Arlington City Council to proceed with process and extend the current closing time at liquor establishments to 2 a.m.

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Arlington City Council, during its recent regular meeting, voted 4-1 and approved a motion to approve a request from Arlington Dug-out owner Matt Carney and proceed with the process to extend the closing time for on-sale liquor establishments until 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday. The current closing time is 1 a.m.

Carney made the request because "the cost of running a business is not getting any cheaper" and to help cover the additional cost of the new license at the Arlington Community Center.

Two readings of an amended ordinance will be required before the City Council can formally act upon the request in early July. No public meeting is required, according to City Administrator Liza Donabauer.

City Council members James Jaszewski, Jennifer Nuesse, Jason Ruehling and Galen Wills all voted in favor of the motion.

City Council member Curt Reetz voted against the motion.

The same issue was brought up back in 2011, but a majority of the City Council did not support the idea at that time.

The City Council, in another matter, unanimously adopted a series of documents for the Minnesota Small Cities Development Program Grant related to the Highland Commons Project.

In other news, the City Council received the annual Planning and Zoning Report. The report was presented by Planning and Zoning Chairperson Dwight Grabitske, member Mark Pauly and Secretary Michelle Battcher.

This project will include the replacement of two bridges. The bridge work is expected to take approximately four months which will likely mean the portion of road over the two bridges will be closed until November 2014.

In addition to the bridge replacements, the county will also build two new pedestrian

Residents urged not to discharge lawn clippings onto city streets

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Local residents are urged to not discharge lawn clippings onto streets in the City of Arlington.

Clippings that are discharged onto city streets eventually wash into the storm sewers and cause them to clog. Along with being an inconvenience to residents, clogged sewers are costly and time consuming for the city employees to clean and unclog.

City officials ask all residents to take their grass clippings to the compost site. The compost site is open seven days a week during daylight hours for residents in the city limits. The compost site is located near the wastewater treatment facility off Freedom Drive on the southeast corner of town.

Flood disaster funds discussed at county meeting

By Dave Pedersen
Correspondent

Sibley County is right on the edge of having potential state flood disaster funds be washed away.

Tim Becker, Public Works Director, told the board of commissioners at the Tuesday, June 10 meeting that his department has been working with MnDOT (Minnesota Department of Transportation) to obtain state aid disaster funds as a result of flooding May 31 and June 1.

The minimum damage amount needs to be 10 percent of state aid allotment ($306,203.60) to meet the minimum requirements for eligibility for a claim. Becker said his project estimates are just over the minimum at $282,947.50.

The state needs to do a project site visit before they can approve the funds. Becker presented a list of 12 damaged areas along CR 6.

A couple of projects involve a road shoulder washout. There are several areas with silt and tree debris in the ditch. A large culvert is plugged up.

"If we get state aid disaster funds we probably will hire contractors," said Becker. "We are already short of staff. We had two new hires who backed out the day prior to starting because they got more money somewhere else."

In other business, the Sibley County Human Resource Department continued to be busy as the county commissioners accepted resignations and approved hires of new staff.

The board approved the hiring of Adam Walters, a seasonal/temp jailer in the Sheriff's office. Jayme Koutout is the full time Planning and Implementation (P&I) Coordinator.

Paige Lemke is a seasonal/temp 4-H Extension summer intern. Miles Kranz and Charlotte Olson will work full time in the Sheriff's office as a dispatch/correctional officer.

Resignations were accepted from LoAnn Kirchberg and Jeanne Schauer as PH/HS eligibility workers.

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Arlington resident Christina DeLeon, 20, was recently sentenced to 48 months in the Minnesota Correctional Facility in Shakopee.

DeLeon entered a guilty plea to the charge of second degree manslaughter and was convicted by the court. Charges of neglect or endangerment of a child, storing methamphetamine and wrongfully obtaining assistance were dismissed.

DeLeon will be given credit for time served which was 149 days. She will serve 32 months in custody and 16 months on supervised release.

DeLeon was initially charged after she left her eight-month-old son unattended in a bathtub to go and care for her 18-month-old son last November, according to court documents. Her eight-month-old son, Elijah, died due to drowning.

Later that same month, DeLeon was charged after she purchased seven cans of baby formula with her WIC vouchers at Jerry's Home Quality Foods in Arlington, according to court documents. She later posted a message on Facebook and attempted to sell the baby formula.

One month later, DeLeon fled to Nevada where she was arrested and taken into custody at the Clark County Jail in late December. She was later transported back to Sibley County where she had been held in jail.

Newman announces campaign for Minnesota State Attorney General

ST. PAUL — District 18 state Sen. Scott Newman, R-Hutchinson, announced Thursday, May 29, his plans to run for Minnesota attorney general.

