By Kurt Menk
Editor

A ribbon cutting ceremony and celebration for the Prairie Line Trail from the City of Arlington to the Arlington Sportsmen's Park will be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 26.

The ribbon cutting ceremony will be held at Four Seasons Park which is the beginning of the trail at 5 p.m. This ceremony will recognize the work of the Sibley County Commissioners, Sibley County Public Works Department, Prairie Line Trail Committee and the contractors on the project.

Following the ceremony, participants are encouraged to walk/ride/run the trail to Sportsman's Park where hot dogs, chips and water will be served.

The Sibley County Sheriff's Department will be on hand with a canine demonstration. There will be horseshoes, bean bags and possibly an impromptu baseball game at the newly renamed Dan "Buck" Thomes Field.

People are then encouraged to return to Four Seasons

Park where there will be a pop up splash pad sponsored by the Arlington Fire Department. In addition, there will be freezies for the kids, demonstrations by area police departments on bike safety and other activities.

The current Prairie Line Trail Committee members are retiring after 10 years and a new committee will need to take over the next phase of the trail. The next phase is currently projected to connect Gaylord and Arlington. Interested people who would like to become a member of the Prairie Line Trail or assist in fundraising for the construction of the regional trail are encouraged to contact Tim Dolan at 507-351-9900.

Arlington City Council accepts Paint The Town grant

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Monday night, Aug. 17, unanimously approved a motion to accept the award of the "Paint The Town" grant from the Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation.

Under the conditions of the grant, the Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation will provide $375 for paint while the Community Center Committee will expend budgeted money to bring in artist Lana Beck for assistance. In addition, the City of Arlington will provide volunteers to paint two murals in the Community Center.

The first mural will be a "Welcome to Arlington" arch in the hallway of the Community Center. The arch will be six to eight feet across and the entire height of the ceiling. People will be able to take pictures in front of this mural. Under the painted archway will be images that represent Arlington like a water tower, trees, parks and community along with a welcome message in script painted across the top of the arch. In addition, it will serve as a tourist attraction or a stopping point for travelers and guests in Arlington.

The second mural will be of a baseball. Since Arlington is a baseball community, the large baseball will be thematic and interactive.

Waive Policy

The City Council unanimously approved a motion to approve a request from the Sibley County Fair Board to waive a portion of the electrical service line and meter policy and move a transformer at the Sibley County Fairgrounds in Arlington.

In addition, the City Council made the move for a community non-profit group and for safety reasons.

The cost to move the transformer will be around $3,950 in addition to about $250 in electrical upgrades. The City Council budgets $30,000 each year for electrical upgrades.

Sibley County Fair Board members Dennis Van Moorlehem, Mike Scharping and Bruce Froehlich made the request to the City Council during the first regular meeting in August.

Other Action

The City Council unanimously approved a motion to approve an hourly rate to $9 for the part-time library assistant and the part-time cleaner at the Community Center and Senior Citizens Building.

Dorothy Brockhoff places 3rd in national bowling tournament

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Arlington resident Dorothy Brockhoff placed third in the Age 75 & Above Division during the 2015 USBC Senior Bowling Championships in Green Bay on Thursday, Aug. 6 and Friday, Aug. 7.

Brockhoff qualified for the Senior Bowling Championships after she captured the State Senior Championship in the Women's 75 & Over Division at New Ulm last October. That tournament was sponsored by the Minnesota State USBC Association.

Brockhoff, who has been bowling over 50 years, did not consider going to Green Bay for the event. Her sister, JoAnn Kroells, pushed her to go.

"It was because of her that I went," said Brockhoff. "She was my designated driver."

Brockhoff practiced at the Ashwaubenon Bowling Alley on Wednesday, Aug. 5. The bowling alley featured 60 lanes.

She bowled three games on Thursday, Aug. 6 and was listed in ninth place. There were over 50 bowlers in her division.

After three more games on Friday, Aug. 7, Brockhoff had moved into second place.

The top six bowlers qualified to roll three more games in the finals at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 7.

Brockhoff bowled those three games and placed third with a total score of 1,953 in the division.

