Pinske will seek re-election to County Board

By Kurt Menk
Editor

Arlington resident Bill Pinske, the incumbent Second District County Commissioner, announced this week that he will file for another four-year term when filings open on Tuesday, May 17. Pinske also said this will be his final term.

Pinske represents the City of Arlington, Arlington Township and Kelso Township. He is the senior member of the County Board and will be completing his 14th year as a county commissioner.

He has served three terms as chairperson of the County Board. Pinske has also served on numerous Sibley County committees. In addition, he has also been a member of several joint powers boards and has held leadership roles on these boards. Pinske said that without a doubt the biggest issue facing Sibley County, and most local government entities, are budget issues.

"The state and federal government continually cut back on funding to local government, but will not end unfunded mandates. Sibley County has worked hard to control spending and still provide the services that the people of Sibley County need."

Pinske is proud that Sibley County has a strong financial position and said he will work hard to keep it that way. People want common sense leadership and he will continue to do just that.

People who have any concerns about county issues are welcome to contact him.

Sibley County will be a test site for DigitalTown

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

The Sibley County Board, during its regular meeting on Tuesday morning, April 12, approved a five-year contract with DigitalTown, an online marketplace that plans to provide Amazon type services in Sibley County.

The new DigitalTown site will be a one-stop shop for people in Sibley County. When residents sign up for a DigitalTown account they will be able to search for things to do and places to shop in the town they are in.

For example, if people are in Arlington, when they pull up the DigitalTown site they will be able to search Arlington businesses and amenities, as well as city information.

Rob Monster, CEO of DigitalTown, also stated at a recent informational meeting that users will eventually be able to place orders at local restaurants and order items from local businesses and have them delivered. Promoting local businesses and offering delivery will help with competition from larger cities and big box stores.

Keithahn stated that he will also be requesting letters of support from the Sibley County Economic Development Committee and Public Health and Human Services. Keithahn stated that they will be asking the City of Gaylord for $4 million in Tax Increment Financing (TIF) for renovations to the old Sibley East school building and possibly later for different parts of the project. TIF is a method of financing public costs associated with a private development. Local governments can use future property tax revenue to finance infrastructure costs. ### Accident with injuries

A one-vehicle rollover accident with injuries reported occurred at the intersection of 625th Avenue and 210th Street in Grafton Township at 7:34 p.m. Sunday, April 10, according to the Sibley County Sheriff's Department. Jaden M. Albrecht, 23, Stewart, was driving a 1997 Ford F150 east on 210th Street when he lost control of his vehicle, according to the report. The vehicle hit a sign, entered the south side of the ditch and rolled several times. The vehicle came to rest on its roof in the ditch.

Albrecht, who suffered serious injuries, was transported by the Buffalo Lake Ambulance to the Hutchinson Community Hospital, according to the report. He was later flown by North Memorial helicopter to the Hennepin County Medical Center in Minneapolis.

Alcohol may have been a contributing factor in the accident, the report said.

The Gibbon Police Department, Gibbon Fire Department and Minnesota State Patrol also assisted at the scene.

Sibley County Fair nets grant

The Minnesota Valley Electric Cooperative (MVEC), through its Operation Round Up program, recently awarded a $2,500.00 grant to provide the Sibley County Fair 4H non-animal building with a state of the art roof top ventilation system.

The funds were made available through the program that its caring members opt to round up utility bills. These funds are then distributed to its neighbor and community organizations to be used for needed projects in the MVEC service area.

The grant will provide the Sibley County Fair with a much needed upgrade to a very hot uncomfortable building.

Henderson flooding study, Highway 19 bridge detour topic of April 19 meeting

The City of Henderson and the Minnesota Department of Transportation are co-hosting a meeting on the status of a study to determine if mitigating impacts of flooding on area highways are feasible and to share information on the Highway 19 railroad bridge project east of Henderson and related detour starting in May.