"I think it is time to have a fresh new approach into the activities of the attorney general's office instead of simply relying on decades of implementing the DFL game plan," said Newman. He stressed the fact that there has not been a Republican attorney general since Doug Head was elected in 1966.

Newman said incumbent Attorney General Lori Swanson has continually sided with her political party on partisan issues like daycare unionization and Obamacare. Newman said Swanson should have been siding with her client, the state of Minnesota.

"I am looking to change the atmosphere and approach of the attorney general's office to be one of enforcing our laws and defending our state, rather than protecting a particular party platform and furthering its goals," said Newman.

State Sen. Scott Newman

Newman currently represents the people of Senate District 18. Before serving in the Senate, Newman served two terms in the Minnesota House of Representatives.

Newman has an extensive background in civil litigation, which earned him his certification as a civil trial specialist by the National Board of Trial Advocacy and the Minnesota State Bar Association.

While in the Senate, he has served on the Educational Finance, Educational Policy, Claims, Public Safety, Judiciary, Finance, Rules, Capitol Investments and Elections committees.

Over the weekend, Newman received the state Republican endorsement at Rochester for his Attorney General campaign.

Swanson also was endorsed by the state DFL convention held last weekend in Duluth.

Opinions

There has been plenty of road construction in Arlington the past year Our View: It may be an inconvenience, but the results are well worth it

There has been plenty of road construction in and around Arlington during the past year.

The most recent is the Main Street (County Road 34) and County Road 17 Project which was completed this week. The roads were in tough shape, but now Arlington has a new Main Street. The low bid of nearly $340,000 from William Mueller & Sons, Hamburg, came in about $100,000 under the engineer's estimate.

A reconstruction project of County Road 166 leading out to the Arlington Sportsmen's Park will get underway next week. The project will include the replacement of two bridges. In addition, Sibley County will also build two new pedestrian bridges for the Prairie Line Trail project in that same area. The low bid of $1,472,336 from Structural Specialties, Hutchinson, was accepted for the County Road 166 Bridge and 378th Avenue Bridge Project. Furthermore, the low bid of $1,940,484 from Chard Tiling & Excavating, Belle Plaine, was accepted for the Prairie Line Trail Project.

The road projects do not end there. The Arlington City Council has budgeted $90,000 for seal coating streets in the community later this summer. A major street and utility project is planned for next year.

Flash back one year ago. A multi-million dollar resurfacing road project, which included bridge and utility work, was completed along Highway 5 from Gaylord to Arlington to Green Isle. It is a shame that the project was not continued from Green Isle to Highway 212.

In addition, there was the Safe Routes To School Project which was completed in Arlington late last summer. The City of Arlington was able to conduct this project thanks to a nearly $200,000 federal grant.

There has been a number of important road projects completed in and around Arlington during the past year and additional endeavors are scheduled for later this year and beyond. The good news is that most of these projects did not involve local tax dollars.

Sure, these projects have caused and will cause some inconvenience to local residents and businesses, but the results are well worth it. Small cities across the state would kill to have this many road projects completed in their community and area.

At All Saints Lutheran Church in Uuf Da, North Dakota, they have a weekly husbands' marriage seminar.

At the session last week, the Pastor asked Ole, who was approaching his 50th wedding anniversary, to take a few minutes and share some insight into how he had managed to stay married to the same woman all these years.

"Vell," Ole replied to the assembled husbands, "I tried ta treat her nice, spend da money on her, but best of all, I took her ta Norway for da 25th anniversary!"

The Pastor responded, "Ole, you are an amazing inspiration to all the husbands here! Please tell us what you are planning for your 50th anniversary."

Ole proudly replied, "I'm gonna go get her!"

"And what's so bad about that?" asked his wife.

Jack replied, "He only gave me seven pills."

"Thanks be to God," explained the old gent. "I thought I'd gone deaf."

Church member: "It was a poor sermon. Nothing in it at all."

Pastor: "How did it go Sunday?"

Assistant Pastor: "Excellent, I didn't have time to prepare anything myself, so I preached one of your sermons."

Letters To The Editor

Sibley County has two grave issues

To The Editor,

Last week I filed for the Sibley County Commissioner Fifth District seat being vacated by the Honorable Harold Pettis. This seat includes the cities of Winthrop and Gibbon and Severance, Alfsborg, and Cornish townships (the southwest part of the county).

Sibley County has five commissioners divided geographically. All five commissioners make decisions at times impacting every citizen and for years to come.

Putting it another way, even though you cannot vote for me I will be one of your five commissioners. With that, allow me to tell you where I stand on a couple of positions.

Two grave issues hang over Sibley County like a guillotine: RS Fiber (aka Fiber-to-the-Home) and the Cornish Township industrial wind turbines (near the Winthrop golf course). While both projects are getting killed by facts and support is almost non-existent, their proponents won't go away.

