does our tax policy affect business decisions, remember HTI?

- Creates a 13 percent sports memorabilia gross receipts tax ($32 million tax increase) imposed at the wholesale level on licensed professional and Collegiate Division 1 merchandise.

- Recognizes a $24 million estate tax increase by tightening current law criteria on exemptions for qualified farms and small businesses.

- Increases sales tax on rental vehicles by almost 50 percent from 6.2 percent to 9.05 percent raising $15 million.

- Expands sales taxes on internet sales, digital downloads and direct satellite services.

The DFL campaigned that they would only raise taxes on the "rich" and that any tax increases would only impact a few people. As you can see by the proposed tax increases above; that is not the case. The simple truth is that higher taxes do not lead to a healthier economy. Minnesota can't afford to have thousands of small businesses, pay more in taxes rather than hire new employees, buy new equipment or otherwise expand their business.

So I ask you: Will you and your family be better off if this bill becomes law?

Sibley East senior second baseman Jordan Thomes, left, collected two hits against Le Sueur-Henderson during a Minnesota River Conference doubleheader in Henderson on Thursday afternoon, April 25. Due to the inclement weather this spring, it was the first games of the season for the Lady Wolverines. Sibley East lost the first game 5-2 and dropped the second game 4-2. "The girls played great defense in both games," said Sibley East head coach Rod Tollefson. "LSH's Carlie Brandt is one of the top pitchers in the area. We did a better job on offense during the second game. I love the fact that the girls have a never quit attitude."

FSA Matters

FSA Matters

Reminders For CRP Contract Holders

The primary wildlife nesting season for Sibley County begins May 15 and ends Aug. 1. CRP cover is not to be disturbed (mowed, burned, sprayed, etc.) during this period of time. Spot treatment (limited to the affected areas of the field) for noxious weed and insect control may be allowed during the primary nesting season if left untreated, would adversely impact the approved cover. It is your responsibility as a CRP participant to comply with Minnesota's noxious weed laws.

Request approval from FSA in advance before conducting any acreage management activities which would include mowing, burning or light disking.

Annual acreage reporting of CRP acres must be completed by July 15 in order to receive your CRP annual rental payment in October.

You may stop in our office to certify the CRP acreage or you may request the form by e-mail or fax by calling the office at 507-237-2948 ext. 2. If you operate other cropland in addition to having CRP, your certification of CRP acres can be done when you certify crops.

Please contact our office if you have any changes that may affect CRP payment eligibility or interest in the CRP contract acreage such as transfer of ownership, establishment of trusts or entities, etc.

If you have any questions regarding the terms and conditions of your CRP contract, please contact our office.

DCP/ACRE Sign-Up Continues

The sign-up period for DCP and ACRE are still open. Producers are encouraged to sign up for DCP before the Aug. 2 deadline. An even earlier deadline is for ACRE, which will end June

3. The 2013 DCP and ACRE program provisions are unchanged from 2012, except that all eligible participants in 2013 may choose to enroll in either DCP or ACRE for the 2013 crop year. This means that eligible producers who were enrolled in ACRE in 2012 may elect to enroll in DCP in 2013 or may re-enroll in ACRE in 2013. Likewise producers who were enrolled in DCP may opt for ACRE enrollment.

Please contact the office for an appointment by calling 507-237-2948 Ext. 2.

Dates To Remember

May 20 thru June 14 – CRP General Signup #45
May 27 – Office closed for Memorial Day
May 31 – Last day to apply for 2012 corn or soybean loan
June 3 – ACRE signup period ends
June 7 – 2011 SURE signup ends

MVEC's annual meeting celebrates year of reliable power, competitive electric rates and quality service

2013 was another successful year of reliable power, quality service and competitive electric rates, according to General Manager Roger Geckler at Minnesota Valley Electric Cooperative's 76th Annual Meeting in Jordan on April 23. "That's our goal," said Geckler. "It's why we exist."

Embracing new technologies has played a big part in that success, said Geckler. Looking ahead, MVEC recently completed a $24 million three-year work plan for future construction and upgrades within the cooperative's nine-county service area.

Geckler outlined three new member programs launching in 2013: the Beat the Peak Energy Challenge (featuring $20,000 in team and individual cash prizes), a WiFi programmable thermostat project and a payback component to the Pay as you Go pre-pay program.

Financially, the cooperative is in great shape, according to Gerry Mareck, vice president of finance. Increased kilowatt hour sales, holding distribution costs flat and well-managed wholesale power purchases allowed the cooperative to give a $1.5 million refund to the membership in December 2012, in addition to a Capital Credit refund this March for $751,000.

In the Board of Directors' election, incumbents Deborah Erickson of Savage and James Connelly of Belle Plaine were re-elected. Gary Haberman of Chanhassen was elected to replace Tom Graham of Henderson who retired from the board of directors this month.

Michael Asmus presents organ and conducting evening in Christ Chapel

Senior music major Michael Asmus, Gaylord, presented his senior organ and conducting recital in Christ Chapel on the Gustavus Adolphus College campus on Sunday, April 21.

The program of organ, chorus and chamber orchestra included the assistance of Michael's instructor, organist Chad Winterfeldt, and nearly 60 of Michael's fellow students in Le Grande Bande & Chorus. The recital began at 7:30 p.m.

Michael's recital was presented in two sections. The recital began with Michael playing the organ for Charles Standford's Organ Sonata No. 2, Op. 151 and Dan Locklair's work Rubrics. The following work, Standford's Ye Choris of New Jerusalem, Op. 123, featured Michael conducting a choral ensemble of his own creation, including 33 of his fellow students accompanied by Chad Winterfeldt on the organ. The final work in the first selection was a solo organ selection with Michael playing the organ for O Mensch, bewein' dein Sünde groß, BWV 622 by Johann Sebastian Bach.

After an intermission, the recital continued with the addition of a chamber orchestra of 19 orchestral members, and opened with the Organ Concerto Op. 4, No. 4 by George F. Handel with Michael conducting and playing organ. He then moved to harpsichord and directed Johann C. F. Bach's Sinfonia in d minor. The chorus then joined the chamber orchestra for the final selection of the recital, Handel's The King Shall Rejoice, with Michael conducting his Le Grand Bande & Chorus.

Sunday's recital was followed by a reception for the musicians and the audience in the main entrance to Gustavus' Christ Chapel. The audience of more than 100 included Michael's band, piano, organ, choral and conducting mentors from the Gaylord, Arlington, St. Peter and Gustavus communities.

Michael is a 2009 Sibley East Senior High School graduate and is the son of Brian and Diana Asmus, Gaylord. He is a member of the Gustavus Choir, under the direction of Gregory Aune, and has earned the Gustavus Music Scholarship. After graduation, Michael plans to continue working with organ performance and go to graduate school for orchestral conducting.