The two-part meeting, set for Tuesday, April 19 in the Henderson Community Building, 600 Main Street, will begin with a presentation at 6:30 p.m. on the flooding feasibility study and be followed by an open house from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. on the Highway 19 railroad bridge replacement and detour.

MnDOT, at the request of the City of Henderson, is performing flood modeling to analyze flooding impacts to area roadways and determine alternatives to mitigate future flooding impacts. At this time, no funding has been identified for constructing flood mitigation improvements, but this preliminary work is the first step towards identifying a preferred flood mitigation alternative.

MnDOT is also set to replace the Highway 19 bridge over the Union Pacific railroad east of Henderson in 2016. This will require a detour, which may begin as early as May 2 and will be in place until November and consists of Highways 93 and 169. Impacted businesses and residents will be encouraged to come to the open house to learn more about the project and have their concerns addressed.

Zenith Tech, Incorporated of Waukesha, Wis., has received the award for replacing the Highway 19 railroad bridge with a bid of $5,241,732. For project information and the detour map, visit www.dot.state.mn.us/d7/projects/hwy19henderson/.

Law clerk is fatally shot in St. Paul

Our View: Killing could have been avoided if Minnesota had tougher laws for violent criminals

It happens all the time in Minnesota. A senseless crime is committed that could have been avoided if the Gopher state had tougher laws and more severe punishment for violent criminals.

A good example is the murder which happened in St. Paul on Thursday, April 7. Ryan D. Petersen fatally shot a law clerk six times in the stomach because he was reportedly upset with how his case was being handled and could not reach his attorney.

Petersen, 37, St. Paul, is no first-time offender. He has a long and violent rap sheet. His past convictions include drive-by shooting, second-degree assault, carrying a pistol without a permit, first-degree damage to property, aiding and abetting in the sale of narcotics, fleeing police in a motor vehicle, drunken driving and disorderly conduct, according to court records.

What is more shocking than the actual murder is the fact that this man was free in society and not sitting in a prison cell somewhere. There are many people currently doing time in jails and prisons across Minnesota who have done far less than this repeat violent criminal.

The Minnesota State Legislature needs to step up and seriously look at the current system because, for whatever reason, it is not working. One solution is to build more prisons which cost a lot of money to construct and operate. Violent crimes, however, also cost money in the form of medical expenses and personal property and are devastating to the innocent victims. Another solution is to reduce sentences for individuals who commit lesser crimes to make space for the more violent criminals.

The most important task politicians have is to keep Minnesotans safe. Minnesota, at the current time, is not safe when these violent criminals are out walking the streets.

A bunch of guys were sitting around a table playing a game of cards.

"I win!" exclaimed Johnson, at which point Henderson threw down his cards.

"That's it! I've had it! Johnson is cheating!"

"How can you tell?" Phillips asked.

A doctor and a lawyer met at a party. Their conversation was interrupted repeatedly by guests asking the doctor for medical advice. Finally, the exasperated doctor turned to the lawyer and said, "Tell me, what do you do to stop people from asking you for legal advice when you're out of the office?"

"When they ask, I give them advice," replied the lawyer, "and then I send them a bill in the morning."

The doctor decided to take the lawyer's advice and for the rest of the evening wrote down the names and addresses of everyone who approached him for advice.

The next morning he took out the list, and just then his secretary walked into his office and handed him a bill from the lawyer.

After buying her kids a pet hamster, after they promised they would take care of it, Mom, as usual, ended up with the responsibility.

One evening, exasperated, she asked them, "How many times do you think that hamster would have died if I hadn't looked after it?"

Beyond transparency, we need accountability

By Lee H. Hamilton

Over more than three decades in Congress, I had the chance to question a lot of federal officials. Most of the time I wasn't after anything dramatic — I just wanted to understand who was responsible for certain decisions. Want to know how often I got a straight answer? Almost never.

