SE bond sale to save taxpayers $6 million

By Karin Ramige Cornwell
Publisher

After months of legal battles, the Sibley East School District was able to sell the $42,350,000 in bonds to finance the new building project.

The bond sale took place on Wednesday, June 10 and the lowest bidder was Piper Jaffray & Company of Minneapolis at a true interest rate of 3.56 percent, .76 percent lower than the 4.25 percent originally estimated before the November election.

The lower interest rate prices will result in at least $6 million in savings to district taxpayers.

The Sibley East School Board unanimously approved the sale of the bonds to Piper Jaffray and Company at a special meeting held Wednesday evening, June 10.

The tax impact for a homeowner with a house valued at $150,000 will be a $237 increase per year, 19 percent lower than the $293 increase estimated in the fall of 2014 prior to the election.

Homesteaded agricultural properties valued at $500,000 will see the tax increase decline to $511 per year, $120 lower than the original estimate.

The increase on non-homesteaded agricultural land valued at $5,000 per acre will decrease 19 percent from $11.61 to $9.40 per acre.

Commercial or industrial property tax impact on properties valued at $250,000 will decrease from $986 per year to $799.

The bonds can be refinanced after 10 years (2025) giving the district an opportunity for additional savings.

The bond market is just as volatile as any other financial market. Over the last year, the market was highest in July 2014 at 4.38 percent and at the lowest point on Jan. 16, 2015 at 3.29 percent.

The bond sale was originally scheduled for Jan. 15, 2015, but was postponed due to an ongoing legal battle.

The sale will close on July 7. Sibley East will receive $43,045,471.01. The money will be invested and have the opportunity to gain additional interest on the investment.

The district will pay $21,971,192.74 in interest costs over the 25-year life of the bonds at the current interest rates.

The Sibley East School Board will hold its next regular monthly meeting in Arlington at 6:30 p.m. Monday, July 20.

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Monday night, June 15, unanimously approved a motion to approve the purchase of an Elgin Pelican street sweeper from Mac Queen Equipment, Inc., St. Paul.

The cost, including an $18,750 trade-in, will be $162,897. The city received three bids overall. The street sweeper will arrive in August.

The City Council made the move after a recommendation from the Streets Committee which includes Streets Superintendent Tony Voigt and City Council members Jim Hei-

The City Council had budgeted $180,000 in the Capital Improvement Fund for the purchase of the new street sweeper, according to City Administrator Liza Donabauer. It was purchased under state contract pricing.

Stop Sign

The City Council unanimously approved the installation of a stop sign at the intersection of Henderson Road and First Avenue South.

The City Council made the move after a recommendation from Police Chief Cory Danner and Voigt.

DEAR BEAUTIFUL

I wish I was the one next to you, holding you and loving you, but I am not!

I lost more than my best friend, I lost the love of my life!

Thank you for loving a man like me,
and making my life complete!

God has let me be here to write this to you!
I am so blessed He has given me this time to be with you!

He has a plan for each and everyone!

I had hoped ours was together, but now I get to look from the outside and truly see what we have lost!!

I lost my best friend, the love of my life!
That God so graciously blessed me with and let me touch and hold you! That is you, Beautiful!

And again, so very sorry! The loss is ours to live with!
Now I get to write to you and not hold you!

But the love we have for each other will keep me going! It has to!

Thank You for loving Me, BEAUTIFUL.

LOVE YOU GOOD LOOKING

Judge sanctions attorney for 'frivolous' claims in tribal land dispute issues

A judge has sanctioned a prominent Minnesota attorney for "frivolous" claims in a long-running dispute over tribal land, according to an article on the Minnesota Public Radio website.

Attorney Erick Kaardal represents a group of Mde-wakanton Sioux who sought to oust a Native American tribe and several dozen landowners from 12 square miles in southwestern Minnesota, according to the article. Their ancestors sat out of the Dakota War in 1862, and Congress set aside land rewarding them for their loyalty. But that land was later turned over to tribal property.

Joe Halloran said his clients, the Lower Sioux Indian Community, are relieved that the case was dismissed, given all that it was seeking.

