Arlington EDA fully supports Ninkasi Hops

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Arlington Economic Development Authority (EDA), during its meeting on Monday night, July 9, voted 5-0 and approved a motion to fully support a proposal from CEO Matthew Johnson for his business, Ninkasi Hops, to locate in Arlington.

Ninkasi Hops is a hydroponics company that plans to develop an indoor growing facility to grow hops for craft breweries.

Johnson has interest in 10.45 acres of land owned by the City of Arlington and located on the northeast corner of Highway 5 and County Road 9.

“The property along Highway 5 meets all of our site requirements so we are excited about the prospects of locating our growing facility in Arlington,” said Johnson.

The growing facility will be developed in two phases. The company plans to hire two full-time employees in direct labor positions once construction of the first phase of the project is finished in late 2018 or early 2019. When the second phase of the project is completed in late 2019 or early 2020, the company expects to have at least 10 and up to 15 full-time employees in direct labor and management positions.

The total cost of the entire project is estimated at $8 million, according to Johnson.

“Our growing facility will be one of the most technologically advanced indoor growing facilities in the United States,” said Johnson. “We think the growing facility will create unique opportunities for Arlington to market itself and possibly lead to additional economic development related to hydroponics.

Johnson added, “We are looking forward to being a long time member of the local business community and advocate for the City of Arlington.”

His father, Dennis Johnson, assisted with the presentation and will serve as the engineer for the project.

The Performance Shop is new business in Arlington

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Jeff Yohnke recently opened The Performance Shop along Highway 5 in Arlington.

He purchased the former Liberty Station building from Jim Heiland in mid March and opened the new business in May.

Yohnke, who was born and raised in Bloomington, is not new to Arlington. He has lived just southeast of Arlington for the past 4 1/2 years.

Yohnke was commuting every day to Shakopee where he had owned an auto repair shop since 1986.

“It was 80 miles a day which got old,” said Yohnke. “I like this area and had plans to buy and open a business here.”

The Performance Shop specializes in classic car repair and restoration.

Yohnke has been working on cars since he began helping a neighbor as a teenager.

“I’m definitely experienced,” he said. “I grew up with it.”

Yohnke used to work on all kinds of cars during his career, but his passion is old cars and trucks.

“I’m not partial to Chevys or Fords,” said Yohnke, who remodeled the show room at his new business. “I like them all.”

He works on all kinds of cars and trucks from the 1930s to the early 1980s. In addition, Yohnke will occasionally sell a classic car or truck.

Yohnke, who currently owns a variety of a dozen classic cars, also collects and restores vintage gas pumps. His collection currently includes a half dozen vintage gas pumps.

“It’s a constant thing for me,” said Yohnke. “I look for old stuff. I’m a dinosaur when it comes to computers.”

Yohnke said a lot of people have already stopped into his business.

“It’s something new to them,” he explained. “They are curious. They just want to see what it’s all about.”

Yohnke added, “It’s been a pleasure to meet a lot of people so far. I look forward to meeting more people in the future.”

The Performance Shop is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The telephone number is 507-964-1048.

County Board Commissioners approve use of loan funds for well replacements

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

The Sibley County Commissioners, during their regular meeting in Gaylord on Tuesday morning, July 10, approved a request by Sibley Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) representative Ron Otto to use Ag Best Management Practices (BMP) loan funds for well replacement costs.

The cost of the program will be a loan of up to 10 years at three percent interest. The loan is paid as a line item on the tax statement.

A resident was present at the County Board meeting and stated that he had an emergency well example and showing examples of his water before and after a new well. He said the wife of the well dealer told him that there was a program available for well replacements and questioned why he was not told about it from the county. Otto said he was told that it was decided at some point not to do wells.

The County Board voted to approve the use of Ag BMP loan funds for well replacements and also passed resolution #2018-29 designating the County Property Assessing and Zoning Director as the authorized representative for the Ag BMP loan program.

Green Isle City Council receives presentation on a new business

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The Green Isle City Council, during its regular meeting on Tuesday night, July 10, listened to a presentation from Bartels Truck Line President Allen Bartels and Vice President/General Manager Allen Smith.