Sue Howard, a resident of Mountain City, Tenn., captured top honors with a total score of 2,052.

Viola Forrest, a resident of DeWitt, Ark., placed second with a total score of 1,981.

"It was just amazing to be there," said Brockhoff. "The whole time there we kept hearing age is only a number."

Brockhoff said winning third place in a national tournament did not hit home until she returned to Arlington and realized it was a big accomplishment.

"All in all it was a wonderful experience," said Brockhoff, who owns DJ's Shoes & Repair in downtown Arlington.

The Senior Championships is a national event for bowlers who have qualified through their state's senior tournament. This year's event featured more than 400 participants in the various divisions from across the United States and Canada vying for a share of a prize fund of more than $40,000.

Deputy will not be facing charges

A McLeod County Sheriff deputy involved in a shooting at the Kwik Trip in Norwood Young America on April 17 will not be facing any charges, according to a news release from the Carver County Attorney's Office.

Carver County Attorney Mark Metz announced last week that his office will not file charges against McLeod County Deputy Matthew Wyatt; however, 23-year-old Michael Montgomery, who was involved in the altercation with Wyatt, will be charged with felony assault on a peace officer and misdemeanor driving under the influence.

According to the attorney's office, the altercation occurred about 2:40 a.m. on April 17 outside the Kwik Trip in Norwood Young America. Wyatt, who had just gotten off duty and was on his way home, tried to deter Montgomery from driving while under the influence. A physical altercation ensued, and Wyatt shot Montgomery once through the arm., resulting in a non-fatal injury.

"After a thorough and independent investigation, it became clear that no reasonable person could conclude that under these circumstances the police officer was not justified under Minnesota law in shooting the individual," said Carver County Attorney Mark Metz. "After meeting with numerous witnesses, including Deputy Wyatt, and evaluating the credibility of witnesses and the evidence, there is no doubt the deputy conducted himself lawfully and in accordance under Minnesota law regarding reasonable use of force."

Metz said that an outside agency, the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension (BCA) conducted the extensive investigation, which included numerous witness statements, photographic and video evidence, medical reports and crime scene analysis. The county attorney's office also hired an independent expert in police use of force cases to review the shooting and provide an objective opinion. The expert concluded the shooting under these circumstances was justified under Minnesota law.

According to the criminal complaint, Wyatt, who lives in St. Paul, was on his way home from Glencoe after his shift ended at 2 a.m. and stopped at the Kwik Trip to get gas, coffee and food.

In the store, he saw Montgomery, who was apparently intoxicated. A clerk commented to Wyatt that she hoped the defendant would not get in his vehicle. Wyatt told the clerk he would keep an eye on Montgomery.

Montgomery's car was parked near the main entrance to the gas station. According to the complaint, Wyatt approached the car and asked how things were going. Montgomery then said he was sorry, put the car in park and said he would walk home. However, he left the car running with the door open, and Wyatt believed he would try to return to the car and drive. Wyatt then tried to stop the defendant by holding his arm, and called 9-1-1 to summon the Carver County Sheriff's Office.

Montgomery then allegedly started a physical altercation with Wyatt, and "body slammed" Wyatt into the pavement. At one point during the altercation, Montgomery allegedly tried to choke Wyatt, and repeatedly slammed his head against the pavement.

Wyatt remembered that he had a small Glock in a holster, drew and attempted to shoot Montgomery, who was on top of him, but the gun did not discharge. Wyatt then used the gun to strike at Montgomery, who eventually began to move off of Wyatt. Wyatt apparently was able to get the gun reloaded and fired at Montgomery once, hitting him in the fleshy part of his arm. Montgomery then allegedly ran to a nearby bar.

Wyatt was taken by ambulance to the Ridgeview Medical Center, where he was treated for a concussion and other injuries. Montgomery also received medical treatment of his injuries.

According to the complaint, Wyatt is still suffering from "residual effects of this beating, including pain in his neck, a sore rib and some memory issues."

Montgomery is due to appear in Carver County District Court on Sept. 4 at 8:30 a.m.

