School Board tables action on floors again

By Amy Newsom Correspondent

The Sibley East School Board, during its regular monthly meeting in Arlington on Tuesday night, Jan. 22, voted to table a decision on the concrete floors at the Sibley East Middle School/High School in Arlington.

Preston Eurle of RA Morton presented three options to the school Board: to continue to grind the ramp area of hall 1020 and entire area of hall 1060, to remove the existing slab and repour or repolish, or to accept the proposed $25,000 credit from Evenson Concrete Systems, Inc.

Eurle recommended that the Board accept the $25,000 credit. He said Sibley East Maintenance Supervisor Bob Pichelman performed the testing of the concrete depth by drilling 11 holes to test for a depth of 3.5 inches for structural support. Eurle said 10 out of the 11 came back ok for structural integrity. As part of the credit, Evenson would patch the joints that were in need of repair.

Former School Board members Dan Woehler spoke up and said while visiting businesses about Choose Arlington, several of the business owners commented on the condition of the floors, and felt that if the school spent millions of dollars on the school it should have decent looking floors.

School Board member Laura Reid was concerned that if they pull up the floors they could end up with something worse than they have now. Board member Avery Grochow also voiced his concerns with the look of the floors.

Eurle said with the exception of hallway 1020, the rest of the floors meet expectations of what polished concrete is meant to deliver. He said polished concrete has variables and that there will be variations.

School Board Chairperson Brian Brandt responded that they have been "disappointed from the start and we're going to continue to be disappointed." He stated what they were looking for was what the school in New Ulm has.

Eurle admitted that in hindsight, they would not have gone with that contractor. Brandt stated that they would not have gone with the polished concrete floors.

School Board member Sarah Ziegler asked if the School Board could meet with the architects again. Eurle said the architects agreed with the decision to accept the $25,000

School Board members directed School District Attorney Tony Nerud to do more research on whether it makes sense for the school to fight the contractor over the floors. Nerud and Superintendent Jim Amsden will do a follow-up meeting with Eurle, the architects, and site project manager Michael Beach to see if there are any other options. In other news, during discussions on funding for maintenance projects at the Arlington pool, Reid suggested asking the City of Arlington for a larger contribution to keep the pool in Arlington.

Petterson would like to see the drop off bin located in a secure and attended location which could be the entrance to the local police station.

Price lowered on TSE building

By Kurt Menk Editor

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Tuesday night, Jan. 22, voted 4-0 and approved a motion to lower the price on the former Technical Services for Electronics (TSE) building located along Highway 5.

The price was originally set at $175,000 and then $170,00. It was currently priced at $149,900. The price will now be $99,999.

The City Council made the move after a recommendation from the Arlington Economic Development Authority (EDA).

Now that other local commercial buildings have been sold, Arlington EDA Director recently analyzed and compared those prices to the price of the former TSE building. She reported that the $149,900 price was very high and suggested that the EDA lower the price. The EDA, in turn, unanimously approved a motion to lower the price to $100,000.

Noise Testing

City Administrator Pat Melvin reported that the City of Arlington expects to receive a report on the noise testing results at Northland Drying sometime later this week. The noise testing results will be shared at the next meeting.

Possible single garbage hauler in City of Arlington appears to be a dead issue

By Kurt Menk Editor

The Arlington City Council, during its regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Jan. 22, discussed a possible single citywide hauler for residential garbage and refuse in the City of Arlington. The possible move was raised by City Council member Tom Hatlestad at the previous regular meeting.

The City Council learned from a sanitation company representative that the possible single garbage hauler would not necessarily result in lower costs to local residents.

According to Sibley County regulations, a single garbage hauler with a contract in a community is required to haul the refuse to a specific landfill which could result in higher costs. Multiple haulers in a community have the flexibility to haul the refuse to a landfill of their choice.

City Council member Jim

Heiland favored the current system which gives local residents a choice between three haulers. He also said some residents currently bring their garbage for disposal at their local business. Under a single hauler proposal, these residents would be required to have a garbage container at their home too. He added that there is not a burning need from the public to make a change.