Last year your present commissioners voted down RS Fiber saying, "Enough is enough." However, the promoters plan to bring it back and they recruited candidates to run here and in another county commissioner race.

Rest assured I oppose both Fiber and Wind. I have done my homework so I will not budge and I will not waffle. And never ever will I say one thing to the public only to do the opposite. Ever.

Sibley County is blessed with a rich fabric of color and culture of honorable people. No matter one's heritage we all want the same: good government, low taxes, and lots of time with family and friends. Like you, I cherish our country, our state, and our neighbors. Everyday I ask the True God for wisdom, discernment, humbleness, contentment, and guidance.

Finally, please know you will have another friend in Sibley County along with your commissioner. Thank you for all you do to make this a great place to live.

Fiber members criticize commissioner candidate

To The Editor,

The Board of Directors for RS Fiber Cooperative strongly believes that recent letters from Mark Santelman contain false, misleading, and malicious claims about fiber broadband. RS Fiber's goal is to bring affordable, high speed, high quality internet service to every business, farmer, and home in Renville and Sibley County whose elected officials voted to participate in this private-public partnership.

Santelman opposes the RS Fiber project. He makes claims that appear to be facts, but they are simply his uninformed opinion. For example, he claims that the RS Fiber project is not good for our community. Wrong. Connecting homes, farms, and businesses together by using fiber broadband is just as important today as connecting people together with electricity and telephone service was in the 1930s.

In the 1930s, the large providers of electricity and telephones said it was too expensive to provide these services to rural Americans. In response, rural cooperatives were formed so we could have access to affordable electricity and telephone service for the 20th century. RS Fiber Cooperative has been formed so we can have access to affordable internet service in the 21st century. That's a fact.

RS Fiber will NOT compete with the local providers of high-speed, affordable internet service. Why? Because there is not a single provider of internet service in Renville and Sibley counties that provides this service to every single business, farm, and home today. And these existing providers have even stated that they have no plans to bring fiber broadband services to our communities.

He also makes a false claim that RS Fiber has not gathered good public support. Wrong. More than 100 community meetings have been held throughout Renville and Sibley County to answer questions from taxpayers about fiber broadband. During an 18-month period in 2011-12, over 55 percent of residential households returned a pledge card indicating support and an interest in receiving fiber broadband services. In 2014, after number meetings and presentations, elected officials from 10 communities and 17 townships made informed, thoughtful decisions to join the RS Fiber project. After only three months, the latest pledge card drive has already generated responses from over 18 percent of potential customers. 1,189 pledge cards have been returned and 1,185 people want at least one service... and over 1,000 people want two or more services. We consider this to be good public support for RS Fiber.

Santelman also makes a misleading and malicious claim that the RS Fiber Cooperative's Board of Directors was happy that four out of 21 townships did not vote to join this project. Wrong again. The Board worked closely with every elected official, every single taxpayer, and in every single township to answer their questions, provide information, and invite them to become a member of this project. Even though the project construction costs will decline modestly because of the absence of four townships, the Board sincerely regrets their absence. In fact, these four township decisions occurred on a split vote, which means that many people within the township supported the project. Even in the City of Arlington, the RS Fiber project actually passed the City Council on a 3-2 vote, only to be vetoed by the mayor. RS Fiber's Board continues to hope that the four townships and the cities of Arlington and Henderson will eventually join the project, so their citizens can also have access to affordable, high-speed, quality internet service.

He also makes several uninformed claims about the community bond support, business model, funding sources, and formation of RS Fiber Cooperative. Seventy-five percent of the proposed funding will come from private lenders. One hundred percent of the funding will be repaid from the revenues and profits of RS Fiber cooperative. Is there some chance that the public funding could become an obligation of the taxpayers? Maybe. But only if people do not use the fiber broadband service. Since the monthly cost of the fiber service will be lower than what people currently pay for inferior services from existing providers, it is highly unlikely that the RS Fiber project will generate higher taxes.

Let's summarize. Higher quality. Faster speeds. Lower monthly costs. And the worst case impact for the taxpayer is that they might have a slight increase in property taxes... which is lower than what they save from fiber broadband services.

Mr. Santelman, this is not a "lousy business model" where.... "government is going into private business against honorable taxpaying companies."

RS Fiber is putting together a very well-developed, closely analyzed profitable business model that will be reviewed by more than 20 banks, several accounting firms, numerous lawyers, and multiple government agencies. And RS Fiber Cooperative is also an honorable private business that will pay taxes, while making an investment in Renville and Sibley County the large existing providers refuse to make.

The RS Fiber Cooperative's Board of Directors is making informed and thoughtful decisions, based on extensive financial analysis by very experienced firms who are knowledgeable about fiber broadband and the best way to finance such projects. The time it has taken to complete this analysis speaks to the Board's desire to do the right thing in the right way. This is not only responsible decision-making, it is highly respectful of our areas taxpayers and the customers who we want to serve.