"It would eject the tribe and all of its members from the reservation homeland," Halloran said. "You can imagine it was pretty upsetting to the community and its members."

Chief U.S. District Judge

Michael Davis wrote this week that the claims were so frivolous "that they had to have been brought in bad faith," according to the article. He ordered Kaardal to pay for the defendants' attorney fees, which could amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Kaardal didn't immediately return a call seeking comment, according to the article.

Kaardal has represented rural Gaylord resident Nathan Kranz in his matters with the Sibley East Public Schools.

4 motorcyclists are killed during 4-day period in Minnesota

Our View: Motorists are reminded to be extra alert to keep motorcyclists safe

Four motorcyclists have been killed in crashes within a four-day period around Minnesota, according to the Minnesota State Patrol.

With spring about to end and summer officially right around the corner, motorcyclists are out and about at an all-time high sharing the highways.

Over half of all motorcycle accidents are single vehicle crashes in Minnesota, according to the Minnesota State Patrol. Some of the primary factors involved in these crashes are driver inexperience, speeding, alcohol and no protection.

Nationwide, 25 percent of motorcycle operators killed in crashes are not licensed or are improperly licensed to operate a motorcycle.

Speeding, whether on a motorcycle or in an automobile, is always dangerous.

Driving a motorcycle also requires more skill and coordination than driving most other vehicles and impairment, even at lower levels, diminishes judgment and motor skills greatly.

Unlike automobiles, one reason motorcyclists are killed is that motorcycles provide virtually no protection. Nationwide, 80 percent of reported motorcycle crashes result in injury or death. A comparable figure for automobiles is only 20 percent.

Helmet use is extremely important since serious head injuries are common among fatally injured motorcyclists. Helmets are about 37 percent effective in preventing motorcycle deaths and about 67 percent effective in preventing brain injuries, according to statistics provided by the Minnesota State Patrol.

All motorists are also reminded to safely share the road with motorcycles and to be extra alert to help keep motorcyclists safe. In addition, motorcyclists are reminded to make themselves visible to other motorists.

"This year," she explained, pointing to the roller coaster's warning signs, "I can read."

Senator Newman explains special session

To The Editor,

On June 12, Governor Mark Dayton called a special session in order for the legislature to take action on five budget bills he vetoed at the end of the regular legislative session.

Below is a list of those bills and the action taken during the special session.

Legacy - Passed

- Pro: Appropriates over $300M in FY 16 and $200M in FY 17 for Outdoor Heritage, Clean Water, Parks and Trails, and Arts and Cultural Heritage. These funds are constitutionally dedicated and generated from the three-eighths of one percent sales tax adopted from the 2008 constitutional amendment.

- Con: Continued government acquisition of land may put additional pressure on local governments due to the reduction in tax base and increases pressure on the general fund to provide local governments payment in lieu of taxes.

Jobs and Energy - Passed

- Pro: Enacts Rural electric coop disaster relief provisions comparable to Municipal electric power plants and appropriates money to a variety of state agencies such as the Departments of Employment & Economic Development, Housing Finance, Tourism, Labor and Industry and the Public Utilities Commission.

- Con: Spends $391M from the General Fund which is $18.5 million more than the bill vetoed by Governor Dayton.

Environment and Agriculture - Passed

- Pro: Repeal of the Citizens Review Board within the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency allowing a more business-friendly environment; Protections against penalties levied by the PCA for voluntary self-reporting; PCA and MMB cost analysis of water quality standard required; provides $16.5M for avian flu response that has devastated the rural turkey and associated industries.

- Con: Provides 1.8 percent increases across all agencies as recommended by the Governor.

Education - Passed

- Pro: Increases the per pupil base funding by two percent each year for a total increase of $346.3M in per pupil revenue, an increase local school districts strongly supported.

- Con: $1.4 billion increase over current biennium; significant increases in pre K school funding, an area that remains controversial as to its long term benefits, rather than a larger increase in per pupil formula as requested by local school districts; no equity funding reform (urban school districts receive approximately $3,000 more per student on the general formula than rural schools); No significant policy reforms in the areas of teacher tenure, licensing, dismal graduation rates for urban schools or school choice.