City Council member Michelle Battcher said a single hauler proposal would add some cost and time for the administration in regard to billing each month. She also favored a choice between the three haulers.

City Council member Adam Cowell said the move would create a lot of change to many people.

There was no official vote, but the issue appeared to be dead after the discussion.

Give Kids A Smile Program to provide free dental care for hundreds of children in Sibley County

Gustafson Family Dentistry will be sponsoring their annual Give Kids A Smile event on Friday, Feb. 1 at their clinic to provide underserved children with free dental serv-Nearly one in four children under the age of five already has cavities, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Many children enrolled in Medicaid receive no dental services throughout the year.

Give Kids A Smile is held annually to:

- Provide free, easily accessible dental services to qualifying individuals.
- Raise awareness of the epidemic of untreated dental disease occurring locally and nationally and create local public and private partnerships to increase access to oral health care to solve this

The Minnesota Dental Association has been hosting Give Kids A Smile events for several years in the area as a way to provide free dental care to local children who desperately need it. These events have provided free care to many children that otherwise would have had significant out of pocket

The ADA Foundation's Give Kids A Smile program was launched nationally in 2003 as a way for dentists to join with others in the community to provide dental services to underserved children. Each year, about 350,000 to 400,000 children benefit from more than 1,500 events, all because of the efforts of 40,000 or more annual volunteers nationwide.

The high volume of patients participating in charitable clinics like Give Kids A Smile highlights a clear gap between those with and without good dental health. Considering that oral health is connected to total health, financial barriers to care should be of major concern to the leaders of our state. As it stands now, the Medicaid system that provides for children is underfunded despite the presence of a provider tax on doctors, dentists, and chiropractors in the state.

This year's event will be held at Gustafson Family Dentistry, 106 Third Avenue Northwest, Arlington. The event will begin at 8 a.m. and is open to all patients under the age of 18. Appointments are first-come first-served and expected treatment will included cleanings, exams, xrays, fluoride treatments, sealants (if applicable). Other restorative and surgical procedures may be completed if time allows. Please call Gustafson Family Dentistry at 507-964-2705 to schedule an appointment.

Theft suspect interrupted by passing pedestrian

By Kurt Menk Editor

Suspicious activity was observed in the east parking lot at Brau Motors in Arlington at 4:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 21, according to the Arlington Police Chief John Petterson.

A passerby reported seeing a shadow of a male crouched between the two Silverado trucks and when "startled" the male walked away from the vehicles and headed to the alley, according to Petterson. The first witness walked into Snap Fitness and reported his observations to two other residents who were leaving Snap Fitness. The two other witnesses curious about the suspicious activity drove to the

Brau Motors parking lot area where they observed a light colored Suburban/Yukon style of SUV speeding away from

This information was reported to Brau Motors and the Arlington Police Department, according to Petterson. It was found that the parties had stolen one Wrangler tire/rim from the rear driver side axle of a 2019 Chevrolet Silverado and had the second wheel/rim loosened and almost removed.

The Arlington Police Department has collected evidence including surveillance video from a business in town and identified a light colored GMC YUKON as the suspect vehicle, according to Petterson. A notice was sent to surrounding agencies which identified Courtland had a similar theft over the weekend as well. The combination of evidence information has developed a suspect name and a similarly associated vehicle related to the Arlington, Courland and additional thefts in Brown County a few months

The loss to Brau Motors for the tire and rim is estimated under $1,000, according to Petterson. Courtland officials estimated the loss from their theft at just under $10,000. The investigation is pending and charges will be filed jointly with Nicollet and Brown County.

Football playoffs again plagued by bad referee calls

Our View: Coaches and players should decide the outcome of games not referees

A good referee or official is one who goes unnoticed after a game is completed. That did not happen in the National Football League conference championship games last Sunday. The referees were front and center, especially after the Los Angeles Rams were handed a win over the New Orleans Saints.