Finally, the RS Fiber Cooperative Board members applaud the recent comments of Dean Conklin about the value of the RS Fiber project in his letter to the editor for the Winthrop News. "What I do want is more opportunity for our community and grandkids. I believe it's our duty to leave this world a better place than we found it." We agree. Let's say goodbye to Santelman's false claims. Let's say goodbye to existing providers who refuse to provide our citizens with access to fiber to the home technology. And let's say hello to fiber broadband for the 21st century in Renville and Sibley County. Fiber that is provided by a private business cooperative for the benefit of all citizens with minimal risk to all taxpayers.

It took the Village of Arlington just about one day to subscribe its quota of bonds in the Fifth War Loan Drive, according to figures compiled by the Sibley County War Finance Committee. At that time Arlington was credited with subscriptions totaling $68,543.75. Comparing this figure with our quota of $67,721.88 we went over the top by almost a thousand dollars. Local subscriptions are still coming in and it is expected that Arlington's total will reach $75,000 before the close of the drive.

Our main street is now graveled and leveled off, ready to receive the oil coat in a few weeks. We understand a number of other streets will also be graded and oiled.

The break-in and robbery at the Arlington Liquor Store in Arlington on March 23, has been solved according to an announcement made by the State Crime Bureau. The Sibley County Sheriff's office was notified of the conviction of two Minneapolis men this week. They are (Pat) Donald Carlson and Lars Aasland. The pair was picked up on a similar break-in charge in Sterns County and upon questioning admitted the robbery here. They were sentenced to and undetermined stay at the State Reformatory in St. Cloud.

Lipke files to run against Gruenhagen

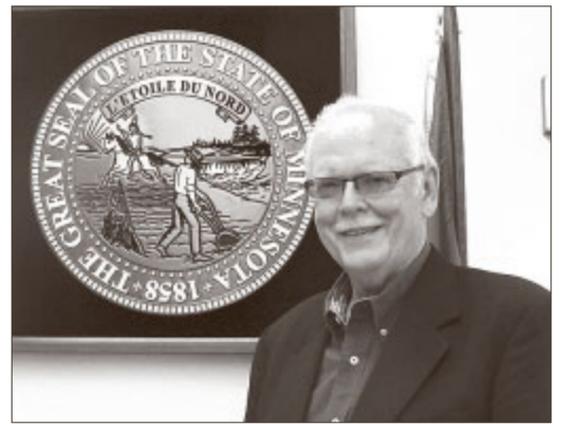

As reported in the Arlington Enterprise last week, Stewart resident John Lipke filed to run against Glenn Gruenhagen, R-Glencoe, for the Minnesota House of Representatives seat in District 18B.

Lipke, who is a long-time resident of Stewart, is running because he wants to work hard and represent the needs of the members of his community. He hopes to work with members of both parties, and keep his door open to all of his constituents and listen to their concerns.

Lipke has worked as a consultant in the areas of taxation, finance, accounting, and insurance. He also has experience as a school bus driver, Sunday school teacher, volunteer fireman, and as a governing board member for Education Minnesota. Education is a significant area of experience for him, and it will be one of his top priorities.

Lipke looks forward to talking with the people of McLeod and Sibley counties over the coming months.

Lipke will now seek the DFL endorsement for the

John Lipke

House of Representatives in House District 18B at an endorsing convention to be held at Lyle's Cafe in Winthrop at 7 p.m. Monday, June 16.

The endorsing convention will be chaired by Merle Larson, chair of Senate District 18. Those people eligible to vote at the endorsing convention are all delegates who were elected to attend this spring's Sibley County Convention as well as the delegates to the McLeod County Convention who reside in House District 18B.

House District 18B includes all of Sibley County and all but the northwest corner of McLeod County. The portions of McLeod County not in 18B include the western portion of the City of Hutchinson (everything west of Highway 15) and Acoma, Hutchinson and Lynn townships.

Highway 169 to be restricted to 2 lanes from St. Peter to Le Sueur from June to October Highway 169 motorists between St. Peter and Le Sueur will be restricted to two-way on two lanes around Thursday, June 19 for about four months for reconstruction work that will help keep traffic moving during Minnesota River flooding.

An informal public meeting for those impacted by the construction will take place at McDonalds in St. Peter from noon to 12:30 p.m. Thursday, June 12. MnDOT staff and the contractor will provide an update and be available for questions. Anyone with concerns about the construction can also call the hotline at 855-931-5347.

From June 19 to early August, traffic will be restricted to two lanes, two-way in the southbound lanes from St. Peter to Roberts Creek and two-way traffic in northbound from Roberts Creek to north of the Cambria silo. The traffic restrictions will allow reconstruction on the northbound lanes from Union Street to north of Highway 22/Dodd Street in St. Peter, permanent access to Treaty Site, Highway 169/93 ramps, and removal of the crossing at Ritt Street.