It was easily one of the most frustrating aspects of trying to ensure robust oversight of the government. Our representatives' job, after all, is to help make government work better. And you can't do that if you don't know whom to hold accountable for important decisions. I don't want to be unfair to officials in the executive branch, many of whom are dedicated public servants who work long hours to serve the rest of us. But they have raised to an art form the ability to dodge responsibility.

This is a problem. Accountability is essential to good governance. I'm not just talking about "transparency" — that is, citizens' ability to know what's being done in our name. That's important, but equally important is holding accountable those who made the decision to do it: ensuring that they are accountable to policy-makers, adhere to their obligations, follow the law, and that their actions are appropriate and responsive to the needs of the country.

This may be part and parcel of good governing, but it's elusive. Accountability requires that officials step up and take responsibility for their decisions, and not try to shift that responsibility to others or to some ill-defined group. It requires unambiguous performance standards, clear codes of ethics, timely reporting, and acceptance of responsibility, especially with regard to budget or spending decisions.

It's sustained by procedures that encourage responsible stewardship of public funds and a focus on correcting inefficiencies and poor performance. And above all, it rests on robust oversight and review of officials' performance, not only within the executive branch, but also by Congress and the media.

So how do we get there?

The first step is to make information available to the public, especially when it comes to budgeting. Government performance rests on how it spends the public's money.

Yet making sure that people see and hear what government is doing only promotes transparency. It's taking the next step, and ensuring that there's a clear command and control structure, that promotes accountability. Without clarity on who's in charge of what and who's responsible for which decisions, it becomes too easy for officials to remain unanswerable for their actions.

Clear lines of authority mean nothing unless the deciding officials are identified and measured against what actually takes place. No official, in other words, should be without accountability for his or her decisions, which means that executive agencies and Congress alike need to perform regular and robust oversight. Regular audits focused on inefficiencies, waste, and poor performance are critical. Officials need to give a full account of what they do and the decisions they make.

As a nation, we face a growing issue on this front when it comes to federal contractors — that is, the private workforce doing jobs for federal agencies. The government itself doesn't know how many contract employees it has, but the Washington Post reported last year that federal spending on contracts grew 87 percent — or about 5 percent a year — between 2000 and 2012. This is a problem because it creates an accountability vacuum. There are very few mechanisms for holding contractors responsible for their errors, abuses and missteps.

Which is why I noted above that the media is as important as Congress and internal government overseers. We as citizens depend on the media to tell us what's going on in the entire system: within the bureaucracy, in the behavior of contractors, and among legislators who ought to be overseeing both but often don't. This is a key public responsibility, and the press needs to be staffed and have access to the resources to do a good job — which, these days, is increasingly rare.

Accountability, in other words, is key to good government. All I wanted to know in those congressional hearings was who made the decision about the public's business. Is that too much to ask?

He was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives for 34 years.

Football great Will Smith and mental illness

By Glenn Mollette

The murder of New Orleans football great Will Smith by Cardell Hayes is tragic. At this point we have not heard all that happened with a car accident that turned into Hayes shooting Smith six times and also Smith's wife.

You probably know by now that Hayes sued the city of New Orleans in 2005 after police killed his dad Anthony Hayes. His dad was shot nine times by NOPD officers after he reportedly lunged at one of the officers with a knife. Hayes and his sister later sued the city of New Orleans and settled for an undisclosed sum.

Ironically Smith was having dinner with one of the NOPD officers earlier on this same evening, Billy Ceravolo, who was involved in shooting Hayes' father in 2005.

Initial reports believe the most recent shooting had nothing to do with the 2005 shooting and that this was an accident that turned into road rage.

Was Hayes bitter, resentful with caustic feelings toward the NOPD? Why would we think otherwise? Of course he was. Regardless if his father lunged at one of the police with a knife they still killed his daddy. Hayes believed that the officers could have better handled his dad on that day with a stun gun but that the altercation did not have to end up lethal, according to the lawsuit that was filed and settled.

While a dollar figure is unknown to the settlement it is reportedly believed that Hayes and his sister received a significant amount. This doesn't take the place of a daddy nor does it resolve mental issues.