Bartels Truck Line is involved in the construction of a purposed 80,000 square foot, multi-temp, refrigerated warehouse on three lots in the Green Isle Industrial Park. The cost of the building will be $10-plus million. The plan is to call the new business Green Isle Refrigerated Warehousing.

According to Bartels and Smith, the business plans to employ at least six full-time employees.

Green Isle Economic Development Authority (EDA) Director Amy Newsom the new business “is looking at having a shovel in the ground by Oct. 1.”

The Green Isle City Council, at its last regular meeting, unanimously approved a motion to direct Ehlers & Associates to start a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) study for the Industrial Park.

Mayor Joe Kreger and City Council members Diane Brown, Shawn Harms, John Schauer and Mark Wentzlaff all voted in favor of the motion.

The City of Green Isle was expected to cover the $10,000 cost of the TIF study, but Bartels and Smith surprised the City Council with a $5,000 check to go toward that endeavor.

A public hearing for the TIF proposal will be held on Tuesday night, Aug. 28.

Newsom said Bartels Truck Line cannot sign a purchase agreement until the TIF proposal is approved.

Bartels Truck Line is a 48-state, refrigerated, over-the-road transportation company that has been located in Winthrop since its inception in 1947. The Bartels holdings incorporate multiple businesses in the Winthrop and Gaylord area that include storage, commercial rentals, private owned properties and various other business ventures.

“We have recognized the short comings in the commercial warehouse storage available for the maintaining of product needed daily in the production of our customers’ products,” said Smith. “For our overall largest customer, we transport finished product from Gaylord to Sioux City, Iowa, to acquire the storage space needed to hold their product. Our initial intentions are to attempt to correct this type of shortfall and maintain the product here in Minnesota for use in production within the state.”

Smith added, “We had numerous other offers made to acquire the rights to put this purposed facility in their city, but ultimately we determined Green Isle was our first choice. We look to the City of Green Isle to participate in the development of this project and the positive benefits that will enhance the entire community.

The Green Isle City Council will hold its next regular meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 24.

Choose Arlington kickoff event is set for Thursday evening, July 19

By Kurt Menk
Editor

A Choose Arlington kickoff event will be held at the Arlington Community Center from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, July 19.

The City of Arlington, Arlington Economic Development Authority (EDA), Arlington Area Chamber of Commerce and Arlington Industries are partnering with the University of Minnesota Extension to bring together community members interested in exploring ways to attract and retain new residents to town through a program called Marketing Hometown America. - Learn what new residents are looking for as they relocate to a rural community.
- Discover often overlooked local assets that can attract potential new residents.
- Understand the importance of local family and friend referrals and the positive image that can be projected through a community website and social media.

- Learn and practice the skills of positive community dialogue to increase engagement and confidence in the residents’ ability to market their community.
- Build and implement marketing action plans that incorporate realistic and achievable strategies to successfully market a community.
- Increase the community’s human capacity and confidence in using the study circle dialogue approach to address future community issues.

People who have questions or want to participate in a study circle should contact Arlington EDA Director Amy Newsom at 507-237-4117 or AmyN@co.sibley.mn.us.

Settlement reached with former interim city administrator after recent meeting

Steele County has agreed to pay former administrator Laura Elvebak $225,000 to settle a lawsuit she brought against the county in 2017, according to an article in the Steele County Times.

Elvebak served as the interim city administrator for the City of Arlington from July 2017 through October 2017.

The Steele County Board

approved the settlement during a recent meeting. As part of the settlement, the county admits no wrongdoing.

Elvebak left in April 2017 after board members made it clear they wanted new direction for the county. She turned around and sued the county alleging sex discrimination, retaliation against a whistleblower and open meeting law violations.

Jessica Schwie, an attorney representing Steele County, said it would consume too much time of current employees to prepare and continue fighting the lawsuit. She said county employees have more important work for taxpayers than being consumed with litigation.

Public Works to replace 2 tractor mowers, fleet car

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

The Sibley County Commissioners, during their regular meeting in Gaylord on Tuesday morning, July 10, voted unanimously to allow Public Works Director Tim Becker to accept the low quote from Issacson Sales, Lafayette, to purchase two new tractor mowers. The two tractors include a six disk mower for $9,927 and a five disk for $8,300 for a total of $18,227. The latter was more than $1,000 under the quote from Arnold's, Glencoe, for $19,400.