Bonding - Passed

- Pro: Provides funding of $373M in bonding, which is a fairly small sum considering Minnesota's overall bonding limits. Funding includes: disaster relief for the flooding that occurred in Minnesota in June 2014; Funding for a poultry testing lab in Willmar and a Veterinary isolation facility for the University of Minnesota in response to the avian flu crisis. Bonding authority for MnDot for local roads and bridges; Lewis and Clark Water Authority.

- Con: As is the case with all bonding bills certain projects that are arguably not of regional or statewide significance get included. However, in this bill such "earmarks" are for the most part absent.

As I have stated throughout the regular session, I am very uncomfortable with the drastic budget increases we have experienced over the last several sessions. The budget increased $4.4 billion from FY12-13 to FY14-15 and will increase an additional $2 billion between FY14-15 to FY16-17 for a total of $41.8 billion. This increased rate of spending is unsustainable and detrimental to Minnesota and its economy.

In addition, I am troubled by this special session and the way in which these final budget bills were created. During the regular session, the legislature went through the process of passing legislation that it felt balances the interests of all Minnesotans. As is his constitutional right, the Governor then vetoed certain spending bills at the end of session. However, without any corresponding constitutional authority, he then effectively assigned to himself the role of Chief Legislator and refused to call a special session to reconsider the vetoed bills unless the legislature agreed to his rewrite of the bills. With this game plan, he removed the entire legislature from the legislative process. There were no committee hearings or public input for the new versions of these budget bills. Members of the legislature had no opportunity to offer bills, amendments, input or otherwise represent their constituents because the legislature is powerless to act unless the Governor calls it into special session.

This "Chief Executive Legislative Process" would seem to be at a minimum, a violation of the spirit of the Separation of Powers doctrine and contradicts the constitutionally defined democratic process. Minnesotans are entitled to a republican form of government and that has not in full measure been provided to them during this special session. There are valid reasons why the Executive and Legislative branches of government are required to be separate. The more we allow those lines to be blurred, the less our Constitution is able to protect us from an overreaching government or chief executive. As always, I invite you to contact me with your thoughts, questions, or concerns.

Gruenhagen provides updates on special session

To The Editor,

The legislature held our one-day special session Friday and into the early morning hours on Saturday to pass the budget bills vetoed by Governor Dayton and complete the 2016-2017 budget. I am disappointed that the Governor forced us into this situation by vetoing bipartisan bills. The Governor chose not to get involved in the legislative process until the very end, and tried to force his agenda through in a special session. Republicans stood strong against the Governor's demands and were able to pass real reforms that are going to be good for Minnesota. The Jobs and Energy bill and the Agriculture and Environment bill both respect taxpayers by cutting spending while still investing in Greater Minnesota priorities like workforce housing, broadband, and job training. It also provides much-needed relief for avian flu. It also makes environmental permitting reforms that cut red tape and burdensome regulations. The Jobs and Energy bill includes unemployment assistance for laid off steelworkers on the Iron Range and poultry workers impacted by avian flu as well.

I voted against the Education bill because it simply doesn't do enough to promote school choice especially for low income and at-risk students many of whom are trapped in failing schools. It also doesn't include other reforms that will make a difference for the achievement gap.

I was also disappointed that it did not include the Safe Schools and Privacy bill which would have protected student privacy and required that bathrooms, showers, and locker rooms in a school be separated based on an athlete's biological sex. There is also a sales tax deferral in the education bill for our municipalities and counties. I am pleased that additional funding was included on

Dayton fights for a better outcome for MN

By Ken Martin
Chairperson
Minnesota DFL

At the end of the 2015 legislative session, Governor Mark Dayton vetoed three bills because he knew they could be better. After the conclusion of the special session, we can appreciate Gov. Dayton's actions; his vetoes did improve the bills.

Because of Governor Dayton's leadership, Minnesota's E-12 education system will see an additional $525 million in funding. Every classroom in the state will benefit from this funding. Governor Dayton was also successful in securing additional funding for early learning initiatives, English language learners and American Indian students.