With the score tied at 20-20 with 1:49 left in regulation, the Saints faced a third-and-10 play from the Los Angeles 13-yard line. New Orleans quarterback Drew Brees dropped back and threw a pass to Saints wide receiver Tommy Lee Lewis. Los Angeles defensive back Nickell Robey-Coleman obliterated Lewis well before the ball arrived. It was an obvious pass interference penalty to the 73,000plus fans in the stands and Millions of tv viewers. Robey-Coleman even acted like a player who had just committed a stupid penalty at a critical time in the game. The Saints should have received a new set of downs with the ability to run down the clock, eventually kick the potentially game-winning field goal and advance to the Super Bowl. The referees, in one of the worst no-calls in NFL history, did not throw a flag which angered the home fans and many tv viewers across the country. A helmet-to-helmet penalty should have been called on the same play too. New Orleans was forced to kick a field goal and went ahead 23-20, but eventually lost 26-23 in overtime.

The no-call was so bad that the league office literally called New Orleans head coach Sean Payton after the game to apologize about it, but that didn't change the outcome as the Rams will now advance to the Super Bowl on Sunday, Feb. 3.

The no-call pass interference and helmet-to-helmet penalties were not the only blown calls during the game. The referees also missed an obvious face mask penalty on the Saints earlier in the game. In the New England and Kansas City game later that evening, the referees threw the flag on a fanthom roughing the passer play.

Referees and officials are only human and are going to miss some calls in all sport and at all levels, but it is the blown calls on obvious penalties that decide the outcome of games that are difficult to ac-

The NFL has never been a proactive league. They always seem to wait until bad things happen until it changes a rule. Well, blown calls are getting to be the norm and not the exception in big playoff games the last couple years. The NFL, before next season rolls around, needs to step up and addresss this problem and allow the coaches and players to decide the outcome of games and not the referees.

Gruenhagen gives update on legislative session

To The Editor,

Earlier last week, I joined fellow House Republicans at a press conference to urge Governor Walz and House Democrats to drop their plan to raise health care costs by reinstating the sick tax—a tax levied on most patient services in Minnesota, including things like baby deliveries, chemotherapy treatments, routine doctor visits, emergency room visits, and more.

The tax is set to expire in 2020 thanks to bipartisan legislation passed by a Republican-controlled legislature and signed into law by Governor Dayton in 2011.

I am surprised that Democrats insist on reinstating this tax—one that increases health care costs for Minnesotans by over $600 million a year-after they spent all summer and fall promising folks on the campaign trail that they would lower costs. Simply put, you can't make health care cheaper by unnecessarily taxing it to the tune of $600 million a

The $600 million per year sick tax makes even less sense when you consider the state currently has a $1.5 billion budget surplus. Instead of reinstating this regressive tax that punishes Minnesotans and their families for being sick, we should focus on free-market solutions that will lower costs.

Democrats are trying to make the case that funds collected from the sick tax are needed to provide health care and other services to vulnerable Minnesotans. What they fail to mention is that the Health Care Access Fund, the fund to which this revenue is collected, can meet current obligations through the end of the coming budget cycle.

Furthermore, with a $1.5 billion budget surplus and by eliminating waste and fraud in our public programs, coupled with reining in the dramatic inflationary increases in our Health and Human Services budget, we can ensure that services are there for those who need it without increasing health care costs on every Minnesotan that goes to the doctor.

I will continue to oppose this unnecessary tax that makes health care more expensive for all of us.

That's all for this week's update. I urge you to contact me if you have any legislative questions, concerns, or ideas. I can be reached by phone at 651-296-4229 or via email at rep.glenn.gruenhagen@house.mn.

By Lee H. Hamilton

were men and women who were adept at the arts both of politics and legislating — a rarer combination of talents than you'd hope for in our representative democracy. They're a reminder these days of what consummate skill looks like.

For instance, Wilbur Mills, a Democrat from Arkansas who chaired the House Ways and Means Committee, was a master of legislative detail. When he brought changes to the tax law to the floor, members of the House of both parties would simply ask him questions, rather than challenge him, because his grasp of the internal revenue code was so overwhelming. When Mills was on the floor, it was never really an equal de-

The same held for Jim Wright of Texas and Hale Boggs of Louisiana, also both Democrats. They were great orators with vibrant, unique voices that drew audiences to the House floor and galleries simply to hear them. They seldom referred to notes, but I suspect they practiced the chuckle in the right place, the extended pause at the perfect moment. They were masters at using humor as an effective weapon to counter an opponent and deflect critics.