County Commissioner Bobbie Harder asked if the parts off the existing mower could be used. Public Works employee Bill Schulte reported that yes, they could. Harder also asked what Becker meant by significant wear and tear to the existing machine. Becker said that the bottom of the unit wears out and the metal gets thin on the mower. Finally, Harder asked if the funds would come first from the Public Works budget and then from the Capital Improvement budget. County Administrator Roxy Traxler confirmed that it would be used in that order.

The County Commissioners also approved replacing the 2007 Chevrolet Impala fleet car with a new Chevrolet Equinox from Brau Motors, Arlington. Brau Motors came in with a quote of $21,635 for a 2019 Equinox which was about $200 more than the state contract bid where the vehicle would have come from Hibbing.

The Board of Commissioners, however, preferred to purchase from a local business.

Lastly, the County Commissioners also accepted a quote to purchase a new John Deere tractor from Kibble Equipment, Owatonna, for $50,000. Becker stated that it was a used 2015 6130M model totaling $70,340, but that Kibble would accept the trade-in of the county's 1978 John Deere 4040 for $20,340 leaving a balance of $50,000. The County Commissioners unanimously approved the trade-in and purchase.

The Sibley County Board will hold its next regular meeting in Gaylord at 9 a.m. Tuesday, July 24.

Small towns are always full of gossip and rumors
Our View: Find out the facts in the weekly edition of the Arlington Enterprise

Will Rogers once said rumors travel faster, but they don’t stay put as long as the truth.

That is fairly common in every community, but especially in small towns. It is sometimes amazing to listen to the false gossip and rumors which circulate about news items that eventually appear in this newspaper. An individual on the street believes he or she knows all the details from a meeting they did not even attend. Other people claim to know the facts about an incident without ever talking to the proper officials or authorities.

The best way to find out the facts on various news items is to buy a weekly copy of the Arlington Enterprise. Newspapers, as their name suggests, provide people with the real news on topics in the communities, school district and county.

Newspapers, like the Arlington Enterprise, are also an important means of communication between the government and the people. Government units place their legal notices in this newspaper, and it also publishes news articles on their respective meetings.

In addition to city council, school board and county board meetings, this newspaper also features news briefs, photos, an active opinion page, obituaries, sports, agricultural stories, police and sheriff news, feature stories, church information, advertising and much more on a weekly basis.

In Arlington, weekly editions of the Arlington Enterprise can be purchased at Jerry’s Home Quality Foods, Cenex Convenience Store, The Quick Shop, DJ’s Shoes & Repair, Arlington Liquors, and Morreim Pharmacy. In Green Isle, this newspaper is available at United Express. In Gaylord, this tabloid is available at the Cenex Convenience Store, Shell, and Casey’s. In New Auburn, this newspaper can be purchased at the UFC Convenience Store.

“Wow,” said her host Sandra, “these are really nice pictures, you must have a great camera.”

Fuming mad at the implication that her whole talent came from her camera, Judy waited until the end of the meal and then thanked her host.

“Thank you the meal was delicious,” and then as if an after-thought added, “you must have great pots.”

Mr. Kipper knew he was late when he spotted the ferry just a few feet from the dock. Running as fast as he could, he leaped across the water, barely landing on the boat’s deck. “That was sure a close one,” said Mr. Kipper as a nearby stranger helped him to his feet.

“What’s the hurry?” said the stranger. “This ferry’s just arriving.”

Elections matter

By Jack Colwell

Not all elections. Russia’s vote in March didn’t matter. Reelection of Vladimir Putin was preordained. Who was permitted to run, what could be said in campaigning and what journalists could report about any of it were controlled. It was a foregone conclusion that Putin would win by a landslide and that the election would have no effect on him or his policies.

But our elections matter. We can change leaders and the course of the nation. Sometimes we do, other times we stay the course.

The 2016 presidential election was one of the most important ever in changing the nation’s course. It was close. Nothing was preordained. And the results mattered. A lot.