Was Cardell Hayes a loose cannon driving the streets of New Orleans with a gun? This could have been anybody who had ruffled his feathers, got in his way or had a disagreement with him. On this day, very sadly, it was football great Will Smith.

Too many people are behind the wheels of cars with mental illness. Too many of them are carrying guns. They have had life altering events. They carry bitterness, a lot of anger and a finger on the trigger. The right or wrong scenario ends up lethal. This is not an excuse for mentally unbalanced people but reality. A lot of people need counseling today. After such an event that Hayes went through with his dad he had severe problems. None of us know when we step out of a car to talk to someone after a car accident what we will encounter. We don't expect to be shot and neither did Smith.

The National Alliance on Mental Illness states the following information: Over 61 million Americans experience mental illness in a given year. About one in 17 live with a serious illness such as schizophrenia, Fluoridation of water for the prevention of tooth decay was explained Tuesday evening at a dinner meeting at Vern's Cafe by Dr. William Jordan, head of the dental department of the State Board of Health. The meeting was attended by the Arlington city council, local doctors and dentists. The dentists of Minnesota together with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, are putting on a concerted drive at this time to get as many municipalities as possible to install fluoridation units in their water systems. They are approved by the Minnesota Board of Health.

While most of the snow has disappeared from the fields, there is still plenty of it left along the highways, ditches and other spots where it drifted. Farm roads as a whole are in worse shape than ever and traveling by truck or car is difficult...Many of our people are going to Henderson these days to view the flooded Minnesota river. It is an interesting spectacle, that's true, but also a disheartening experience for the people who have to sustain financial loss and hardship on account of it...Rain, sleet and snow made up the menu dished up by the weather man the past few days, and spring is still "just around the corner", how far nobody knows.

Testing season at Minnesota Public Schools

By Mari Lu Martens
SE Elementary Principal

The month of April is "testing season" at Minnesota Public Schools. We have just finished up the ACCESS test that assesses our English Language Learners on their English Language proficiency, as well as their proficiency in reading and math. This assessment is given to Kindergarten through 12 graders who have been identified as English language learners.

In addition to this assessment, all students in grades 3-8 will take the Minnesota Comprehensive Assessment tests in reading and math, grade 5 and 8 and high school will take a state science test. Grade 10 also takes the reading test, while grade 11 takes the math test.

Testing is used in schools to measure student achievement. The Minnesota Comprehensive Assessments (MCA) are the state tests that help districts measure student progress toward Minnesota's academic standards and also meet federal and state legislative requirements.

Students do not pass or fail the reading, mathematics, or science tests. Since the tests measure student performance relative to the Minnesota Academic Standards, each student receives a score that falls in one of four achievement levels: Does Not Meet the Standards, Partially Meets the Standards, Meets the Standards, and Exceeds the Standards. The assessments are all taken on line.

Parents can help their child do their best by making sure their child gets a good night's sleep and eats a healthy breakfast. Doing both of these things will ensure that your child is working at full capacity.

The Minnesota Report Card gives you easy access to district and school data. This tool is designed to provide parents, educators, schools, districts and citizens with easy access to school information, test results, demographic information and other critical data. You can find these reports at education.state.mn.us. I would also be happy to visit with you about the progress our students are making.

Minnesota fishing facts

Here are some facts about Minnesota fishing in anticipation of the 2016 fishing opener, which is Saturday, May 14.

Anglers and Waters

- There are about 1.4 million licensed anglers in Minnesota.
- About 500,000 people are expected to fish on Minnesota's opening day of the walleye and northern pike season, Saturday, May 14.
- Minnesota has 11,842 lakes, 5,400 of which are considered fishing lakes. There are over 18,000 miles of fishable rivers and streams, including 3,800 miles of trout streams.