The Governor's veto of the environment bill provided better environmental protections. In addition to securing landmark buffer legislation that will significantly improve water quality in rivers and streams by preventing pollution from entering our waters, Gov. Dayton fought against indefinite amnesty for polluters, weakening water quality standards and delaying essential environment reviews.

Under the jobs and energy bill, Gov. Dayton secured funding to help provide job opportunities for Minnesotans with disabilities as well as funding to help people with mental illness so they won't experience homelessness.

While Governor Dayton worked with legislators to produce these positive outcomes, it's disappointing to know that with a $1.9 billion surplus, legislators could have done so much more. Instead of building on the gains Governor Dayton and DFL legislators made for all Minnesotans during the last state budget, Republicans left almost $1 billion on the bottom line in hopes of returning to the Capitol in 2016 to provide tax giveaways to corporations.

Republicans also failed to keep their campaign promises to residents of rural communities. While they ran on reinvesting in government spending, not increasing taxes and having an understanding of "family budgets," they did the exact opposite. They passed the largest budget in state history, put $30 million in tax increases into the education bill and refused proposals ranging from free preschool for all 4-year-olds to freezing college tuition that would have had a direct impact on middle-class families' wallets.

Newspapers in rural communities were not shy about calling out Republicans for their actions. In April, the Fargo Forum said, "They campaigned one way, but are legislating another." Days later the same paper reported, "The members of the Republican Majority, who campaigned on helping rural and small-city Minnesota, seem to have forgotten their promise." In May, the Rochester Post-Bulletin brought attention to the Republicans' action, calling it a "shameless divide-and-conquer strategy."

As legislators attend community events this summer, I encourage Minnesotans to let Republicans know citizens are setting high expectations for the 2016 session. With $1 billion on the bottom line, they must fund the priorities most important to working Minnesotans and work with Governor Dayton and DFL legislators to create an even better Minnesota for all Minnesotans.

SCHS promoting Father's Day special

The Sibley County Historical Society is promoting a Father's Day Special at the museum. Any father or grandfather, accompanied by a child, will be given free admission to the museum in Henderson on Sunday, June 21.

It may be fun to take a guided tour of the building's contents and learn a bit of Sibley County history. The artifacts date from the late 1800's to the early 1900's. There will probably be items that people have never seen before from early agricultural equipment, tools, military items, to name a few. The main display this year is "All About 4-H." Most of these items are on loan, starting from 1936 to the present.

The next meeting of the Sibley County Historical Society will be held at the Courthouse Annex in Gaylord at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 23. The topic will be "A snapshot of 4-H and County Fairs" by speaker Jason Wurtz.

Wurtz has traveled to all Minnesota County Fairs in one year and has been to the Sibley County Fair five times. He states, "4-H and Open Class exhibiting needs to be documented and encouraged to continue for many reasons: the sense of community it creates, the economic and social value it brings to the towns hosting the events and the sense of American History it promotes." He relates about his research, documentation and unpublished photos during his presentation.

In other news, the museum will be open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 21 and 28.

Due to the fact that all of the guides are usually busy elsewhere during holidays, an executive decision has been made to close the museum on Sunday, July 5. It will open again on Sunday, July 12, 19 and 26.

Genealogy research requires an appointment. Call the museum or check the website at www.sibleycountyhistoricalmuseum.com for charges and more information.

There are still a few copies left of the book, "Remembering Sibley County Country Schools."

From all indications there will be a good crop of pheasants this year. The broods are larger than usual, a sign that most of the young survived the rigors of the early spring weather. This means that hunting will be good next fall.

A heavy wind and electrical storm struck this section at about midnight Monday. Some shade trees and telephone poles were blown down, but the damage as a whole was not great. Enough rain fell to be of some benefit to crops and pastures.