Edith Green, a Democrat from Oregon, served ten terms in the House from the mid-'50s to the mid-'70s. She specialized in education and was a potent force behind Title IX, the 1972 law that did so much to end sex discrimination in education. Green, too, was a highly effective none for himself. He had a bedrock when the time was right to wage it. She paved the way for many talented women who followed her.

Charlie Halleck of Indiana and H.R. Gross of Iowa, both Republican, were parliamentary masters. I often saw them block or delay measures I personally supported, and had to admire their skill at stalling, slowing down or just plain defeating legislation by the adroit use of just the right parliamentary maneuver.

Meanwhile, John Anderson of Illinois served as the principal Republican voice at a time when the GOP was in the minority. He was a powerful debater, took delight in verbal combat, and was often the lone voice against an onslaught of speakers from the majority party. He spoke forcefully, and out of a genuinely deep devotion to the nation that made plain his ideals.

You couldn't call Tip O'Neill, the legendary Speaker of the House from Massachusetts, a great orator. But he was a truly great politician. He had a knack for putting people at ease, calming tensions, and softening debates. He made everyone in the room feel as though they were all in it together - whatever the "it" was that O'Neill was focused on.

Mike Mansfield, the Senate Majority Leader from Montana, had similar gifts. He was easily the most popular man in Congress during the years he served: he was decent, humble, fair-minded, and he spread credit to everyone around him while taking

But those I truly admired but who also had a keen sense of to make the process work — even dealing with the difficult egos you could find in the Senate.

I routinely watched Senators Hubert Humphrey, a Democrat from Minnesota, and Jacob Javits, a Republican from New York, come into a meeting, quickly grasp the issues, speak to them forcefully and right to the point, and then move on to their next meeting — on an entirely different issue — and give the same performance. Their ability to jump from agriculture to nuclear proliferation to health care to education — all in the course of a few hours — was astounding.

Finally, Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma somehow managed to unite both northeastern liberals and southern conservatives in his party. They were opposed to one another in ideology and culture, yet Albert often reconciled the irreconcilable with grace and insight. He spent hours listening patiently to people, trying to understand their points of view, patch things up, and find even the tiniest plot of ground for consen-

Does shoveling snow increase the risk of heart attacks during winter?

By David Larson, MD, Ridgeview Medical Center Emergency Physicians and Consultants, P.A.

It is that time of year again in Minnesota when we start to get those heavy, wet snow falls (or as we say, a "heart attack snowfall"). It seems that every year we see or hear reports of someone having a heart attack while shoveling snow. Is there really an increased risk of having a heart attack from shoveling snow?

A recent Canadian study did suggest that there is an association between shoveling and heart attacks in men over 50 who have cardiovascular risk factors, (such as smoking, high blood pressure, or elevated cholesterol, a history of prior cardiovascular disease or in those who lead a sedentary life style.

Why does this occur?

Snow shoveling is a demanding, cardiovascular exercise. Heavy lifting with the arms causes a rapid rise in blood pressure and heart rate (just like going full speed on a treadmill). Also, working in cold weather can cause constriction of blood vessels which can reduce oxygen supply to the heart muscle. This combination can put a great deal of stress on the heart. If you are healthy and young, this may not be an issue. But if you have a history of heart failure, high blood pressure, previous known coronary artery disease or are not used to exercising, you may be at risk. If you fall into this category it might be prudent to hire a young neighbor to clear your driveway, especially with large, heavy snowfalls.

Can you reduce your risk of a heart attack when shoveling?

If you still want to do it yourself, here are a few tips to help reduce your risk:

Start with light exercise before you begin shoveling. This will warm up your muscles and increase your heart rate gradually.

Avoid shoveling right after a heavy meal.