Governor Dayton wants to bail out Lake Mille Lacs resort owners

Our View: It's a thoughtful gesture, but the wrong action for a number of reasons

Minnesota Governor Mark Dayton and the Legislature, a few months ago, approved special funding for turkey farmers hit by the avian flu.

Now Governor Dayton wants to call a special session and have the Legislature provide a bailout for Lake Mille Lacs resort owners who have been hurt by the state shutting down the walleye season.

"Government exists to serve the people and when people are, through no fault of their own especially, put in dire straits, that's when our government needs to be as responsive as it can be," Governor Dayton said in a recent Star Tribune article.

That's a thoughtful gesture, but it is easy to spend other people's money.

It also sends a precedence to other businesses who might endure a hardship. Should the state bail out snowmobile businesses during a year without much snow? Should the state help businesses who struggle for a period of time due to a road construction project? Where is it going to end?

In addition, it sends the wrong message to businesses across Minnesota that state government will always be there to help out.

Furthermore, businesses that expect a bailout will more often than not take risks because the state government will be there to rescue them.

A woman dining out summoned her waiter and requested that the air conditioner be turned down.

Minutes later, the same woman was fanning herself, and she again

As her complaints continued, a man seated at the next table beckoned the waiter.

"She must be driving you crazy," he said, "making you turn the air conditioner up and down like that."

"Not at all," the waiter replied. "We don't have an air conditioner."

When a storm suddenly blew in at sea, a young woman, leaning against the ship's rail, lost her balance and was thrown overboard.

Immediately another figure plunged into the waves beside her and held her up until a lifeboat rescued them. To the astonishment of everyone, the hero was the oldest man on the voyage - an octogenarian.

That evening, he was given a party in honor of his bravery. "Speech, speech!" the other passengers cried. The old gentleman rose slowly and looked around at the enthusiastic gathering. "There is just one thing I would like to know," he said testily. "Who pushed me?"

Letter To The Editor

Letter writer defends newspaper editor

To The Editor,

In last week's Enterprise, a letter writer suggested that the editor of the Arlington Enterprise was "left-leaning in his cartoons and comments." The letter writer has a right to his opinion of course. However, in this day and age we have many labels or monikers for people. Left, right, liberal, conservative, moderate. Pretty hard not to cross a line at sometime. As to the cartoons, they are just that cartoons, they should be taken with a little humor. Laughter is the best medicine.

Franken to support the Iran deal

Al Franken
U.S. Senator

After careful review, I have decided that I will vote in support of the agreement the United States and our international partners reached with Iran last month.

It's not a conclusion I came to lightly. Since the deal was announced, I've consulted with nuclear and sanctions experts inside and outside government; Obama administration officials, including Energy Secretary Ernest Moniz; ambassadors from the other countries that negotiated alongside us; advocates for Israel on both sides of the issue; my constituents in Minnesota; and, of course, my colleagues in the Senate.

Many have expressed reservations about the deal, and I share some of those reservations. It isn't a perfect agreement.

But it is a strong one. This agreement is, in my opinion, the most effective, realistic way to prevent Iran from getting a nuclear weapon anytime in the next 15 years. It does so by imposing a series of physical limits on Iran's nuclear program, especially its production of the fissile material it would require to make a bomb. The agreement's verification provisions are extremely strong: 24/7 monitoring of, and unfettered access to, Iran's nuclear sites and ongoing surveillance of Iran's nuclear supply chain.

That means: In order to make a nuclear weapon in the next 15 years, Iran would have to reconstruct every individual piece of the chain -- the mining, the milling, the production of centrifuges, and more -- separately and in secret. The regime would have to run the risk of any of these steps being detected by international inspectors or our own comprehensive intelligence efforts. It would risk losing everything it gained from the deal, and the re-imposition of sanctions.

You don't have to trust the regime's intentions to understand the reality it would face: Attempting to cheat on this agreement would carry an overwhelming likelihood of getting caught -- and serious consequences if it does.