August to early October all traffic is shifted from southbound to northbound and during the month of October traffic will switch to one lane on each northbound and southbound from St. Peter to Roberts Creek and two-way traffic in northbound from Roberts Creek to north of the Cambria silo. A more detailed project timeline can be found at www.dot.state.mn.us/d7/projects/floodmitigation/.

The project includes raising the grade and reconstructing two miles in flood prone areas so that the southbound lanes remain above a 100-year flood and can carry traffic during high water. It also includes resurfacing nine miles of southbound Highway 169 for a smoother ride and access revisions in St. Peter for improved safety. The Highway 169 project is being built in coordination with St. Peter's project on Old Minnesota Avenue.

Hoffman Construction, Black River Falls, Wisconsin is the contractor on the $10,681,882 project.

This is the first of three Minnesota River flood mitigation projects Mn/DOT has planned. In 2015, an additional bridge will be installed on Highway 22 at the south edge of St. Peter to handle additional water flow during floods. In 2016 a project to raise the flood-prone areas on Highway 169 between Mankato and St. Peter will also include adding cable median barriers and resurfacing.

Sibley East senior Megan Eckberg placed seventh in the 100 meter hurdles during the Minnesota State Class A Girls Track and Field Meet at Hamline on Saturday, June 7.

Eckberg, who qualified for the finals with a time of 15.65 seconds on Friday, June 6, placed seventh with a clocking of 15.56 seconds on Saturday, June 7.

"Megan had a great start out of the blocks both days, but she was up against a talented field again this year," said Sibley East head coach Jill Warzecha. "In fact, her time this year was slightly faster than last year and she took fourth last year and seventh this year."

Senior Jaelin Beachy, Staples-Motley, won the event for the third consecutive year with a clocking of 14.90 seconds.

"Megan has proven time and time again that she can compete at this level and her experience benefited her in her last high school hurdles race," Warzecha said. "We will miss working with Megan, but look forward to watching her continue her success at Gustavus next year."

She is the daughter of Tom and Ann Eckberg, Gaylord.

Governor Mark Dayton proclaims June 8-15 as all-terrain vehicle safety week in Minn.

Governor Mark Dayton has proclaimed June 8-15 as all-terrain vehicle (ATV) safety week in Minnesota.

More than 600,000 ATVs are used in Minnesota by men, women and children for outdoor recreation and to support their daily livelihood. State law requires anyone born after July 1, 1987, to have a certificate showing they have taken safety training if they are 11 or older and want to ride on public land, trails, and frozen waters. The course also is available for adults.

In the last 5 years, 83 Minnesotans have lost their lives in ATV accidents.

"People who have taken ATV safety training are involved in fewer accidents compared to folks who haven't had the training, said Lt. Leland Owens, recreational vehicle coordinator, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Enforcement Division. "That's why we encourage ATV safety training for all ages."

The DNR promotes safety when operating an ATV:

- Always wear protective gear, (helmet, eye protection, long sleeve shirt, gloves, long pants, boots).
- Slow down. Speed is a major contributing factor in most ATV injury and fatal accidents.

• If driving/riding in a side-by-side ATV, buckle up, and keep all body parts inside the side-by-side.

• Be sober. Run an ATV under the influence of alcohol or narcotics and you could be charged with a misdemeanor, gross misdemeanor, or felony level DWI.

• ATVs are not babysitters, parents need to make sure their kids take an ATV safety education course and supervise them always.

• Don't take riding ATVs lightly. Think safety when riding ATVs.

Midwest boaters encouraged to prevent the spread of aquatic invasive species across borders

Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan share many of the same boaters and anglers - now they're sharing the same message to help protect their waters from aquatic invasive species (AIS), according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The states are teaming up on a new public service campaign to help carry a consistent message that encourages boaters and anglers to take steps to avoid accidentally spreading zebra mussels, spiny water fleas and other aquatic invaders when they travel between states, according to the DNR.

"The Minnesota DNR welcomes every opportunity to work with other states on AIS prevention measures," said Commissioner Tom Landwehr, "and this multi-state production is a fitting example. It offers a consistent message and a coordinated approach to effectively address the tough issue of AIS."

The Great Lakes states are working together to meet the challenges of invasive species, which are non-native species that can cause environmental or economic harm, or harm to human health, according to the DNR.

"We share a common goal of stopping aquatic hitchhikers to keep our Great Lakes and our inland waters healthy," said Cathy Stepp, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources secretary. "By pooling our resources we can help reach more people with an important reminder as they travel back and forth."

In addition to YouTube, the spot is airing on outdoor programs, public television, fishing and sports channels across the three-state area, according to the DNR.

Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant invites partner organizations and individuals to share the video to spread awareness. "By taking a few minutes to drain water and clean boats, trailers, and other equipment we can help keep all of our Great Lakes healthy and protect inland waters."