The course of the nation was changed on spending priorities, taxation, health care, environmental regulations, foreign policy, trade, immigration, social issues, voting rights and approach to civil rights. The change isn’t just temporary. Much of it will have long-lasting effect. That’s driven home clearly by the resulting control of the Supreme Court.

Justices selected by President Trump and confirmed by a Senate kept Republican by voters in 2016 can for many years, likely for decades, provide a majority to strike down gun regulations, halt campaign finance changes, curb abortion availability, slap down unions, approve immigration bans and slow some social changes.

Conservatives who took the chance now take a bow. They wanted many of those changes. They took a chance that Donald Trump, though not really a conservative and with many flaws, would bring the change in course they wanted. Polls show more and more Republicans, although not pleased with Trump tweets and personality, now express overall approval of the job Trump has done.

A significant number of progressives took a seat instead of a chance. They didn’t want those changes Trump has brought or a solidly conservative Supreme Court. But they didn’t like Hillary Clinton, the Democratic nominee. Maybe because of her personality or because of her husband. Maybe because of what she charged for speeches or that she had a personal email server. Maybe because she defeated Bernie Sanders and some of her supporters seemed to be mean to Bernie. For whatever reasons, a decisive number of Democrats stayed home on election day or defected to a third-party candidate with no chance to win.

Decisive number? It didn’t take that many in key states where the race was close and the presidency was decided. Polls had shown that Democrats had the potential support to take control of the Senate, especially because of the seats that were up for election in 2016. The potential did not materialize. Democratic turnout was down.

Republicans seemed more convinced that the 2016 election mattered, really mattered. They were right.

The election this fall will matter, too. Not as much as the monumental 2016 election. The presidency isn’t at stake. Control of the Supreme Court isn’t there for the taking as it was in 2016. Court control? That ship has sailed on a long conservative cruise. Control of the Senate doesn’t seem to be within Democratic grasp. The seats up this time favor Republicans.

But, control of the House is in play. That’s important. If Republicans keep control of both Senate and House to go along with the presidency and Supreme Court, the change of direction determined in 2016 will be solidified. If Democrats at least capture the House, they will have one legislative chamber with budget-making power and the ability to slow down some of the changes and investigate rather than just rubber-stamp administration actions.

While the 2018 election won’t matter as much as 2016 did, it still will have meaning for the future. A lot? The voice of the voters – the voters deciding to have a voice – will determine that.

County residents encouraged to join Leading Sibley Together

By Kurt Menk
Editor

County residents are encouraged to join Leading Sibley Together for the 2018-2019 session.

The mission of Leading Sibley Together is developing leadership by connecting people, businesses and communities to create a stronger tomorrow.

This county-wide leadership program offers community members an opportunity to network, develop leadership skills, and gain an increased awareness and understanding of the assets of Sibley County. The results are more skilled individuals, increased networks, and stronger links between communities to address local issues.

Participants gather one day each month in communities throughout the county. Each day includes leadership learning activities, meeting with community leaders, and tours of businesses and organizations in that particular community. Participants tour together, learn together, and dine together. Each day ends with reflection and discussion around the day's events.

Each class is comprised of a maximum of 24 participants who either live or work in Sibley County. Participants can be either current or emerging leaders with an interest in the future of our county. Selected participants are notified in mid-August.

Acceptance is based on:

- Desire to better understand and improve leadership skills

- Demonstrated interest in the Sibley County area
- Interest in future community involvement
- Ability to commit the time needed to attend program sessions
- Representation from all diverse segments of the county

The typical session runs from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the first Thursday of the month.

The first session will be held in Henderson on Sept. 6, 2018. The final session will be held on April 4, 2019.

The deadline to apply is Wednesday, Aug. 1.

Application forms can be obtained at www.co.sibley-mn.us, or by e-mailing LeadingSibley@co.sibley-mn.us.

Visitation will be held at the United Church of Christ from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, July 13. Visitation will continue one hour prior to the church service on Saturday, July 14.