We'll still have work to do to diminish the threat Iran poses to our national security and the safety of our allies in the Middle East, beginning with Israel. As sanctions are lifted, the non-nuclear threat to the region may grow, and we'll need to bolster our support to regional counterweights such as Saudi Arabia, and increase our support of and cooperation with Israel, accordingly. And, of course, we'll need to maintain our terrorism-related sanctions, which are unaffected by the deal.

But there's no doubt in my mind that this deal represents a significant step forward for our national security.

It's worth noting that many of the restrictions in the deal expire after 15 years -- leading some to express concerns about what might happen in year 16.

There will still be major checks on Iran's nuclear program after that date, including continued heightened monitoring and permanent, specific prohibitions on several of the steps necessary to build a bomb. Iran must never, ever have a nuclear weapon -- and we will still have every option we currently have, up to and including the use of military force, to prevent that from happening.

But we also must begin now to make the case to the world that the danger posed by an Iranian nuclear weapon will not expire in 15 years -- and remind Iran that, should it begin to take worrisome steps, such as making highly enriched uranium as that date approaches, we stand ready to intervene.

That said, we don't know what the world will look like in 15 years. As long as this regime holds power, Iran will represent a dangerous threat to our security. But it's possible that, by 2031, Iran may no longer be controlled by hard-liners determined to harm our interests. More than 60 percent of Iran's population is under the age of 30. These young Iranians are increasingly well-educated and pro-American.

We don't know how this tension within Iran will work out. But we do know that backing out of a deal we've agreed to will only embolden the hard-liners who insist that America cannot be trusted.

Indeed, while critics have eagerly pointed out what they see as flaws in the deal, I have heard no persuasive arguments that there is a better alternative. All the alternatives I have heard about run the gamut from unrealistic to horrifying.

For example, some say that, should the Senate reject this agreement, we would be in position to negotiate a "better" one. But I've spoken to representatives of the five nations that helped broker the deal, and they agree that this simply wouldn't be the case.

Instead, these diplomats have told me that we would not be able to come back to the bargaining table at all, and that the sanctions regime would likely erode or even fall apart, giving Iran's leaders more money and more leverage -- and diminishing both our moral authority throughout the world and our own leverage.

And, of course, Iran would be able to move forward on its nuclear program, endangering our interests in the region -- especially Israel -- and making it far more likely that we will find ourselves engaged in a military conflict there.

Some critics seem to lust after such a conflict, with one of my colleagues suggesting that we should simply attack Iran now, an exercise he believes would be quick and painless for the United States. But this is pure fantasy, at least according to what our security and intelligence experts tell us. And it's certainly not the lesson anyone should have learned from the disastrous invasion of Iraq.

In March, 47 of my Republican colleagues took the unprecedented step of sending a letter to Iran's leaders just as these sensitive negotiations were nearing an accord. It was a clear attempt to undermine American diplomacy -- and a signal that they would oppose any deal with Iran, no matter its terms.

It's not surprising that these critics now oppose the finished deal. But it is disappointing that they refuse to acknowledge, let alone take responsibility for, the dire consequences that would almost certainly result from killing it.

Diplomacy requires cooperation and compromise. You don't negotiate with your friends; you negotiate with your enemies. Indeed, no one who's for this deal has any delusions about the nature of the Iranian regime, any more than American presidents who made nuclear arms agreements with the Soviet Union had delusions about the nature of the

The work of placing the poles for the electric line from Arlington has commenced. We understand the Henderson Light & Power Co. will furnish light and power to many farmers along the line from Arlington to Henderson. The company will expend about $20,000 to complete the line, including installation in Henderson.

Dick Harjes of Washington Lake township received a herd of twenty-one blooded Holstein cows and heifers last week, which he purchased from a dairy farm at West Concord, Minn. The herd is well bred into the Holstein strain and will be a fine addition to Mr. Harjes' large farm. Last Thursday night he shipped a carload of his common herd to So. St. Paul to make room for the Holstein herd.