More information about AIS regulations in Minnesota is available on the DNR website.

Minnesota turtles now crossing roads to find a place to nest

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is reminding people that turtles crossing roads now are often moving to familiar nesting locations.

Allowing turtles to cross the roads is vital to the preservation of regional populations.

“Many turtles and other species are killed on Minnesota roads each year, especially during the nesting season,” said Carol Hall, DNR herpetologist, “In fact, roadway mortality is believed to be a major factor in turtle population declines throughout the United States.”

In Minnesota, where all turtles are mainly aquatic, overland journeys usually occur: in connection with seasonal movements between different wetland habitats; during the annual early summer nesting migration of egg laden females; or when newly hatched youngsters seek out the backwaters and ponds for their permanent home. Turtles can travel many miles during a single year, and may even be found far from water.

Giving Turtles A Hand

The following points should be remembered:

- Think safety. Simply pulling off the road and turning on hazard lights may alert other drivers to slow down. Be aware of surroundings and traffic.

- Avoid excessive handling. While wanting to inspect turtles closely is understandable, excessive handling can disrupt normal behavior. Prolonged examination of turtles should therefore be limited to only one or two individuals of each species.

- Allow unassisted road crossings. When turtles can safely cross roads unaided due to a lack of oncoming traffic, allow them to do so. Observe from a distance and avoid rapid movements, as doing otherwise will often cause turtles to change direction, stop, or seek shelter within their shells.

- Handle turtles gently. If necessary to pick them up, all turtles except Snappers and Softshells (“leatherbacks” – see link below for more information on these species that may bite when picked up) should be grasped gently along the shell edge near the mid-point of the body. Be advised that many turtles empty their bladder when lifted off the ground, so be careful not to drop them if they should suddenly expel water.

- Maintain direction of travel. Always move turtles in the same direction they were traveling in when encountered. Turtles should always be moved across roadways in as direct a line as possible. It may seem helpful to “assist” the turtle in its journey by moving them to a nearby waterbody, but it is important to remember the phrase, “If you care, leave it there.”

Transportation and parks departments can help turtles by not mowing ditches during peak nesting season (typically late May to early July in Minnesota), as many turtles like to nest on the elevated roadway shoulders. If mowing is absolutely necessary, an 8-inch deck-height is recommended.

Rivers and lakes: high and moving fast

Following recent rains across the state, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources urges boaters, paddlers and swimmers to not let their guard down. Lake, river and stream water levels are high and moving fast.

“People should always wear their life jackets every time they step on a boat and especially during times of high water,” said Kara Owens, DNR boating safety specialist.

A no-wake zone is currently in effect on the St. Croix River from Taylors Falls to Prescott. The Minneapolis locks on the Mississippi River are closed to recreational traffic. High water has been declared on Lake Minnetonka.

“High water levels mean a fast and strong moving current, which many boat operators and swimmers are not used to, and that can create dangerous situations,” Owens said.

The swift current also makes it more difficult for even an experienced swimmer to swim or stay afloat if their boat or canoe capsized.

Boaters should also be aware with high water more debris is in the water.

“Debris will often float just at or below the surface. Hitting a log at high speed could result in anything from a broken propeller to a ruined lower unit — or worse, serious injuries to those who wanted to enjoy a day on the water,” said Owens.

So far this year, one person has died in a boating accident and six people have drowned in Minnesota.

Owens said 10 lives could be saved in Minnesota each year if people just wore their life jackets.

The DNR recommends these safety tips for boaters:

- Wear a U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket.
- Do not overload the boat.
- If boat capsizes, try to re-board or stay with it until rescuers arrive.

- Go boating with a friend. Boating safety increases with numbers.

- Tell someone the boating destination and planned return time.

MINNESOTA POLLUTION CONTROL AGENCY (MPCA)
PUBLIC NOTICE OF INTENT TO ISSUE A NATIONAL POLLUTANT DISCHARGE ELIMINATION SYSTEM (NPDES)/STATE DISPOSAL SYSTEM (SDS) PERMIT

Draft Permit Number: MN0065901

Applicant: Will Sampson Five Star Dairy, LLC
P.O. Box 466 Arlington, MN 55307
Public Notice Issued: June 5, 2014

Last Day to Submit Comments: July 7, 2014

Description of Permitted Facility:
Five Star Dairy - Site is located at the SW ¼ of Section 24, Dryden Township, Sibley County, Minnesota

Five Star Dairy LLC (Permittee) has applied for a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES)/State Disposal System (SDS) Permit to expand and operate an existing feedlot located in the SW ¼ of Section 24, Dryden Township, Sibley County, Minnesota (Facility). The Facility currently has coverage under a NPDES/SDS permit that authorizes the Permittee to house, in total confinement barns, 1,350 head (1,890 animal units (AU)) of mature dairy cows over 1,000 pounds, and 50 head (50 AU) of mature dairy cows under 1,000 pounds. Manure and process wastewater produced at the facility is stored within earthen lined liquid manure storage areas (LMSA) prior to land application to surrounding cropland. The Facility is currently permitted to house a total of 1,940 AU.