Participation and the Economy

- Average annual expenditure per angler in Minnesota is about $1,500.
- Although not every kind of fish lives everywhere, 162 species of fish can be found in Minnesota waters.
- Fishing contributes $2.4 billion to the state's economy in direct retail sales, ranking Minnesota third in the nation for angler expenditures.
- Fishing supports nearly 35,500 Minnesota jobs.
- Minnesota ranks second in resident fishing participation at 32 percent, second only to Alaska.
- Most resident anglers are from urban areas. However, a higher percentage of people living in rural Minnesota fish compared to the percentage of people living in urban areas who fish.

- Males account for 65 percent of fishing license holders. Females account for 35 percent.
- Significantly more time is spent fishing on lakes than on rivers and streams.
- The average Minnesota angler spends 15 days fishing each year.
- Walleye are the most sought-after fish in Minnesota, followed by northern pike and muskie combined, then panfish, bass, crappie and trout.

Spring turkey hunting opened Wednesday

With the benefit of expanded spring turkey hunting opportunities in their favor, an estimated 42,000 hunters will take to Minnesota's fields and forests between Wednesday, April 13, and the end of May, aiming to bag a wild turkey.

"We're looking forward to this season when hunters will try out regulations that give them more time and options to hunt turkeys, get outside and enjoy springtime," said Steve Merchant, DNR wildlife populations program manager with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Under the new regulations, turkey hunting time periods will be longer, all will include weekends, and more time periods will be available to each hunter. The season includes five one-week time periods followed by one longer time period ending on Tuesday, May 31. Previously, there were eight time periods, and not all included weekends.

The bag limit remains one bearded turkey.

Hunters who don't bag a turkey during their first time period will be able to hunt the last time period using their original license. Hunters who hunt a second time during the last time period will need to hunt in the same zone that they hunted in during their first hunt period.

In another change, archers will be able to hunt the entire season and in any zone from when the first time period begins on April 13, through the end of the last one on May 31. Hunters must choose between a firearms or archery turkey hunting license.

Firearms hunters who wanted to hunt either of the first two time periods applied for licenses through a lottery system; surplus licenses became available in early March for remaining spots in the first two seasons.

Hunters are reminded that turkeys may not be taken with the aid of an electronic device, including the use of any remote-controlled decoy. However, an electronic hearing aid or other device designed to enhance hearing, electronic sights that self-illuminate but that do not cast rays of light, and rangefinders may be used.

Public Process

The changes in the spring turkey season came about following a public process, informed by data from a 2014 statewide survey of adult turkey hunters and four "Talking Turkey" dialogue sessions that took place across the state.

"We heard that while many hunters wanted these changes, there were some concerns about crowding, so we'll be listening to feedback after this season to see if any adjustments need to be made to the season structure," Merchant said.

More than 90 percent of those who die by suicide had one or more mental disorders. Approximately 26 percent of homeless adults staying in shelters live with serious mental illness and an estimated 46 percent lives with severe mental illness and or substance use disorders. The statistics are startling. Check out NAMI on the web for more information.

A lot of people are battling mental issues in our country. People aren't shot in movie theatres, schools, churches, and at traffic accidents be-

Sibley County restructuring committees

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

The Sibley County Board, during its regular meeting on Tuesday morning, April 12, appointed County Commissioners Bobbie Harder and Joy Cohrs to the restructuring committee which will consist of three county staff members, three department heads, and two commissioners.

The committee will meet to examine the county departments, make a recommendation on which county departments and services should be included in the restructuring plan, and how those departments and services can be restructured. The committee will have until Nov. 1 to get their recommendations back to County Administrator Roxy Traxler. Looking into ways to restructure departments and services is a 2016 county goal.

Lease Proposal

Sibley County Board members voted unanimously to moved forward in the process to submit a lease proposal to USDA for the Farm Service Agency (FSA) and the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) offices.

Sibley County has to work very quickly on the large federal application which is due back to the USDA by May 9. The proposal will have to include building plan and cost estimates that Sibley County is not able to do in-house so the County Board voted to contract with Contegry Group, Little Falls, for construction estimates and schedules, and Vetter Johnson Architects, Plymouth, for preliminary architectural designs.