Reports from those who threshed indicate that the wheat crop is averaging the same as last year, from 10 to 15 bushels to the acre, fall wheat going a little better. The oats crop is a good one. Corn is suffering from the drought and the ears are not filling out as they should. The sweet corn was hit hard by the drought but the pack this year will amount to considerable just the same. The late variety corn would benefit greatly if we had a little rain.

The superstructure of St.

Paul's Lutheran Church of Green Isle, will be dedicated to the service of the Triune God on August 27. St. Paul's congregation of Green Isle was organized in November 1924. The following year it built a basement which was to serve as a place of worship until it felt they would be able to erect the superstructure. In 1945 the congregation felt that the time had come when they could complete the structure. A building committee was appointed and planning began. Much work was done by the committee and in September of 1949 building operations for the 35 x 75 foot structure were begun with Ed Pinske of Plato as the contractor. It has a normal seating capacity of 250. It is of Indiana brick and tile.

Repts on the extent of the damage by the frosts last weekend seem to vary, but there is evidence that much of the corn and soybeans in this area was touched. However many of our farmers think that with a prolonged spell of warm weather both crops will still turn out very well.

communist regime there.

For a long time, it has looked like our only options when it came to Iran would be allowing it to have a nuclear bomb or having to bomb the country ourselves. This agreement represents a chance to break out of that no-win scenario.

And to take the extraordinary step of rejecting it -- because of clearly unrealistic expectations, because of a hunger to send Americans into another war, or, worst of all, because of petty partisanship -- would be a terrible mistake.

Accident at wastewater plant in Belle Plaine takes the life of city employee Jerry Connolly

Belle Plaine Public Works employee Jerry Connolly was found dead Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 5 at the city's wastewater treatment plant, according to an article in the Belle Plaine Herald. Investigators believe he drowned in an oxidation ditch within the plant facility, according to Belle Plaine Police Chief Tom Stolee.

Police and staff from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration

(OSHA) were at the plant Thursday conducting a preliminary investigation, trying to determine how Connolly entered the ditch in the center of the facility grounds. City Administrator Holly Kreft said the preliminary OSHA report indicates no problem with the facility's safety systems. The final autopsy report is due late this month.

Investigators are not certain when Connolly fell into the ditch, Kreft said. Connolly interacted with co-workers during the lunch hour Wednesday. Members of the city staff did not see him that afternoon until his body was found at 5:05 p.m., she said.

Connolly typically spent his workday at the plant. He worked alone unless a task required the assistance of a co-worker or he needed to leave the facility for a job related reason, Kreft said.

Deer lottery application deadline set for Sept. 10

Firearms and muzzleloader hunters who want to harvest antlerless deer throughout much of Minnesota this hunting season are reminded they must purchase their license and apply for an antlerless permit by Thursday, Sept. 10, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources said.

Antlerless deer permits are issued by lottery in designated permit areas. Some areas that have not been in the lottery classification in recent years are in that classification this year, primarily as a result of new deer population goals.

"Hunters should review the hunting and trapping regulation book now," said Leslie McNenly, big game program leader with the DNR. "The lottery applies to over half of the state permit areas this year, and it's important to start planning for the season."

Hunters who want to participate in special firearm deer hunts also need to apply for permits that are issued by lottery, and the application deadline is Sept. 10. More information on deer permit areas and special hunts is in the DNR hunting regulations handbook, found online at www.mndnr.gov/hunting/deer.

Good planning helps area hunters avoid trespassing

The August Canada goose hunt is underway in Minnesota, and the Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters to respect landowners and not trespass.

"The trespass law applies to all outdoor recreation, including hunting, boating, fishing, trapping, hiking and camping," said Col. Ken Soring, DNR Enforcement director. "When taking part in any outdoor recreation, you may not enter legally posted land or agricultural land without permission." It is also a violation to enter land that has been legally posted during the calendar year, even if the signs are not currently in place.

Trespass is the biggest problem landowners have with hunters.

"It is critical for hunters to have good relationships with landowners, especially when you consider that in some parts of the state about 95 percent of the land is privately owned," said Soring. "By outdoor recreationists making it a standard practice to always seek permission and respect 'no trespassing' signs, those relationships will improve."