The Permittee is proposing to construct a feed storage area to store more than 1,000 tons of sweet corn silage as feedstock for the animals at the Facility. In conjunction, the Permittee is proposing to construct an additional earthen lined LMSA for storage of leachate and precipitation generated runoff from the existing and proposed feed storage areas. Finally, the Permittee is proposing to construct a permanent manure stockpile site with runoff directed to the proposed LMSA. No increase in animal number or animal units is proposed. The final capacity of the Facility will remain unchanged at 1,940 AU.

The MPCA has tentatively decided to issue the NPDES/SDS Permit, described above, for a term of approximately five years. A draft permit is available for review at the address listed below.

Insects on the loose: What's in your garden

By Jeffrey Hahn
Extension Entomologist

There are a variety of insects that are active now and could be in your garden. When you are inspecting your garden for pests, keep an eye out for these insects.

Flea beetles are very small, 1/16th - 1/8th inch long. They are usually dark colored although some can have red or yellow on them. An easy way to identify flea beetles is that they can jump. Flea beetles attack a variety of vegetables, including beans, broccoli, cabbage, potatoes, squash, and radish. Flea beetles chew shallow pits and small holes into leaves. This feeding can be particularly damaging to seedlings and cole crops.

Colorado potato beetles overwinter as adults and start to lay eggs in the spring. The adults are broadly oval in shape with yellowish to cream colored wing covers with ten thin black stripes.

The larvae are pinkish with a humpbacked larva body. Both the adults and larvae feed on the leaves of not only potatoes but also eggplant, tomato, pepper, and similar plants. Potato tubers can be adversely affected when defoliation is severe. Also watch for four-lined plant bugs. They overwinter as eggs and emerge in the spring as small bright red immature insects (nymphs) with black wing pads. They eventually turn into yellow green insects with four black stripes. Four-lined plant bugs use their piercing-sucking mouthparts to feed on the foliage of a wide variety of plants including perennials. Their feeding causes a series of small, dark, shallow pits on the leaves. Fortunately, this feeding normally does not kill the plant although it can affect its appearance.

USDA Announces Changes To Fruit, Vegetable And Wild Rice Planting Rules

Farm Service Agency (FSA) has announced fruit, vegetable and wild rice provisions that affect producers who intend to participate in certain programs authorized by the Agricultural Act of 2014.

Producers who intend to participate in the Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) or Price Loss Coverage (PLC) programs are subject to an acre-for-acre payment reduction when fruits and nuts, vegetables or wild rice are planted on the payment acres of a farm. Payment reductions do not apply to mung beans, dry peas, lentils or chickpeas. Planting fruits, vegetables or wild rice on acres that are not considered payment acres will not result in a payment reduction. Farms that are eligible to participate in ARC/PLC but are not enrolled for a particular year may plant unlimited fruits, vegetables and wild rice for that year but will not receive ARC/PLC payments for that year. Eligibility for succeeding years is not affected.

Planting and harvesting fruits, vegetables and wild rice on ARC/PLC acreage is subject to the acre-for-acre payment reduction when those crops are planted on either more than 15 percent of the base acres of a farm enrolled in ARC using the county coverage or PLC, or more than 35 percent of the base acres of a farm enrolled in ARC using the individual coverage.

Fruits, vegetables and wild rice that are planted in a double-cropping practice will not cause a payment reduction if the farm is in a double-cropping region as designated by the USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation.

MCGA encourages corn farmers to plan ahead for propane needs

Even though harvest season is months away, the Minnesota Corn Growers Association (MCGA) is encouraging farmers to plan ahead for their propane needs.

Last winter, farmers and homeowners were hit hard by a propane shortage caused by several factors, including sub-zero temperatures, record propane exports and the closing of the Cochin pipeline. MCGA staff have been meeting with industry representatives and state agencies who are working on strategies to try and prevent a similar shortage this winter.

"It's absolutely essential that farmers plan ahead for their propane needs," said MCGA President Ryan Buck. "There's a good chance that the days of having propane delivered as you need it during harvest - something farmers had been used to before last year - are over for the foreseeable future."

Corn farmers use propane to operate grain dryers that dry the harvested kernels. If the corn crop comes in wet, it must be dried for storage to prevent rot. If a farmer doesn't have access to propane to run the dryer, harvesting is slowed or stops altogether.