Don't drink alcohol before or immediately after shovel-

Use a small shovel or consider a snow thrower (pushing a heavy snow thrower can also be strenuous).

Dress in layers to avoid hypothermia (low body temperature) or overheating. Keep your head and neck covered to prevent excessive heat loss. Consider wearing a face mask, especially in extremely cold temperatures or if you have a history of angina or lung problems.

Take frequent warm up breaks (e.g., every 15-30 min-

Donald Marvin Teschendorf, 73, of Glencoe, passed away at the Oak Terrace

Health Care Center Gaylord on Wednesday, Jan. 9.

Funeral services were held, at the Johnson-McBride Funeral Chapel in

Amber Picha was the flutist

Glencoe American Legion Post No. 95 provided military honors.

Shawn Ball, Tyler Ball, Cody Ratcliffe, Kenny Ruble, Kendall Picha, and Zach Picha were the casket bearers. Interment will be at the Arlington Public Cemetery at a later date.

Donald Marvin Teschendorf was born in Gaylord on Sept. 9, 1945. He was the son of Marvin and Melva (Brockoff) Teschendorf. Pastor John Bradtke baptized Donald as an infant at the Albert Teschendorf home on Sept. 30, 1945. Pastor H. J. Molatky later confirmed Donald in his faith as a youth at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Green Isle on June 7, 1959. Donald graduated from the Arlington-Green Isle High School on May 28, 1963. He was drafted Dec. 15, 1965, and was honorably discharged Oct. 16, 1967.

Donald was married to Mary Jo Nelson in Waynesville, Mo., on June 21, 1966. They made their home in Glencoe. His life was blessed with three children, Sharon, Lori and Tammy.

Donald worked as a semitruck driver the majority of his life. He spent 25 years driving truck for Quast Transfer in Winsted. He worked for a couple of different trucking companies before changing gears to working as a valet attendant at Mystic Lake Casino in Prior Lake. After retiring, he worked at Security Bank & Trust Company in Glencoe.

Donald was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Arlington before transferring to First Evangelical Lutheran Church in Glencoe on April 26, 1970. During his last few vears at the Oak Terrace Health Care Center in Gaylord, he attended weekly Bible study classes led by Pastor Scott Richards of St. Paul's and Trinity Lutheran Churches of Gaylord.

Donald was a jokester and comedian. He loved to talk to everyone, no matter where he was or who they were. He had his daily routines of breakfast with coffee uptown, getting a couple dollars of gas so he could go in and talk to the attendant and everyone else that followed. From there he would go to the grocery store and purchase a day's worth of food. He would be at the store for hours and only to return with a couple of items. He was ecstatic when the Family Dollar came to Glencoe so that he could stop in and make that also a daily spot. He later incorporated Burger King in for supper if he didn't have evening plans. He would end each day with a sweet treat of some sort, of which he loved ice cream.

Donald loved a good card game of sheepshead or 500. He enjoyed going to a casino during the evening hours to play slot machines and again enjoyed all the different people he could talk to. Auctions were a big part of early years. He loved negotiating. He would always come home with his "good finds." Lastly, he was never, ever on time. He always wore a watch but never lived by the time. He was always on Teschendorf

Donald is survived by his daughters, Lori Teschendorf (Kenny) of Glencoe and Tammy Ball (Shawn) of Monticello; grandchildren, Cory Teschendorf, Cassandra Teschendorf, Cody Teschendorf, Conway Teschendorf, Samantha (Sammy) Ball and fiancée Cody (Road Kill) Ratcliffe and Tyler (Bud) Ball; mother, Melva Teschendorf of Gaylord; brothers, Kenneth (Bonnie) Teschendorf of Glencoe, William (Janet) Teschendorf of Alexandria; sister, Sandy (Richard) Schwope of Green Isle; second family, Kendall, Jean, Tyler, Amber, Zachary and Tyler Picha; former spouse and now a good friend, Mary Jo Nelson; nieces; nephews; other relatives; and friends.

Louis, was the editor of the Arlington Enterprise newspaper. She graduated from Arlington High School in 1939 and then attended the College of St. Catherine in St.Paul. She was employed as a Secretary in the Home Service Department at General Mills from 1941 to 1945.