Candy was born to proud parents Clayton and Lori Johnson in Minneapolis on Feb. 17, 1944. Candy spent most of her life in Gaylord. A former homecoming queen and the first lifeguard at the Gaylord Pool, Candy graduated from the Gaylord High School in 1962. Candy was employed by the Gaylord Nursing Home, and Sibley County Home Health Services. She owned and operated Tanfare Travel, and most recently ran her store, Memory Lane, with husband, Donnie. Candy enjoyed life and many things. Caring for others, spending time with family and friends, traveling, attending baseball games and shopping. She was a long term member of the United Church of Christ, member of the area Jaycees and was active in many community groups. She was a proud mother of three children and five step children.

Candy is survived by her

Candy was preceded in death by her parents, Clayton and Lorraine Johnson.

Andrew Haggenmiller, 4, Buffalo

Andrew Sylvester Haggenmiller was born at the Buffalo Hospital on Sept. 6, 2013. He was 4 years and 10 months old on July 6 when he died after he bravely and somewhat benevolently lived with cancer for the 15 months prior.

Between those dates, he lived a full, happy life that would be the envy of most 100 year olds.

Andrew is survived by his parents, Nicholas and Victoria, and brother, Henry. Just as importantly, he is survived by grandparents LeRoy and Lori Haeuser, Mequon, Wis., Tom Tessar, Portage, Wis., and Gregory & Susan Haggenmiller, St. Peter; his great grandparents; aunts; uncles; and cousins that we're blessed to note are too plentiful to list! Andrew is further survived by hundreds of friends, medical and care providers, teachers and well-wishers that surrounded him until and through the end. All of whom loved him and sought to make his time fun, rich and selfishly longer. They succeeded and we are forever grateful.

Andrew assumed many professions and vocations in his short life including firefighter, police officer, teacher, student of life, son, brother, nephew, grandson, friend, skillful negotiator, boastful performer and most often, a farmer.

Somewhere to "the left, right then straight" of "here," Andrew had 11 imaginary farms. After visiting his aunt and uncle's goat farm, we surmised by our best assessment, these farms were primarily crop farms and do not smell "crappy." He had at least one employee, Speedy. Speedy, again by our best assessment, is his imaginary 14-year-old son, has a brother named Henry (not related), a driver's license and is charged with the day-to-day responsibilities of the 11 farms.

Andrew loved maps, compasses, ornate keys, to-do lists and instructions of all kinds. The common thread is softly beautiful. They're all forward facing, self-guided means of learning, discovery, curiosity and independence.

Andrew was a prolific problem solver. When faced with a perplexing problem or task it was not long before he would proclaim "hey, I have an idea..." And follow with an unnecessarily complex explanation or solution to an otherwise simple problem.

Whether spotting the fantastically rare or a simple tuft of hair out of place, he would say "hmm, how odd." His vocabulary and word choice was inexplicably advanced.

Andrew Haggenmiller

Andrew's enviable traits included being both practical and passionate. When kissed, he would aggressively wipe it off. Andrew would insist he was "wiping it in, not off." After catching on to this, his poppa suggested putting extra kisses in his pocket. Andrew countered with making sure his pockets were full at all times.

In January of 2016, Andrew became a big brother to Henry Harland. From this day forward, until nearly the end, Andrew took this role seriously and considered himself a protector, caregiver and most importantly, best friend to his little brother. Towards the end, these roles would reverse. At a particularly vulnerable time during the throes of chemotherapy treatments, Henry witnessed his big brother being pinned to the ground by a boy during a playdate. With one hand he continued to drink his chocolate milk and with the other he casually tore the boy off Andrew, flinging him to the ground effortlessly. As Andrew grew weaker, Henry grew stronger emotionally and would help by giving pills, bringing toys to the bed, caressing Andrew's hair and ultimately asking to go to heaven with him.

On September 5, 2017, Andrew began preschool at St. Francis Xavier Catholic School. Andrew loved school for his compassionate teachers, playing with friends but most of all – the structure and literal learning. Every new discovery, academically related or otherwise would be credited by Andrew to his teachers and school.

But don't misunderstand. Andrew wasn't perfect. He performed best in being faulted... being with disease.

Andrew approached everything with the diplomacy of a charismatic world leader, the strategy of a professional chess player and the fiery of a hurricane while maintaining the whimsy of a four-year-old boy.