"Farmers need to be ready for another shortage and plan accordingly, especially if we're hit with another wet fall and colder-than-normal winter," Buck said. "As best you can, address your anticipated propane needs for the fall harvest right now. I know that's difficult since we have no idea how wet this year's crop will be, but we need to be thinking about it."

Farmers needed more propane than usual for drying last year because the corn crop was wetter than normal, something that happens about once every five years. But reasons for the shortage extended well beyond a wet corn crop.

The Cochin pipeline had supplied 36 percent of Minnesota's propane, but was out of service for several weeks last winter and now carries oil from Canada's tar sands instead of propane.

Because of this, rail demand for propane delivery has also spiked dramatically. Some estimates have the number of rail cars necessary to meet Minnesota's propane needs rising from 200 to 4,200 per year after the re-routing of the Cochin pipeline. Bad winter weather significantly slows down rail service.

Additionally, more propane is being exported to other countries than ever before.

City of Green Isle
2013 Drinking Water Report

The City of Green Isle is issuing the results of monitoring done on its drinking water for the period from January 1 to December 31, 2013. The purpose of this report is to advance consumers' understanding of drinking water and heighten awareness of the need to protect precious water resources.

Source of Water

The City of Green Isle provides drinking water to its residents from a groundwater source: a 832-foot-deep well that draws water from the Mt. Simon aquifer.

The Minnesota Department of Health has determined that the source(s) used to supply your drinking water is not particularly susceptible to contamination. If you wish to obtain the entire source water assessment regarding your drinking water, please call 651-201-4700 or 1-800-818-9318 (and press 5) during normal business hours. Also, you can view it on line at www.health.state.mn.us/divs/eh/water/swp/swa.

Call 507-326-3901 if you have questions about the City of Green Isle drinking water or would like information about opportunities for public participation in decisions that may affect the quality of the water.

Results of Monitoring

No contaminants were detected at levels that violated federal drinking water standards. However, some contaminants were detected in trace amounts that were below legal limits. The table that follows shows the contaminants that were detected in trace amounts last year. (Some contaminants are sampled less frequently than once a year; as a result, not all contaminants were sampled for in 2013. If any of these contaminants were detected the last time they were sampled for, they are included in the table along with the date that the detection occurred.)

Key to abbreviations:
MCLG - Maximum Contaminant Level Goal: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
MCL - Maximum Contaminant Level: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
MRDL - Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level.
MRDLG - Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal.
AL - Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirement which a water system must follow.

90th Percentile Level - This is the value obtained after disregarding 10 percent of the samples taken that had the highest levels. (For example, in a situation in which 10 samples were taken, the 90th percentile level is determined by disregarding the highest result, which represents 10 percent of the samples.) Note: In situations in which only 5 samples are taken, the average of the two with the highest levels is taken to determine the 90th percentile level.

pCi/l - PicoCuries per liter (a measure of radioactivity).
ppm - Parts per million, which can also be expressed as milligrams per liter (mg/l).
ppb - Parts per billion, which can also be expressed as micrograms per liter (g/l).
nd - No Detection.
N/A - Not Applicable (does not apply).

Contaminant (units)	MCLG	MCL	Level Found		Typical Source of Contaminant
			Range (2013)	Average /Result*
Alpha Emitters (pCi/l)	0	15.4	nd-4.4	5.35	Erosion of natural deposits.
Combined Radium (pCi/l)	0	5.4	1.6-4.2	4.55	Erosion of natural deposits.
Fluoride (ppm)	4	4	.5-1.1	.95	State of Minnesota requires all municipal water systems to add fluoride to the drinking water to promote strong teeth; Erosion of natural deposits; Discharge from fertilizer and aluminum factories.
Haloacetic Acids (HAA5) (ppb)	0	60	N/A	1.7	By-product of drinking water disinfection.
TTHM (Total trihalomethanes) (ppb)	0	80	N/A	3.2	By-product of drinking water disinfection.

*This is the value used to determine compliance with federal standards. It sometimes is the highest value detected and sometimes is an average of all the detected values. If it is an average, it may contain sampling results from the previous year.

Contaminant (units)	MRDLG	MRDL	*		Typical Source of Contaminant
Chlorine (ppm)	4	4	.73-1.44	1.15	Water additive used to control microbes.

*Highest and Lowest Monthly Average.
Highest Quarterly Average.

Contaminant (units)	MCLG	AL	90% Level	# sites over AL	Typical Source of Contaminant
Copper (ppm) (06/16/2011)	1.3	1.3	.36	0 out of 10	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits.
Lead (ppb) (06/16/2011)	0	15	4.7	0 out of 10	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. City of Green Isle is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Monitoring may have been done for additional contaminants that do not have MCLs established for them and are not required to be monitored under the Safe Drinking Water Act. Results may be available by calling 651-201-4700 or 1-800-818-9318 during normal business hours.

Compliance with National Primary Drinking Water Regulations

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:
Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1 800-426-4791.