Landowners, lessees or authorized managers need only post their land once a year. The signs must be placed at intervals of 1,000 feet (500 feet in wooded areas) or signs may be placed at primary corners of each parcel and at access points to the property. Signs must state "No Trespassing," or similar words, in 2-inch high letters and have either the signature or the name and telephone number of the landowner, lessee or manager.

Trespassers can face civil or criminal penalties and have their license privileges revoked. "The maximum fine is up to $3,000 and license revocation," said Soring.

Soring noted that all conservation officers and peace officers enforce trespass laws. He also noted there are laws regulating the retrieval of game from private property.

"A person on foot may, without permission, enter land that is not posted to retrieve a wounded animal that was lawfully shot, but may not remain on the land after being told to leave," said Soring.

There are other exceptions as well:

A person on foot may, without permission, enter private land without a firearm to retrieve a hunting dog. After retrieving the dog, the person must immediately leave the premises. This exception does not authorize the taking of a wild animal.

A person on foot may, without permission, enter land that is posted with "Walk-In Access" signs.

A successful hunt begins with careful planning, Soring said. "There are many things to consider when planning a hunt, such as: What safety protective gear will you need? What's the right gun or the right bow for your game? What are the weather conditions? Where can you legally hunt?"

Helpful hints to stay legal and safe can be found in the 2015 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook at: <http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/regulations/hunting/index.html>.

Gruenhagen encourages applications for broadband grants

State Representative Glenn Gruenhagen, R-Glencoe, is encouraging cities, counties, businesses, non-profits, and other eligible applicants to consider applying for a grant to continue the expansion of Minnesota's broadband infrastructure. Applications must be received by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 15. The grants are available as a part of $10.58 million for the Border-to-Border Broadband Development Grant Program approved by the legislature and signed into law by Governor Dayton in June.

Eligible applicants include incorporated businesses or partnerships, political subdivisions, Indian tribes, Minnesota non-profits, cooperative associations and limited liability corporations. Broadband projects must be located in unserved or underserved areas. According to the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) website <http://mn.gov/deed/programs-services/broadband/grant-program/>, an unserved area "is an area of Minnesota in which households or businesses lack access to wire-line broadband service at speeds that meet the FCC threshold of 25 megabits per second download and 3 megabits per second upload." An underserved area "is an area of Minnesota in which households or businesses do receive service above the FCC threshold but lack access to wire-line broadband service at speeds that meet the state broadband goals of ten to 20 megabits per second download and five to ten megabits per second upload."

"This is a great opportunity for communities, businesses, and other organizations to bring reliable broadband access to areas that need it most," Gruenhagen said. "Broadband is a critical tool for economic development, and is a boost for schools, businesses and families in Greater Minnesota."

Full details and application materials can be found on the DEED website at <http://mn.gov/deed/programs-services/broadband/grant-program/>.

Gruenhagen encourages anyone with questions, or anyone who would like assistance with their application or a letter of support to contact his office by calling 651-296-4229 or emailing rep.glenn.gruenhagen@house.mn.

These women were the top four winners in the adult division of the Bake N' Taste Contest during the Sibley County Fair. Left to right: Royla Borchert (first place), Ella Johnson (second place), Rosie Kauffman (third place) and Charlene Pelletier (fourth place).

Winners selected in Bake N' Taste Contest

The 18th annual adult division of the Bake N' Taste Contest was held at the Sibley County Fair in Arlington on Thursday, July 30.

This year's Bake N' Taste baked item was "Make It With Rhubarb."

The winners were Arlington resident Royla Borchert (first place), Gaylord resident Ella Johnson (second place), Arlington resident Rosie Kauffman (third place) and Winthrop resident Charlene Pelletier (fourth place).

The judges were Bruce Froehlich, Galen Wills and Tracy Johnston.

The following are the recipes from the top four place winners.

Rhubarb Delight Royla Borchert - first place

Mix:
1/2 lb. butter
2 tbs. sugar
2 cups flour
Press into bottom of pan.
Bake 10 minutes at 325 degrees.