Cancer was no different. After an excruciatingly long and difficult diagnosis, treatment began. Andrew was up for the challenge. At his strongest, he treated cancer like one of the countless adventures he would take with his mom, brother and Mom's Club friends during the day. At his weakest he treated cancer like a box to check before returning to playing or something of his immediate choosing.

They say the first thing to go in cancer and the hardest to get back is your sense of humor. After regressing back into a pull-up for the first time in over three years Andrew would frequently pose the question "Hey guys? Am I in a pull-up?" We would confirm and he would interject quickly "Whoo."

As the procedures and treatment became more invasive and continuous his spirit never dissipated. He trusted his mom, dad and medical team and would always, albeit reluctantly, take the next step, put on the next gown or swallow the last pill.

Andrew's final days were eventful and emotional. Unable to communicate for himself, Vicki feared that he would be afraid and refused to sleep or stop telling him that she loved him. Despite this, he managed not once, but three times, to lift his hand and with his pointer finger extended, tap Vicki's chest in response as she said "I love you, Andrew." Andrew's final hours were found wrapped in his mom's arms, in a final acknowledgement of being Victoria's "Little Puzzle Piece." He was surrounded by those that loved him most while his brother, cousins and friends danced and played lightly in our front yard.

There will be a Celebration of Life held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, July 13. A service will follow at 4 p.m. with a concluding meal of Andrew's favorite foods. All will be held at St. Francis Xavier School (219 19th Street NW, Buffalo MN 55313). All friends and family are welcomed. This will not be traditional. There will be no visitation as the physical part we loved most and later sought to "cure" has been donated to advance research. This will not be formal. Playgrounds should be put to work; little boys should belch or fart and then laugh loudly. Tears, emotion, and stories of how Andrew impacted your life are abundantly sought. Cheese curds and pizza will be eaten.

In lieu of flowers and if resources allow, consider bringing a donation of a toy or book that will be brought to Children's Hospital in Minneapolis. In lieu of money to our family, please donate to whatever charitable effort you choose. Bonus points if that charity happens to be The Roberts Center for Pediatric Research at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Above all else, here are a few suggestions to celebrate Andrew's life: hug your mom, greet your neighbor with exuberance, pet a puppy, dance while singing a Beatles song in the middle of a crowded airport terminal, take detailed meeting minutes, craft a to-do-list, debate politics or ruminate on the meaning of life, play trucks or superheroes, go camping but audibly express your distaste for tents, release a trapped insect to the outdoors, insist on shutting off your car's GPS and providing impromptu directions or just laugh... all things Andrew did and took great pride in doing.

The epidemic of hog cholera which made its first appearance in the community south of Arlington several weeks ago, has spread to immense proportions at this writing and many herds are infected. The herds of John Barke, Art Schauer, Gottlieb Martin, Herman Breitreutz and Enos Bernstein are reported an entire loss, and there are many others where the disease has gained a foothold.

The Cities Service Gas Station, operated by Harvey Kamps on lower Main Street, was robbed of a quantity of gasoline Tuesday night. Although no accurate check was kept on the amount of gas contained in the various pump tanks at the station, Mr. Kamps estimates the loss at about 50 gallons.

Lois, the little four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Goeritz of this village, met with an unfortunate accident yesterday afternoon by falling from the miniature merry-go-round at the public school grounds. In falling, the child bit and almost severed her tongue. She was taken to the office of a local doctor and eight stitches were necessary to close the wound.

Visitors to the Sibley County Fair this year will hardly recognize the grounds. With the old grandstand, poultry building and several other small buildings removed, 11 acres of land added and a new race track added there is a definite change in the appearance of the place. Huge power dirt moving machines have been working on the grounds for the past week taking off the high spots and filling in the pond on the east side. The new race track is located north of the old one and on the land recently purchased from Herb Nickle.

Per capita income of Americans reached a new peak of $1,200 in 1946, it is disclosed in a department of commerce report. The average is more than double the $575 income per man, woman and child in 1940.

The official temperature in Arlington on Tuesday was 101, and yesterday it was about the same.

Four persons are said to have been slightly injured at the Gaylord celebration when they were struck by fragments of a defective shell from the fireworks.