Archie Battcher, local aviator, was summoned to Belle Plaine early Sunday morning to aid in searching for two-year-old Robert Gregory, who disappeared from the farm home of his parents at about 7:30 the night before. Mr. and Mrs. Battcher left Arlington by plane immediately after the summons at about 4 o'clock and spent more than an hour cruising at a low altitude in the vicinity where the lad disappeared. Gregory was finally located at about 6 o'clock in the woods about 80 rods from the home. He was unharmed and, aside from a few scratches on his face, appeared none the worse as the result of his night out. A posse of 100 men spent the night searching for the boy.

Senior Liz Thies places 41st in the state golf tournament

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Sibley East senior Liz Thies placed 41st during the Minnesota State Class AA Girls Golf Tournament at the Ridges at Sand Creek near Jordan on Tuesday, June 9 and Wednesday, June 10.

Thies shot a 42 on the front nine and a 43 on the back nine during the first day. She started the state tournament with a memorable birdie on hole number one.

"Liz played exceptionally well from tee to green on the first day, but had a few mishaps with her short game that didn't allow her to shoot in the 70s," said Sibley East head coach Mike Feterl.

She fired a 45 on both the front nine and back nine during the second day.

"The second day Liz had some adversity making the turn from 18 to one. She tripled both holes," said Feterl. "We had to have a little discussion like we have had a few other times in her career, and after that, she showed such perseverance and ended up shooting 45 on the front with a triple and two double bogeys. She played the last four holes only one over par with a birdie on number seven."