Betty married Peter Harvey Groetsch during World War II on April 22, 1945. Their marriage endured for 55 years until Pete's death in 2000. Betty and Pete relocated to Southern California in 1952 and raised their five children Stephen, Ellen, Susan, Lucy and Martin in Costa Mesa. They were active members of St. John the Baptist parish where Betty was a choir member and catechist. In 2017 she moved to Santa Rosa to be close to her daughter Lucy and passed away at 96 years of age on Jan. 18.

Elizabeth loved singing in the church choir and was an active participant until her 90s. She was, first and foremost, a mother, grandmother and great-grandmother. With her deep faith and constant love, she was the center of her family and a guide for living well. Betty was a Minnesota girl until the end, never losing her core Midwestern values and no-nonsense approach to life. She was a great cook; a lover of the beach and the game of golf; she adored good times with friends and family; was an enthusiastic traveller; a loval Dodger and Lakers fan, and a lifelong Democrat.

Elizabeth is survived by her children, Steve (Toni) Groetsch, Ellen (Bob) Bonning, Susan (Michael) Davis, Lucy Groetsch (Bob Sayer), and Martin Groetsch (Andrea Smith). She leaves behind her adored grandchildren, Rebus (Nicole), Peter (Kellie), Blair (Zach), Alexandra (Van), Aaron and Evan. The joy of her later years was the time she spent with her greatgrandchildren Emmett, Leila, Evelyn, Meritt, Clay, Owen and Michael. She is also survived by her sister, Ann Adele Leaf; and by numerous nieces and nephews.

She will be interred next to her husband Peter at Riverside Memorial Cemetery.

Donations in her memory can be made to Catholic Charities.

Mental health services available in Sibley County

Sibley County has and is experiencing the trend throughout Minnesota in the rise for the need of Mental Health services. Since 2016 Sibley County case management services for Adult Mental Health has grown 22 percent and the need for children's mental health has seen similar increases. Untreated mental illness is a public health concern because it can lead to debilitating and costly conditions such as substance abuse, homelessness, and incarceration.

Rural Minnesota's statistics on mental health are particularly troubling. The Minnesota Department of Health reports that depression in women living in rural counties is double that of women from urban counties. And the Minnesota Hospital Association indicates a 40 percent increase from 2007 to 2014 in emergency room use for mental health crisis needs compared to 34 percent in the metro area.

Sibley County has partnered with many sources to help fill the need for mental health services. Sibley County is a strong member partner of the South Central Commu-Based Initiative nitv (SCCBI). The SCCBI is a 10 county regional effort to provide mental health crisis assistance through its 24/7 crisis line which can connect you to its mobile crisis team and other needed services. A list of all of the SCCBI resources can be found at its website www.sccbi.

Sibley County also has its own clubhouse program called County Connections. At County Connections people can visit and join in activities and programs geared to improving the lives of folks living with serious and persistent mental illness. Learn more about County Connections through the SCCBI website.

There are resources for farmers. Farming can extend extreme pressure on individuals'. Farmers and farm families find sources of stress including but not limited to crop prices, weather, chores and equipment breakdown. The Minnesota Department of Agriculture has a farm counselor who specializes in working with farmers and their families. Contact information for these services can be obtained at farmcounsel-

The public is invited to Stories of Hope & Healing, a free educational event focused on suicide prevention and mental health awareness education. This event, with a special emphasis on farmers and youth, will be held from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 27 at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Gaylord, MN featuring Ted Matthews, a Mental Health Practitioner & Director of Mental Health Outreach with the MN Department of Agriculture. Other speakers will share their personal stories and thoughts after experiencing unexpected loss of a loved one to suicide. Additionally, QPR training will be offered from 3:30 p.m. to 5pm. QPR teaches three simple steps anyone can learn to help save a life from Stay mentally healthy. You can do this by monitoring your mental health regularly, learn about ways to live well and stay well. Look for risk factors and know where to find help before the crisis stage.