Ruffed grouse counts down, sharp-tailed grouse down too

Minnesota's ruffed grouse spring drumming counts were down 29 percent statewide this year compared to last year, according to a survey conducted by the Department of Natural Resources.

"Surveys indicate the peak occurred last year," said Charlotte Roy, DNR grouse project leader. "Grouse populations tend to rise and fall on a decade-long cycle and counts this year are pointing to the peak lasting only one year this cycle. This has occurred before, but it's always nice when the cycle stays high a little longer."

Drumming is a low sound produced by males as they beat their wings rapidly and in increasing frequency to signal the location of their territory. Drumming displays also attract females that are ready to begin nesting. Ruffed grouse populations are surveyed by counting the number of male ruffed grouse heard drumming on established routes throughout the state's forested regions.

Drumming counts are an indicator of the ruffed grouse breeding population. The number of birds present during the fall hunting season also depends upon nesting success and chick survival during the spring and summer.

"If production of young birds is low during the summer months, hunters may see fewer birds than expected based on counts of drumming males in the spring," Roy said. "Conversely, when production of young is high, hunters may see more birds in the fall."

For the past 69 years, DNR biologists have monitored ruffed grouse populations. This year, DNR staff and co-operators from 16 organizations surveyed 122 routes across the state.

The 2018 survey results for ruffed grouse were 1.5 drums per stop statewide. The averages during 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 were 0.9, 1.1, 1.1, 1.3 and 2.1 respectively. Counts vary from about 0.6 drums per stop during years of low grouse abundance to about 2.0 during years of high abundance.

Results this year follow an increase from 2016 to 2017. In the northeast survey region, which is the core of Minnesota's grouse range, counts were 1.7 drums per stop; in the northwest there were 1.0 drums per stop; in the central hardwoods, 0.9 drums per stop; and in the southeast, 0.9 drums per stop.

Sharp-tailed grouse counts down

To count sharp-tailed grouse, observers look for males displaying on traditional mating areas, which are called leks or dancing grounds.

Comparisons of the same leks counted in both years indicate that counts per lek were down compared to last year in the northwest and statewide. Declines in the east-central region were not significant, likely because fewer leks were counted compared to last year, and loss of small leks does not reduce the index.

This year's statewide average of 9.3 sharp-tailed grouse per lek was similar to the long-term average since 1980. The 2009 average of 13.6 was as high as during any year since 1980. During the last 25 years, the sharp-tailed grouse index has been as low as seven birds counted per dancing ground.

The DNR's 2018 grouse survey report and grouse hunting information can be found at mndnr.gov/hunting/grouse.

Applications open for prairie chicken hunt lottery

Hunters can apply through Friday, Aug. 17, to be chosen for one of 125 permits for the 2018 Minnesota prairie chicken hunting season, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The nine-day prairie chicken season begins Saturday, Sept. 29, and is open only to Minnesota residents.

"Prairie chicken numbers are influenced by the amount of grassland habitat within the range and provide a limited, but unique, hunting opportunity in northwestern Minnesota," said Leslie McInenly, DNR acting wildlife populations program manager.

Hunters will be charged a $4 application fee and may apply individually or in groups up to four. Prairie chicken licenses cost $23. Apply at any DNR license agent; the DNR License Center, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul; online at mndnr.gov/buyalicense or by telephone at 888-665-4236. An additional fee is charged for orders placed online or by phone.

The hunt takes place in 11 prairie chicken quota areas in west-central Minnesota between St. Hilaire in the north and Breckenridge in the south. Up to 20 percent of the permits in each area will be issued to landowners or tenants of 40 acres or more of prairie or grassland property within the permit area for which they applied. The season bag limit is two prairie chickens per hunter.

Based on hunter surveys, the DNR estimates that 97 hunters harvested 86 prairie chickens during the 2017 hunt. Results of spring booming ground surveys will be available later this summer.

Applications are available wherever Minnesota hunting and fishing licenses are sold and application procedures and a permit area map are available at mndnr.gov/hunting/ - prairiechicken.

FSA Matters

By Dan Mahoney, CED Elections for the 2018 County Committee

Elections for USDA’s Farm Service Agency’s (FSA) Sibley County Committee is underway.