Corporation, St. Cloud, for $581,649.61. This came in 31.78 percent under the engineer's estimate of $852,583.08.

The County Board also awarded the bituminous overlay project to Knife River Corporation – North Central, which is located in Sauk Rapids. # MMPA distributed generation facility breaks ground, adding to power generation portfolio for Arlington and other communities

A 46MW distributed generation power facility being built by the Minnesota Municipal Power Agency will soon be rising on the eastern edge of Shakopee, near Canterbury Park. Shakopee Energy Park will add electric generation capacity to MMPA communities, including Arlington.

MMPA has broken ground on the six-acre site and expects the facility, fueled by natural gas, to be operational next year. MMPA is the wholesale power supplier to Shakopee Public Utilities, as well as 11 other municipal member communities. MMPA's management partner, Avant Energy of Minneapolis, is managing the facility's design and construction.

"MMPA is committed to adding local, efficient resources to the Agency's generation portfolio," said Avant Energy's Vice President of Consulting and Development, Kelsey Dillon.

"The Agency sees significant advantages to the project, including local interconnection to avoid high voltage transmission, increased local reliability of supply and supporting business development in our member communities," Dillon said.

John Crooks, Shakopee Public Utilities Manager and MMPA board member, said his community is enthusiastic about the project.

"We very much like having this generating facility in Shakopee because we see great advantage in having local production and distribution," Crooks said. "We're a growing community and we're pleased to have this opportunity to offer increased electric reliability to our customers."

Recent large, high-profile additions to Shakopee's business base include Amazon and Shutterfly.

Crooks added that hot water recovered from the natural gas-fired reciprocating engines will be another important economic development tool for the Shakopee area. Further, he said, the facility will support the MMPA mission to provide competitively-priced, reliable power to its customers.

The power from Shakopee Energy Park will become an important component of MMPA's diversified portfolio of generation resources, which includes facilities like Faribault Energy Park, fueled by natural gas and its newest renewable energy facilities – Oak Glen Wind Farm near Blooming Prairie and the Hometown BioEnergy facility in Le Sueur.

"MMPA is committed to being a good neighbor in host communities," Crooks said. "We are excited that in addition to power generation, the facility will offer energy education for students and Shakopee residents – providing a community asset for years to come."

Other municipal utility members of MMPA are in Anoka, Arlington, Brownton, Buffalo, Chaska, East Grand Forks, Elk River, Le Sueur, North St. Paul, Olivia, and Winthrop.

County Road Ditch Spraying

Sibley County will ONLY be spraying County road ditches for noxious weeds. The spray is applied directly to the noxious weeds. Chemicals used: Tordon K, Transline, Escort, Milestone, Forefront and 2-4D.

Anyone wishing to NOT have a specific county road ditch sprayed should contact the Sibley County Public Works Office at 507-237-4092 before May 13, 2016 for a form.

The No Spray Request Form is available from the Office via:
E-mail: SibleyPW@co.sibley.mn.us
Or website: www.co.sibley.mn.us

Landowners/renters are required to flag the no spray zone with "Owner Will Maintain" flags provided by Sibley County Public Works. The use of these flags will aid Sibley County Public Works maintenance crews in identifying which areas landowners/renters do not want sprayed. Flags are available at the Public Works office in Gaylord and at all county highway garages in Arlington, Gaylord, Gibbon, Green Isle, Henderson, Winthrop and at the Sibley County Gravel Pit.

By requesting that Sibley County does not spray your road ditch, landowners/renters agree to maintain the noxious weeds and brush in the specified road ditches in their entirety. When landowners/renters do not respond, we will assume it is acceptable to spray. The County may begin spraying on or after May 13, 2016.

*NEW IN 2016 – We will now be offering "LIFETIME" No Spray Request Forms if you wish to purchase "No Spray" permanent signs for $21.38 each. (not including post)

No spray areas that are not maintained will be sprayed by Sibley County Public Works.