Mix:
8 cups rhubarb, chopped
1/4 tsp. salt
8 egg yolks
2 cups sugar
2/3 cup flour
1 cup cream

Beat egg yolks well and mix together with sugar, flour and cream. Put rhubarb in pan over crust and pour over the batter mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes.

Topping: MERINGUE
8 egg whites
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1 tsp. vanilla
3 tbs. water
pinch of salt
1 cup sugar
Mix egg whites, water, salt and cream of tartar. Beat well and slowly add sugar. Mix a long time, then add vanilla. Bake in 350 degree oven for 10-15 minutes.

Rhubarb Upside Down Cake
Ella Johnson - second place

Bake at 325 degrees in a greased 9 inch round pan for 60 minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean.
Stir Together:
1/4 cup melted butter
3/4 cup brown sugar
2 tsp. fresh squeezed orange juice
Spread mixture in pan and top with:
3-4 cups chopped rhubarb
1 tsp. orange zest

Cake:
1/2 cup softened butter
1 cup sugar

2 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups cake flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup milk
2 egg whites
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
Cream butter and sugar.

Add yolks and vanilla. Alternately mix in dry ingredients and milk. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar to form stiff peaks. Gently fold into cake batter. Spread batter over rhubarb. Bake. Cool slightly and then carefully turn out onto platter. Enjoy with whipped cream or ice cream!

Rhubarb Custard Pie Rosie Kauffman - third place

3 eggs
3 tbs. milk
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 tbs. quick cooking tapioca

pastry for double crust pie (9")
4 cups diced rhubarb
2 tsp. butter or margarine
In a mixing bowl beat eggs lightly, blend in milk. Combine sugar and tapioca, stir into egg mixture. Place bottom pastry in a pie plate. Add the rhubarb. Pour egg mixture over rhubarb. Dot with butter. Cover with top pastry. Make slits in top for steam to escape. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes longer or until lightly browned. Cool on wire rack. Store in Refrigerator. 6-8 servings.

Patriotic Rhubarb Pie Charlene Pelletier - fourth place

Pie Crust
4 cups chopped rhubarb
4 cups strawberries
1 cup blueberries
1 cup sugar
4 tbs. tapioca
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Place pie crust in 9" pie pan.

Mix blueberries and 1/2 cup rhubarb with 1 tbs. tapioca and 1/4 cup sugar. Pour into top left corner of pie pan.

Mix strawberries and remaining rhubarb, sugar and tapioca and pour into the remaining 3/4 of pie pan. From remaining pie crust slice strips and cut stars and place over the top of the pie to look like a flag. Brush with milk and sprinkle sugar on top. Bake for 45 minutes or until bubbly and crust is golden brown.

Mayer cows appear in new Kemps commercial

Have you seen the new Kemps commercial?

Cows from Curt and Joni Hedtke's dairy farm in Mayer are the stars, singing "The secret of Kemps, it's the cows."

Debi Pool of Animal Talent Pool contacted the Hedtkes about the commercial opportunity in April, according to an article in the Herald Journal.

"They were looking for cows that were halter broken, and for a red barn," Curt said.

The family sent Pool photos of their cows, which have been shown at the Carver County Fair and Minnesota State Fair. Not long after, a representative from Kemps' production company, Blue 60, traveled to see them in person.

The Hedtke cows made the cut, and on May 13 (filming day), about 30 to 40 people showed up at the farm.

A half-black, half-white

Holstein named Belinda was selected for still shots. For two hours, Belinda was photographed in various poses against a 20-foot screen backdrop. Belinda's photo is now on a billboard on Highway 494, and is being used for other promotional materials, such as "photo bombing" people's pictures on the Kemps Facebook page.

Three other cows were filmed for the commercial. "They filmed in five places, and each place had about 25 takes," said Chris Hedtke.

In one part of the commercial, the three cows appear to be singing. "We had to give them some feed, so they'd be chewing," Curt said.

About a month later the Hedtkes began seeing it on the morning news. The ad appears on all four local news stations, and can also be seen on YouTube and the Kemps site.