It is important that every eligible producer participate in these elections because FSA county committees are a link between the agricultural community and the USDA. The 2018 election in Name County will be conducted for the representative Local Administrative Area (LAA): LAA 2 representing New Auburn, Dryden, Arlington, Alfsborg, Sibley, and Kelso townships.

County committee members are a critical component of FSA operations. Committees should be comprised of members who reflect the diversity of producers involved in production agriculture in Sibley County. This means that producers representing underserved groups or communities should be on the committee to speak on behalf of their constituency.

Underserved producers are beginning, women and other minority farmers and ranchers and land owners and/or operators who have limited resources. Other minority groups including Native American and Alaska Natives; persons under the poverty level, and persons that have disabilities are also considered underserved.

Eligibility for Elections for the 2018 County Committee

To be eligible to vote in the elections, a person must:

Meet requirement one (see explanation below) or meet requirement two, and requirement three (see explanation below).

Requirement One: Be of legal voting age and have an interest in a farm or ranch as either: an individual who meets one or more of the following; (a) is eligible to vote in one’s own right, (b) is a partner of a general partnership, (c) is a member of a joint venture OR an authorized representative of a legal entity, such as: (a) a corporation, estate, trust, limited partnership or other business enterprise, excluding general partnership and joint ventures or (b) a state, political subdivision of a state or any state agency (only the designated representative may cast a vote for the entity).

Requirement Two: Not of legal voting age, but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm.

Requirement Three: Participates or cooperates in an FSA program that is provided by law.

County committee election ballots will be mailed to eligible voters on Nov. 5, 2018. The last day to return completed ballots to the USDA service center is Dec. 3, 2018.

For more information on eligibility to serve on FSA county committees, visit: www.fsa.usda.gov/elections.

Changes at the Sibley County Fairgrounds this year

There will be many changes at the Sibley County Fairgrounds in Arlington this year, according to Sibley County Fair Board member Dennis Van Moorlehem.

The Horticulture Building and Non-Animal 4-H Building will be separated with new walls between them.

There will be concrete wheel chair ramps leading to the grandstand, Sheep Barn, Poultry Barn, Rabbit Barn, Porky’s north door, and the south end of the Heritage Building leading out to the road. These ramps have been in the planning stages for many years.

There will be additional blacktopping by the Entertainment Building, Legion Building, VEW Building and Heritage Building area.

The general area should be wheel chair accessible by fair time.

There are plans to have a total rebuild of the restroom by the Old Draft Horse Barn in time for the fair.

Additional electric work continues with new lighting in the Cattle Barn and Hog Barn. New light poles recently arrived and more grounds lighting is planned when McGuire Electric continues to work its magic. New sound system upgrades took place this spring. More buildings have been added to the public address system and there will be better sound in front of the office.

“The usual work is progressing well as we have committees working on many normal projects,” said Van Moorlehem. “Yard work is taking a huge amount of time this year as well as road repair as the winter was disastrous to them this year. The horse area has been a continuous project, but is starting to shape up. New pen configuration has been a project for the poultry with new stands for the pens.”

Volunteers are needed during the Sibley County Fair, according to Van Moorlehem. The volunteer work needed is non-physical, but very necessary. Volunteers are needed as ticket sellers, ticket takers, golf cart drivers, office assistance, runners, judges at scrip drawings each night, and horticulture check in personal, computer entry, etc. People or organizations who would like volunteer are encouraged to contact Dennis Van Moorlehem or any member of the Sibley County Fair Board.

“Finally, the work you see is the result of sponsors, grants and other donations to the Sibley County Fair Board,” said Van Moorlehem. “Without their generous support, most of the upgrades could not happen.”

The Sibley County Fair will be held from Wednesday, Aug. 1 through Sunday, Aug. 5.

Highway 93 open from Highway 169 to Henderson

The Minnesota Department of Transportation opened Highway 93 from Highway 169 to Henderson at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 11. This stretch of Highway 93 was closed since July 8 due to flooding of the Minnesota River.

To minimize damage to the saturated road bed, MnDOT has placed a 7-ton axle weight restriction on this stretch of Highway 93. The weight restriction is anticipated to remain in place for approximately two weeks.

Motorists are advised to drive with caution as crews continue to work off the