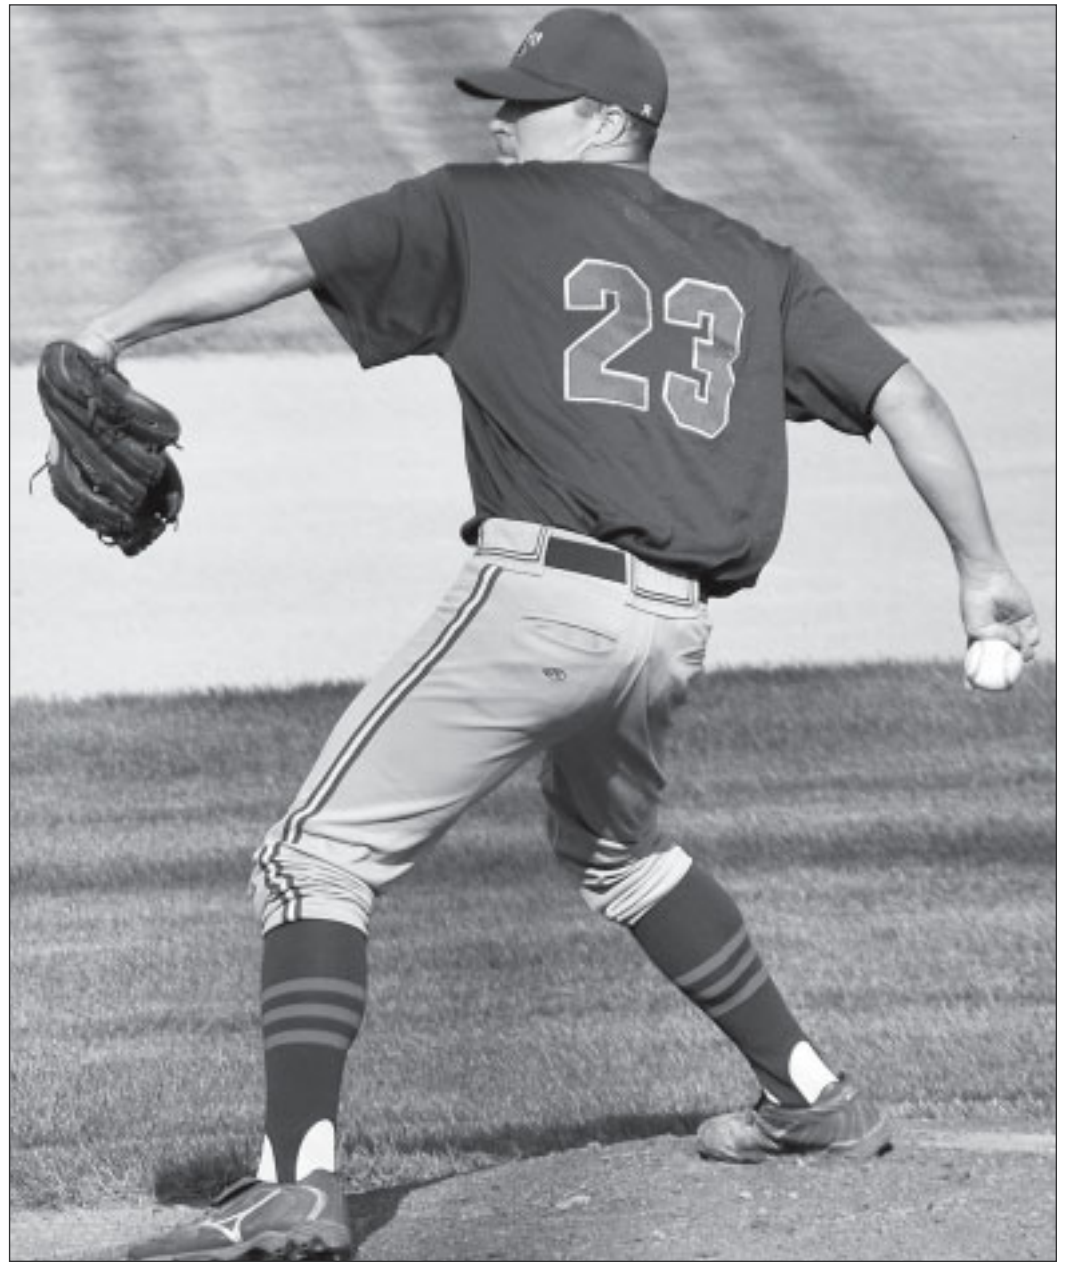

Thies finished a total score of 175 during the state classic.

"I can honestly say Liz was right there with the top golfers in the state from tee to green," Feterl said. "With a little better short game play, Liz easily ranks in the top 20. There aren't many girls in the state tournament with the length off the tee that Liz possesses."

Feterl added, "I cannot express the appreciation I have for Liz Thies. She has not only had an outstanding golf career which includes two all conference selections, Conference Most Valuable Player, subsection champion, section champion, academic all state, and winner of the MWGA $12,000 scholarship. Her high school resume is remarkable."

She is the daughter of Brian and Rose Thies, Green Isle.

Utility Shed Construction

The Sibley East Agriculture Department had the unique opportunity to build a utility shed on site at the Dale Stern residence in Arlington. "This was a great experience for students because they had to plan and implement from start to finish," said Sibley East teacher Tim Uhlenkamp. "They planned the design, worked with inspectors, put in concrete and built the shed. It took almost two school years to complete because of the winters and teaching that goes along with building construction. This was a wonderful project and we are very thankful for the patience and support of the home owner and surrounding neighbors." Left to right: Austin Padgett, Logan Rhode, Lukas Messner, Jake Wentzlaff, Trevor Tuman, Nolan Herd and Riley Messner. Many other students worked on the project, but were unable to be there for the picture.

The annual "Music Under The Stars" concert, featuring musicians from all around the community, will be held at Peace Lutheran Church in Arlington at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 28.
Janice Lehmkuhl, who is coordinating this gathering of local talent and an evening of Christian music, said this year's concert will showcase some new people along with returning groups.

"We've developed some nice relationships with people who performed at our very first concert five years ago and we love having that continuity every year," said Lehmkuhl. "This year the Norell family will be joining the program for the first time and that's going to be a special treat. Sometimes a visiting artist happens by and this year pianist Robert Clark will be in the area, so we've invited him to play for us as well."

Admission is free, but there will be a free-will offering.
The mood will change following the concert as refreshments and more musical entertainment will follow in the fellowship hall.
"That should be a fun time with more piano, a little banjo music, and maybe a surprise or two," said Lehmkuhl.

Blessings

Sing to God, sing praises to his name; lift up a song to him who rides through the deserts; his name is the Lord; exult before him! Father of the fatherless and protector of widows is God in his holy habitation.
